CELDT: California English Language Development Test 2013-14

- ▶ The CELDT is an untimed test that evaluates a student's English Language Proficiency in four domains:
Listening, Speaking, Reading and Writing

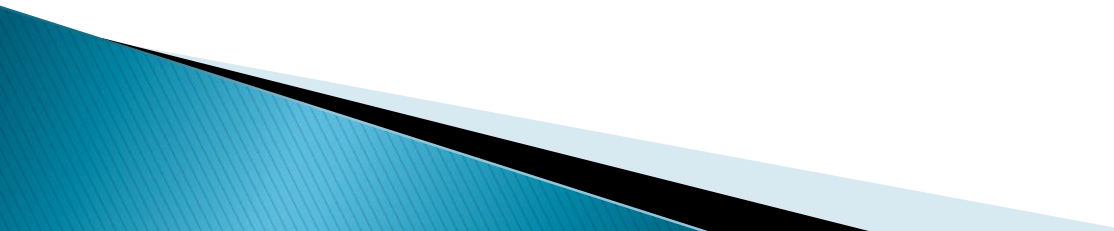

The CELDT is to be administered to:

- Newly enrolled students in grades K-12 if the response to any of the first three questions on the Home Language Survey is a language other than English or there is sufficient information to suggest English is not the student's primary language
- All students identified as EL enrolled in grades 1-12 and retained Kindergarteners
- Continuing Els are tested each year until they are reclassified as RFEP (Reclassified Fluent English Proficient)
- There are no provisions for parent exemptions

CELDT: California English Language Development Test

- ▶ Special Education Els are required to take the CELDT
 - ▶ Accommodations and modifications must be provided as indicated in the student's IEP
 - ▶ Must take CELDT for their grade level
 - ▶ Low and non-verbal special education students who cannot respond to the CELDT questions must have "Alternative Assessment" identified as part of their IEP, and documented on the CELDT booklet as "Test Variation"
 - ▶ For those students, a Parent Interview, Teacher Checklist, and COM (Communication and Observation Matrix) must be administered

CELDT: California English Language Development Test

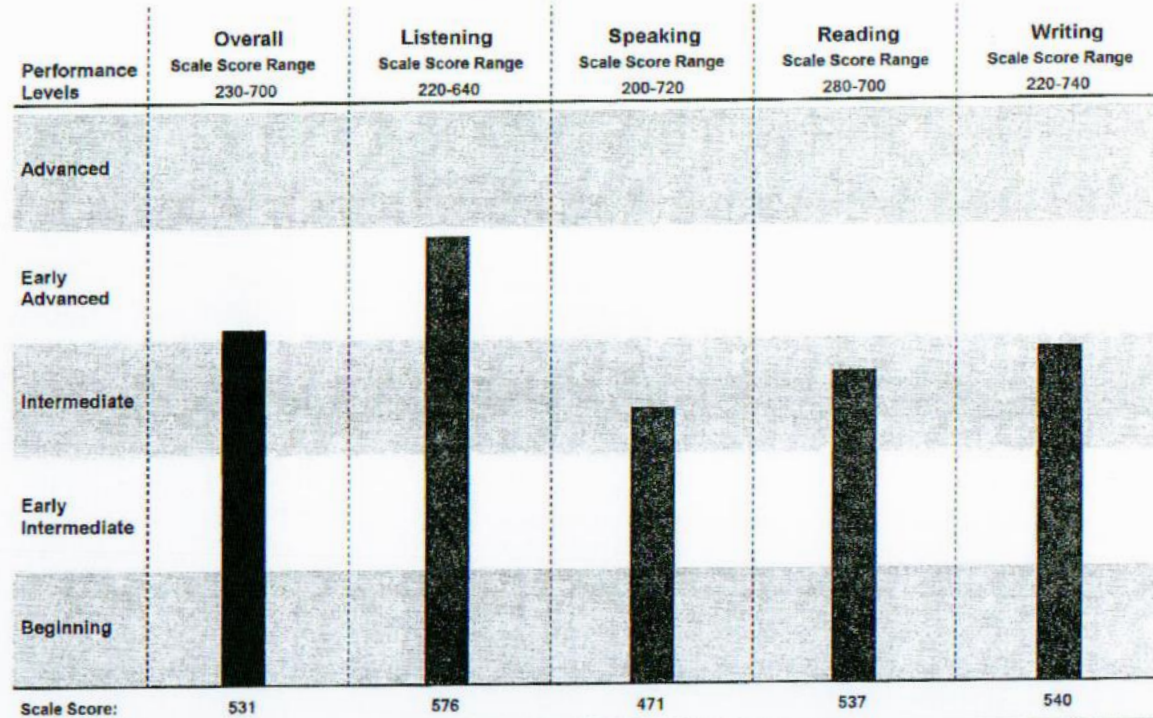

- ▶ All students are tested between Aug. 13-Oct. 18 (single track schools)
 - ▶ School's receive the results (bar code labels) Sept.23-25th
 - ▶ School's with late submission dates receive the results Oct. 8-9
 - ▶ By mid October, schools should have current CELDT data for all students identified as EL

CELDT: Performance Descriptors

Grades 3-5 Overall Performance Levels

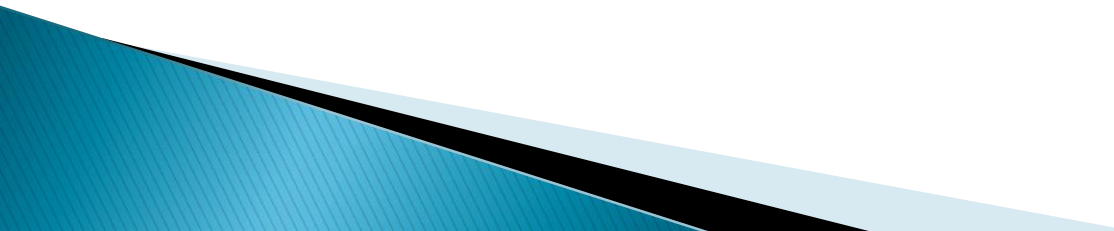

California English Language Development Test Performance Descriptors

	Listening	Speaking	Reading	Writing
Advanced Students at this level of English language performance communicate effectively with various audiences on a wide range of familiar and new topics to meet social and learning demands. In order to attain the English proficiency level of their native English-speaking peers, further linguistic enhancement and refinement are still necessary. They are able to identify and summarize concrete details and abstract concepts during unmodified instruction in all academic domains. Oral and written productions reflect discourse appropriate for academic domains. Errors are infrequent and do not reduce communication.	Students who perform at this level on the CELDT typically understand extensive vocabulary and complex syntax, without significant problems in comprehension; they understand and follow all oral directions.	Students who perform at this level on the CELDT typically use extensive vocabulary and complex syntax appropriate to setting and purpose; they tell a coherent and detailed story based on a picture sequence, using complete and complex sentences.	Students who perform at this level on the CELDT typically interpret more complex figures of speech; decode words with more difficult beginning, medial, or ending sounds; use context clues to determine/negotiate meaning of complex vocabulary; and sequence events, make inferences, and make predictions and generalizations based on a given text.	Students who perform at this level on the CELDT typically write a complete sentence in response to a picture prompt; the sentence has few or no mechanical errors. They write a well-organized composition that contains appropriate details and accurate transitions in response to a prompt. The composition contains minimal errors in grammar and mechanics.
Early Advanced Students at this level of English language performance begin to combine the elements of the English language in complex, cognitively demanding situations and are able to use English as a means for learning in academic domains. They are able to identify and summarize most concrete details and abstract concepts during unmodified instruction in most academic domains. Oral and written productions are characterized by more elaborate discourse and fully developed paragraphs and compositions. Errors are less frequent and rarely complicate communication.	Students who perform at this level on the CELDT typically understand extensive vocabulary and complex syntax, with occasional minor problems in comprehension; they understand and follow most complex, multi-step oral directions.	Students who perform at this level on the CELDT typically use fairly extensive vocabulary and fairly complex syntax appropriate to setting and purpose, with occasional minor errors; they tell a coherent story based on a picture sequence that clearly expresses the major events, using complete sentences with minor errors.	Students who perform at this level on the CELDT typically interpret figures of speech; recognize more complex synonyms and antonyms; identify root words; identify the number of syllables in a word; use context clues and inferences to select the correct word to complete a short passage or story and to identify words with multiple meanings; and distinguish between fact and opinion and make more subtle inferences from a text.	Students who perform at this level on the CELDT typically use their knowledge of grammar and mechanics to identify the appropriate word to complete a complex sentence; they write a sentence in response to a picture prompt. The sentence may contain minor errors in grammar and mechanics. They write a composition that clearly communicates a series of events or ideas based on a prompt. The composition has relevant details connected by accurate transitional words and may contain few errors in grammar and mechanics.
Intermediate Students at this level of English language performance begin to tailor the English language to meet communication and learning demands with increasing accuracy. They are able to identify and understand more concrete details and some major abstract concepts during unmodified instruction. They are able to respond with increasing ease to more varied communication and learning demands with a reduced number of errors. Oral and written productions have usually expanded to sentences, paragraphs, and original statements and questions. Errors still complicate communication.	Students who perform at this level on the CELDT typically understand some complex vocabulary and syntax, with occasional gaps in comprehension; they understand and follow some complex, multi-step oral directions.	Students who perform at this level on the CELDT typically use a broader range of vocabulary and syntax appropriate to setting and purpose, with gaps in communication; they tell a coherent story based on a picture sequence that may not clearly express the major events, using phrases and incomplete sentences.	Students who perform at this level on the CELDT typically begin to identify the number of syllables in some words of simple structure; recognize synonyms and antonyms; use context clues to select the correct word to complete a sentence or short passage and to identify simple words with multiple meanings; match more difficult vocabulary words to pictures; and answer factual comprehension questions, identify events, draw conclusions, or make inferences based on a given text.	Students who perform at this level on the CELDT typically use their knowledge of grammar and mechanics to identify the appropriate word or phrase to complete a sentence; they write a complete sentence in response to a picture prompt. The sentence may contain errors in grammar, vocabulary, and/or syntax. They write a composition based on a prompt. The composition may have a disorganized sequence of events, containing some details and repetitive transitional words.
Early Intermediate Students at this level of English language performance continue to develop receptive and productive English skills. They are able to identify and understand more concrete details during unmodified instruction. They may be able to respond with increasing ease to more varied communication	Students who perform at this level on the CELDT typically understand basic vocabulary and syntax, with frequent errors and limited comprehension; they understand and follow	Students who perform at this level on the CELDT typically use a limited range of vocabulary and syntax appropriate to setting and purpose, but make frequent errors that impede communication; they tell a story based on a picture sequence, using phrases	Students who perform at this level on the CELDT typically match vocabulary words to pictures; recognize sound/symbol relationships; use context clues to choose the correct word to complete a sentence; answer some factual comprehension questions after reading a simple text;	Students who perform at this level on the CELDT typically choose the appropriate word to complete a sentence; use some capitalization and punctuation correctly, and write at least one complete sentence in response to a prompt. The sentence includes a simple subject and predicate,

DIBELS (Dynamic Indicators of Basic Early Literacy Skills) Next

- ▶ Dynamic Indicators of Basic Early Literacy Skills (DIBELS) Next is a set of measures used to assess early literacy and reading skills for students from kindergarten through sixth grade
 - ▶ identify students who may be at risk for reading difficulties
 - ▶ help teachers identify areas to target instructional support
 - ▶ monitor at-risk students while they receive additional, targeted instruction
 - ▶ examine the effectiveness of the school's system of instructional supports

DIBELS Next:

- ▶ Standardized in their administration
 - ▶ Include alternate forms of approximately equal difficulty, so that student progress can be measured over time
 - ▶ Brief
 - ▶ Reliable, relatively stable across time, different forms, and different assessors
 - ▶ Valid, measuring the essential early literacy skills they are intended to measure
 - ▶ Sensitive to student growth over relatively short periods of time

DIBELS Next:

- ▶ 1. First Sound Fluency (FSF): The assessor says words, and the student says the first sound for each word.
- ▶ 2. Letter Naming Fluency (LNF): The student is presented with a sheet of letters and asked to name the letters.
- ▶ 3. Phoneme Segmentation Fluency (PSF): The assessor says words, and the student says the individual sounds for each word.
- ▶ 4. Nonsense Word Fluency (NWF): The student is presented with a list of VC and CVC nonsense words (e.g., sig, rav, ov) and asked to read the words
- ▶ 5. DIBELS Oral Reading Fluency (DORF): The student is presented with a reading passage and asked to read aloud. The student is then asked to retell what he/she just read.

DIBELS Next:

- ▶ 6. Daze: The student is presented with a reading passage where some words are replaced by a multiple choice box that includes the original word and two distractors. The student reads the passage silently and selects the word in each box that best fits the meaning.

DIBELS Next:

- ▶ Students are assessed using grade level material at the beginning, middle and end of year
 - ▶ Progress monitoring may occur within these time periods
 - ▶ Teachers enter beginning, middle and end of year assessment data into the MyData system and monitor student progress over time

Below Benchmark	Some Risk	Strategic	Once Biweekly (Minimum Once/Month)

Smarter Balanced Assessments Consortium (SBAC):

- ▶ The Smarter Balanced Assessment Consortium (SBAC) is developing a system of valid, reliable, and fair assessments aligned to the Common Core State Standards (CCSS) in English language arts/literacy (ELA/literacy) and mathematics for grades 3-8 and 11
 - ▶ Multiple choice, extended response and technology enhanced items, as well as performance tasks that allow students to demonstrate critical-thinking and problem-solving skills
 - ▶ LAUSD did a field test last Spring and will be conducting another pilot this school year 2014-15 in preparation for a full launch 2015-16

Smarter Balanced Assessments:

- ▶ The purpose of the field test is to “test the test,” refine and work through any technical difficulties as the SBAC involves computerized adapted tests
- ▶ Last year, schools had the option of choosing from the following assessments options:

District provided CCSS aligned assessments
Identify other CCSS aligned assessments
Develop your own CCSS aligned assessments

- ▶ This school year, specific performance and writing assessments are being developed that include a selection (piece of text, video) that require an opinion (informative) style written response
- ▶ To increase the rigor next year, students will be given one or two pieces of text with a picture or artifact and will be given text dependent questions, in addition to a written response

Smarter Balanced Assessments:

- ▶ All students in grades 3-8 and 11 will be required to take the Smarter Balanced Assessment
- ▶ The data was not used last year for accountability purposes and the District is still deciding whether or not to use the data collected this year for accountability purposes
- ▶ The computer-based Smarter Balanced Field Test will be administered again to students in California schools from March 18 to June 6, 2015 (respectively).
- ▶ Individual schools were assigned six weeks within that window to administer the test. The six-week window for all LAUSD single track schools is from April 1 to May 16, 2015 (respectively).
