Assurances, Affirmations, and Declarations

Citizens of the World Charter School Mar Vista (also referred to herein as "Citizens of the World Mar Vista," "CWC Mar Vista," "CWC MV," and "Charter School") shall:

- Be nonsectarian in its programs, admission policies, employment practices, and all other operations. (California Education Code (hereinafter "Ed. Code") § 47605(e)(1).)
- Not charge tuition. (Ed. Code § 47605(e)(1).)
- Not discriminate against any pupil on the basis of disability, gender, gender identity, gender expression, nationality, race or ethnicity, religion, sexual orientation, or any other characteristic that is contained in the definition of hate crimes set forth in section 422.55 of the Penal Code, including immigration status. (Ed. Code § 47605(e)(1); Ed. Code § 220.)
- Except as provided in Education Code section 47605(e)(2), admission to a charter school shall not be determined according to the place of residence of the pupil, or of his or her parent or legal guardian, within this state, except that an existing public school converting partially or entirely to a charter school under this part shall adopt and maintain a policy giving admission preference to pupils who reside within the former attendance area of that school. (Ed. Code § 47605(e)(1).)
- Admit all pupils who wish to attend Charter School. (Ed. Code § 47605(e)(2)(A).)
- Except for existing pupils of Charter School, determine attendance by a public random drawing if the number of pupils who wish to attend Charter School exceeds Charter School's capacity. Preference shall be extended to pupils currently attending Charter School and pupils who reside in the Los Angeles Unified School District (also referred to herein as "LAUSD" and "District"). Preferences shall not result in limiting enrollment access for pupils with disabilities, academically low-achieving pupils, English learners, neglected or delinquent pupils, homeless pupils, or pupils who are economically disadvantaged, as determined by eligibility for any free or reduced-price meal program, foster youth, or pupils based on nationality, race, ethnicity, or sexual orientation, and shall not require mandatory parental volunteer hours as a criterion for admission or continued enrollment. (Ed. Code § 47605(e)(2)(B).)
- Charter school shall not encourage a pupil currently attending the Charter School to disenroll from the Charter School or transfer to another school for any reason, including, but not limited to, academic performance of the pupil or because the pupil exhibits any of the characteristics described in Education Code section 47605(e)(2)(B)(iii). (Ed. Code § 47605(e)(4).)
- If a pupil is expelled or leaves Charter School without graduating or completing the school year for any reason, Charter School shall notify the superintendent of the school district of the pupil's last known address within 30 days, and shall, upon request, provide that school district with a copy of the cumulative record of the pupil, including a transcript of grades or report card, and health information. (Ed. Code § 47605(e)(3).)
- Meet all statewide standards and conduct the pupil assessments required pursuant to Education Code sections 60605 and 60851 and any other statewide standards authorized in statute or pupil assessments applicable to pupils in non-charter public schools. (Ed. Code § 47605(d)(1).)

- Consult, on a regular basis, with Charter School's parents, legal guardians, and teachers regarding the school's educational programs. (Ed. Code § 47605(d)(2).)

Charter School hereby declares that Charter School, operated as or by its nonprofit public benefit corporation, is and shall be the exclusive public school employer of Charter School's employees for the purposes of the Educational Employment Relations Act (EERA), Chapter 10.7 (commencing with Section 3540) of Division 4 of Title 1 of the Government Code. Charter School shall comply with all provisions of the EERA and shall act independently from LAUSD for collective bargaining purposes. In accordance with the EERA, employees may join and be represented by an organization of their choice for collective bargaining purposes.

NOTE: This Charter contains specific "Federal, State and District Required Language" (FSDRL), including the Assurances, Affirmations, and Declarations section above. The FSDRL should be highlighted in gray within each Charter element or section. The final section of the Charter provides a consolidated addendum of the FSDRL. This intentional redundancy facilitates efficient charter petition review while ensuring ready access to the FSDRL for any given section of the Charter. To the extent that any inconsistency may exist between any provision contained within the body of the Charter and the FSDRL contained in the addendum, the provisions of the FSDRL addendum shall control.

Charter Renewal Criteria

Evidence of Meeting Charter Renewal Criteria Pursuant to Education Code Section 47607.2(b) Middle Performing

Pursuant to the amendments made to Education Code Section 47607, and the creation of Education Code Section 47607.2 by Assembly Bill 1505 (2019), at the time of charter renewal, a chartering authority shall consider the performance of the charter school on the state and local indicators reported on the California School Dashboard (the "Dashboard"), and, in some circumstances, the performance of the charter school on assessments deemed to be verified data.

In addition to the shift toward assessing Dashboard data, Assembly Bill 1505 also created a three-tiered system of evaluating charter schools' performance, plus a separate category for Dashboard Alternative School Status schools. Each of the three tiers has unique qualifying criteria.

- High Performing - Presumptive renewal if the charter school meets the established renewal criteria - Education Code Section 47607(c)(2).
- Low Performing - Presumptive non-renewal if the charter school meets the non-renewal criteria, unless the chartering authority makes a finding to approve for a two-year term - Education Code Section 47607.2(a).
- Middle Performing - Renewal unless closure is in the best interest of students, evaluated using the California School Dashboard and Education Code Section 47607.2(b).

Citizens of the World Mar Vista fits into the HIGH Performing category, as determined by the law and the California Department of Education, and is eligible, and as clearly demonstrated by the evidence, meets the criterion for charter renewal for a 7-year term. This recognition underscores our commitment to educational excellence and continued improvement, and we look forward to continuing to serve our students and community with this distinction.

In accordance with Education Code Section 47607(c)(2)(F), Citizens of the World Mar Vista, as a high-performing charter school, "shall only be required to update the petition to include a reasonably comprehensive description of any new requirement of charter schools enacted into law after the charter was originally granted or last renewed and as necessary to reflect the current program offered by the charter."

Element 1 – The Educational Program

“The educational program of the charter school, designed, among other things, to identify those whom the charter school is attempting to educate, what it means to be an “educated person” in the 21st century, and how learning best occurs. The goals identified in that program shall include the objective of enabling pupils to become self-motivated, competent, and lifelong learners.” (Ed. Code § 47605(c)(5)(A)(i).)

“The annual goals for the charter school for all pupils and for each subgroup of pupils identified pursuant to Section 52052, to be achieved in the state priorities, as described in subdivision (d) of Section 52060, that apply for the grade levels served, and specific annual actions to achieve those goals. A charter petition may identify additional school priorities, the goals for the school priorities, and the specific annual actions to achieve those goals.” (Ed. Code § 47605(c)(5)(A)(ii).)

“If the proposed charter school will serve high school pupils, a description of the manner in which the charter school will inform parents about the transferability of courses to other public high schools and the eligibility of courses to meet college entrance requirements. Courses offered by the charter school that are accredited by the Western Association of Schools and Colleges may be considered transferable and courses approved by the University of California or the California State University as creditable under the “A” to “G” admissions criteria may be considered to meet college entrance requirements.” (Ed. Code § 47605(c)(5)(A)(iii).)

LOCAL CONTROL FUNDING FORMULA (LCFF) AND LOCAL CONTROL AND ACCOUNTABILITY PLAN (LCAP)

Charter School acknowledges and agrees that it must comply with all applicable laws and regulations related to AB 97 (2013) (Local Control Funding Formula), as they may be amended from time to time, which include the requirement that Charter School shall annually submit a Local Control and Accountability Plan (LCAP)/annual update to the Los Angeles County Superintendent of Schools and the Charter Schools Division (CSD) on or before July 1. In accordance with Education Code sections 47604.33 and 47606.5, Charter School shall annually update its goals and annual actions to achieve those goals identified in the charter pursuant to Education Code section 47605(c)(5)(A)(ii), using the Local Control and Accountability Plan template adopted by the State Board of Education, as it may be changed from time to time. Charter School shall comply with all requirements of Education Code section 47606.5, including but not limited to the requirement that Charter School “shall consult with teachers, principals, administrators, other school personnel, parents, and pupils in developing the local control and accountability plan and annual update to the local control and accountability plan.” (Ed. Code § 47606.5(d).)

ACADEMIC CALENDAR AND SCHEDULES

Charter School shall offer, at a minimum, the number of minutes of instruction set forth in Education Code section 47612.5, and the number of school days required by California Code of Regulations, title 5, section 11960.

MATHEMATICS PLACEMENT

Charter School shall comply with all applicable requirements of the California Mathematics Placement Act of 2015.

TRANSITIONAL KINDERGARTEN

Charter School shall comply with all applicable requirements regarding transitional kindergarten. For purposes of admission to Charter School, transitional kindergarten shall be considered a part of kindergarten, and therefore students enrolled in transitional kindergarten at Charter School shall be considered existing students of Charter School for purposes of Charter School's admissions, enrollment, and lottery.

WASC ACCREDITATION

If Charter School serves students in grades 9-12, before Charter School graduates its first class of students, Charter School shall obtain, and thereafter maintain, Western Association of Schools and Colleges (WASC) accreditation.

ENGLISH LEARNERS

Charter School shall identify potential English Learners in a timely manner in accordance with all applicable legal requirements. Charter School must provide all English Learners with an effective English language acquisition program that also affords meaningful and equitable access to Charter School's core academic curriculum. Instructional plans for English Learners must be (1) based on sound educational theory; (2) adequately supported with trained teachers and appropriate materials and resources; and (3) periodically evaluated to make sure the program is successful and modified when the program is not successful.

On an annual basis, upon request, Charter School shall submit a certification to the LAUSD Charter Schools Division (CSD) that certifies that Charter School has adopted and is implementing either the LAUSD Master Plan for English Learners and Standard English Learners or Charter School's own English Learner (EL) Master Plan. If Charter School chooses to implement its own EL Master Plan, the plan shall provide a detailed description of Charter School's EL program, and shall address the following:

- How Charter School's EL Master Plan provides all of its English Learners, including but not limited to Long Term English Learners (LTELs) with an effective English language acquisition program as well as meaningful and equitable access to Charter School's core academic curriculum
- How English Learners' specific needs will be identified
- What services will be offered
- How, where, and by whom the services will be provided
- How Charter School will evaluate its EL program each year, and how the results of this evaluation will be used to improve the program, including the provision of EL services

Each year, Charter School shall provide to the CSD a report on its annual evaluation of the effectiveness of its EL program. Upon request, Charter School shall provide a copy of its current EL Master Plan to the CSD.

Charter School shall administer the CELDT/ELPAC annually in accordance with federal and state requirements.

Charter School shall reclassify English Learners in accordance with federal and state requirements.

Charter School shall provide parent outreach services and meaningfully inform parents with limited English proficiency of important information regarding Charter School matters to the same extent as other parents.

STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES

Federal Law Compliance

Charter School shall adhere to all provisions of federal law related to students with disabilities including, but not limited to, section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, Title II of the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, and the Individuals with Disabilities Education Improvement Act of 2004.

Special Education Program

Charter School shall ensure that no student otherwise eligible to enroll in Charter School shall be denied, directly or indirectly, admission due to a disability or to Charter School's inability to provide necessary services. Charter School acknowledges that policies and procedures are in place to ensure the recruitment, enrollment, service, and retention of students with disabilities at LAUSD-authorized charter schools, including Charter School.

Prior to LAUSD Board of Education approval of an initial Charter petition, and if a renewing Charter School intends to operate as a "school of the district" for special education services, Charter School shall execute a Memorandum of Understanding ("MOU") by and between LAUSD and Charter School regarding the provision and funding of special education services consistent with applicable state law and the LAUSD Special Education Local Plan Area ("SELPA") Local Plan for Special Education and shall be considered a "public school of the District" for purposes of Special Education pursuant to Education Code section 47641(b). However, Charter School reserves the right to make written verifiable assurances that it may become an independent local educational agency (LEA) and join a SELPA pursuant to Education Code section 47641(a) either on its own or with a grouping of charter school LEAs as a consortium following the requirements of Education Code section 56195.3(b). In this instance, Charter School will execute a MOU with LAUSD on provisions of special education as a member of a non-LAUSD SELPA.

SELPA Reorganization

The Los Angeles Unified School District is approved to operate as a single-District SELPA under the provisions of Education Code section 56195.1(a). As a single-District SELPA, the District has created two charter school sections (District-operated Programs and Charter-operated Programs) under the administration of one single Administrative Unit pursuant to a reorganization plan approved by the Board of Education on January 4, 2011 (149/10-11). Full implementation of the reorganized LAUSD SELPA commenced in the 2013-2014 school year requiring all District-authorized charter schools to elect one of the three options available under the LAUSD SELPA. Prior to an option election, all District-authorized charter schools were required to participate as a school of the District under the District-Operated Programs Unit. Prior to the beginning of the 2013-2014 school year, all District-authorized charter schools, other than those that had previously executed an Option 3 Memorandum of Understanding ("MOU"), were required to execute a new MOU setting forth the LAUSD SELPA option election for the remainder of the charter petition term. The Charter-operated Program schools do not have LEA status for the purposes of special education but will function in a similar role in that each charter school will be responsible for all special education requirements, including but not limited to services, placement, due process, related services, special education classes, and special education supports. Charter schools that have elected to participate in a District-operated programs option may apply for membership in the Charter-operated Program section of the SELPA. Charter schools accepted for participation in the Charter-operated Programs section receive support from a Special Education Director for the Charter-operated Programs.

Use of District's Special Education Policies and Procedures and Data Systems

All charter schools approved by the LAUSD Board of Education are bound by and must adhere to the terms, conditions and requirements of orders imposed upon the District pertaining to special education. All charter schools are required to use the District's Special Education Policies and Procedures Manual and Welligent, the District-wide web-based software system used for online Individualized Education Programs ("IEPs") and tracking of related services provided to students during the course of their education.

All charter schools are required to interface with My Integrated Student Information System (MiSiS) via a web based Application Programming Interface (API). MiSiS is a suite of applications which is designed to capture all student data. .

1.2 COMMUNITY NEED FOR CHARTER SCHOOL

Citizens of the World Charter School Mar Vista is a school located in the Mar Vista neighborhood of Los Angeles, serving students from grades Transitional Kindergarten ("TK") - 8. CWC MV is part of the Citizens of the World Los Angeles ("Citizens of the World," "CWC LA" or "CWC Los Angeles") network, alongside Citizens of the World Hollywood, Citizens of the World Silver Lake, Citizens of the World West Valley, and Citizens of the World East Valley. CWC MV was founded in 2013 and has served its community by providing students with a broad course of study under our Citizens of the World educational program.

The mission of CWC MV, and all CWC LA schools, is to create a high-achieving public school for a diverse community of students, developing their abilities, confidence, and sense of responsibility for themselves and their community.

We believe that in today's society, children grow into strong critical and creative thinkers when they have the opportunity to learn alongside others with diverse backgrounds and perspectives. Children can only reach this potential by learning to manage themselves while thoughtfully and productively working with others across differences to better understand the broader world. We see every day the challenges our communities face in how people work across real or perceived differences. CWC Mar Vista represents the diverse makeup of the communities we serve, and we are proud to be part of the first national school network in the country that intentionally focuses on serving socio-economically and racially diverse classrooms.

We also know that in order for students to learn they must feel a sense of safety and belonging. While our world and communities have changed, many schools have not, rendering even the "best" ones today obsolete. Which is why both our instructional approach and our school composition aim to address not only the academic needs of the 21st century learner, but the social emotional ones as well.

1.2A: ACADEMIC PERFORMANCE DATA AND OTHER PERFORMANCE INDICATORS

Since its founding, CWC Mar Vista has demonstrated consistently high academic achievement and evidenced that it has and will continue to meet the needs of the community it serves. CWC MV provides a compelling option for families seeking quality schools in the Los Angeles community by providing a constructivist educational program, differentiated instruction, in-depth Social-Emotional Learning ("SEL"), high degrees of parent engagement, and a student population that is uniquely diverse.

CWC Mar Vista is proud to have achieved strong academic performance over its years of operation. The Charter School's academic performance is at least equal to the academic performance of the public schools that CWC Mar Vista's students would otherwise have attended and in many cases, outperformed the District and on par with the State of California.

CWC LA's regional office team and CWC MV's admin team regularly meet to review a broad range of performance data, from academics (including from our verified data source NWEA internal assessments, California Assessments of Student Performance and Progress (“CAASPP”) data, and Dashboard data). Information is synthesized and both shared internally as well as presented to the Board. When presented to the Board, patterns are highlighted and embedded into the organizational and school-specific strategic plan.

As required by amendments to Education Code, Section 47604.5 via AB1505, the following data points reflect performance between 22-23, and 23-24. Further analysis and reflection will be discussed in the sections proceeding (“1.2B: Success of the Educational Program” and “1.2C: Areas of Challenge and How They Will Be Improved.”)

In addition to the academic data provided above, CWC Mar Vista has other measures to assess the Charter School's performance and credibility, including:

- ACCREDITATION FROM THE WESTERN ASSOCIATION OF SCHOOLS AND COLLEGES ("WASC"): CWC Mar Vista is proud to be fully Accredited for grades Kindergarten through 8th by the Accrediting Commission for Schools with WASC. In 2025, the Charter School's accreditation was approved for an additional six years, with this accreditation expiring in June 2031.
- Internal Reading Level Assessments: This mirrors the changes we are making in the organization by being responsive to the data that truly give us the data we need to respond to student learning. For example, CWC Mar Vista has used Fountas & Pinnell to assess student reading levels within the elementary grade levels two times per year, since its inception in 2017. This has been particularly helpful for struggling readers in the upper grades, who are administered the Word Identification and Spelling Test to help make intervention rostering decisions. In future years, CWC Mar Vista will be moving away from the use of Fountas & Pinnell and will instead use Dynamic Indicators of Basic Early Literacy Skills ("DIBELS") and other standardized/curriculum-based assessments to understand students' strengths and areas of growth in the areas of decoding, phonemic awareness and comprehension. This assessment shift is taking place so that our evidence of student learning is connected more directly to grade level standards versus individual reading levels. We want to ensure we know, through DIBELS, curriculum based and other AB 1505 approved assessments how students are doing more precisely on English Language Arts Common Core standards.
- NWEA Assessments: As described further below, CWC Mar Vista administers Northwest Evaluation Association ("NWEA") Measures of Academic Progress ("MAP") multiple times per year to assess student progress. NWEA's MAP testing is an adaptive evaluation that measures a student's skills and gives them an achievement and growth score based on the scores of similarly-aged students across the nation. NWEA was adopted in the 2013-2014 school year as a valid and reliable assessment tool by CWC. Students in grades 1-3 take the assessment three times a year and in grades 4th-8th twice a year (kindergarten is administered once at the end of the year). With this verified data, we are able to track student achievement year over year during their entire education career at Mar Vista. After every administration, the regional team, alongside the Charter School leadership analyzes the data. The Principal then utilizes this data with teachers to adjust instruction and develop plans for intervention. Students are held to rigorous expectations no matter where they are in their learning. Measures help grow for equity and get students over the line of met standard.
- Authorizer Reports: CWC MV heavily prepares for each oversight visit to ensure the materials provided to LAUSD on an annual basis are thorough and an accurate assessment of the Charter School, as well as to maintain a positive and transparent relationship with our authorizer. The findings from these reports offer valuable insights into the Charter School's strengths and areas that need improvement. By carefully reviewing the feedback and recommendations provided in these oversight reports internally and with the CWC LA Board of Directors ("Board of Directors" or "Board"), CWC MV can make informed decisions about instructional practices, resource allocation, and program development. This ongoing process of evaluation and adjustment ensures that the Charter School remains aligned with its academic goals and continues to meet the needs of its student population. CWC MV is proud that governance and operations have a pattern consistently since the first year of the current charter.
- Surveys: Each CWC LA school demonstrates commitment to continuous improvement by the annual administration of Staff, Student, and Family surveys. These surveys are carefully designed to capture a comprehensive range of perspectives, ensuring that the voices of all stakeholders are heard. The results from these surveys are analyzed and tracked to identify trends, strengths, and areas for growth within the Charter School culture to ensure each campus remains a warm and collaborative place to bolster student success.

1.2B: SUCCESS OF THE KEY AND INNOVATIVE FEATURES OF THE EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM

CWC Mar Vista provides a socio-economically, culturally, and racially diverse community of students with an exceptional public education. We foster creativity and academic excellence; our students learn with and from each other in an experience-centered, inquiry-based learning environment. With participation from our entire community, we strive to instill in each student a dedication to improving the world we inhabit.

Three interrelated tenets have helped us achieve excellence and build an innovative educational program:

- DIVERSITY: We celebrate our racially and socioeconomically diverse community of learners.
- ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE: We create an academically rigorous and innovative experience for each of our students every day.
- COMMUNITY: We build a true school community in which all members – students, teachers, families, and community partners – not only have the opportunity to participate, but also feel welcome to actively engage in school life.

These three tenets drive the work we do at every level and are the basis for the success of the innovative features of our educational program: challenging, constructivist-based curriculum, intentional socio-economic and racial diversity, and a positive school culture. Read below for more information regarding their definitions and records of success.

Innovative Feature #1: Challenging, Constructivist-Based Curriculum That Inspires Critical Thinking, Creativity, and Develops an Intrinsic Passion for Learning

Our curriculum is grounded in rich educational theories of constructivism and realized through evidenced-based instructional practices, which serve as the means for each and every child to meet and exceed those standards. We aim to innovate by encouraging the use of diverse teaching methods. Accordingly, our school embraces a rigorous yet highly student-centered, constructivist, project-based approach to teaching and learning in which the core instructional practices of project-based learning are enhanced by teachers' rich repertoire of instructional strategies.

- CONSTRUCTIVISM: As constructivism is a theory about learning (and not a description of teaching), no cookie-cutter teaching style of instructional techniques can be abstracted from the theory and proposed as a constructivist approach to teaching. To this end, we have built interactive, dynamic classrooms in which critical thinking and creativity thrive alongside standards and academic benchmarks. We work to build classrooms in which students can build the skills they need to participate thoughtfully and effectively in our democracy in the years ahead. We structure learning to build on what students already know and support them in revising and refining their understanding as they work toward mastery. In addition to content knowledge, our students engage in learning processes that develop conceptual understanding and self-knowledge.

- PROJECT-BASED LEARNING/INQUIRY: CWC Mar Vista schools define project-based learning or "Inquiry" as a curricular and pedagogical strategy that organizes students' mastery of the Common Core State Standards ("CCSS"), the Next Generation Science Standards ("NGSS"), History-Social Science Framework, English Language Development ("ELD") Standards, and the remaining State Content Standards (collectively referred to herein as "State Standards") around hands-on constructivist projects. Grade-level teams of teachers develop integrated project-based learning units for science and social studies with tie-ins oftentimes to other disciplines as well. In creating project-based learning units, CWC Mar Vista relies on a few backwards-design and inquiry-focused frameworks. Specifically, CWC Mar Vista uses frameworks like Teaching for Understanding, an educational pedagogy that uses the following four questions as a foundation for its framework: What topics are worth understanding? What about these topics needs to be understood? How can we foster understanding? How can we tell what students understand? These same guidelines can be applied to teaching at all grade levels, even through higher education. As reflective learners, children connect what they have learned to their own lives. Rather than studying mathematics, then separately studying science, and then separately studying language arts standards, project-based learning integrates the skill and knowledge attainment through meaningful scenarios and around compelling and engaging topics. Thoughtful questions and activities help children synthesize their new knowledge and apply it to novel situations. Units provide students with multiple ways to approach material, participate, and demonstrate learning.
- LITERACY INSTRUCTION: A holistic approach to teaching the core skills of literacy with the strands of reading, writing, listening and speaking supported by the most current research. This includes systematic phonics and foundational literacy instruction in the earliest years to ensure our youngest students have a strong foundation of skills to build upon in future years. We also encourage the use of diverse mentor texts and authors to ensure that students can see themselves represented in the stories and people that they read, write and learn about in order to make stronger connections.
- PROBLEM-BASED APPROACH TO TEACHING MATHEMATICS: A problem-based approach to teaching math that draws upon principles of Cognitively Guided Instruction ("CGI"). Curriculum tools are carefully designed to develop students' proficiency as mathematical doers and thinkers by engaging students in taking an active role in constructing their understanding.
- GRADUAL RELEASE OF RESPONSIBILITY: In some disciplines, teachers structure instructional strategies according to the principle of the gradual release of responsibility, in which responsibility is released from the teacher to the student. In these cases, teachers are intentional about how to scaffold student learning so that students can ultimately apply their thinking and newly adopted set of skills more independently over time.
- DATA-INFORMED INSTRUCTION: Using data to inform instruction is integral to our program. Using results to evaluate, inform, and adjust instruction, we ensure that each student meets and exceeds State Standards while developing a true lifelong passion for learning. Throughout the school year, teachers receive training and engage in spaces to dig into both summative and formative data. We monitor student progress via ongoing assessment that includes teacher observations of students at work, formative and summative assessments, and project-based work, in addition to standardized assessments. Teachers, supported by school leaders, analyze standardized and classroom-based assessment data. Through this analysis, we identify trends of mastery and difficulty for individual students, groups of students, and the class as a whole. Teachers and school leaders identify skills, concepts, and strategies in need of further instruction. Based on the trends, teachers determine whether whole class re-teaching, small group intervention, or individual support is the appropriate response.

- WORKSHOP-BASED SMALL GROUP INSTRUCTION:

In order to allow for a variety of small group instructional methods, CWC Mar Vista provides a staffing structure that provides a lower student-to-teacher ratio compared to many local school districts. In grades TK-K, there is a Lead Teacher and Student Support Associate in every room and shared support of varying kinds at grade levels above TK/K. Staffing structures and our instructional model allow for small group instruction that helps to promote instructional differentiation. This may sometimes look like a teacher running a small group while a Student Support Associate monitors independent work, partner games, and other learning activities that might take place throughout the classroom. All of this results in a rigorous workshop-based model that includes whole and small-group instruction and differentiation to meet the needs of our students. In the middle school grades, CWC Mar Vista aims to maintain a small student-to-teacher ratio of 28 students (or fewer) to ensure that this individual attention can occur. Since we've opened our doors, CWC Mar Vista has worked hard to refine the mechanisms and content of such workshop-based instruction to ensure our small group work is continually getting more targeted and purposeful. Further, our staffing structure includes instructional support staff to meet the needs of every child.

A critical component of the education at CWC Mar Vista is how social justice topics/learning is integrated into our project-based learning and curriculum, as mentioned above. We believe this is where we see success of this feature and our mission – this approach places a particular emphasis on teaching our students that they are citizens of the world and changemakers, whereby they take interest in and responsibility for their critical roles in the broader social fabric and how they can advocate for equal opportunity and the dignity of others. Embedded into academic units, students are asked to think about and engage in ideas that compel them to think about positive social change. Students put to use what they are learning through the academic curriculum and apply it to topics that ask them to think critically about how society and our planet has evolved for good or bad while asking them to think about how to make the world a better place in the future.

For instance, a sixth-grade class might look at racial, ethnic, and socioeconomic segregation in public schools as part of a math unit on statistics, and in third-grade students might study people who have impacted the world by creating a live history museum where students transform into the person they are studying. Students succeed in performance based tasks that are assessed through rubrics that align to the standards and goals of any unit, and we've seen results in CWC Mar Vista's outperformance on CAASPP when compared to the State and District, as detailed in 1.2A above. This further proves our students not only cultivate important citizenry but are also developing important academic skills at the same time.

Innovative Feature #2: Intentional Socio-Economic and Racial Diversity

Our city, and our increasingly global economy, require that individuals interact collaboratively and cooperatively with people each day who have different perspectives, values, and knowledge other than their own. Our school is an effective working model of the larger society students will someday join. Interacting with, learning from, and learning alongside students from different cultures, races, socio-economic backgrounds and more will benefit our students by allowing them opportunities to understand how to effectively work with others from different backgrounds. When CWC Mar Vista students graduate from our school, they will possess the skills to be successful in a diverse community and world. Independent social science research, underscored by actual results from CWC Mar Vista's initial charter term, continues to highlight the benefits of a diverse student body in improving academic achievement for all students.

CWC Mar Vista promotes diversity through the enrollment of its students, and data supports the diversity of the Charter School's student body. In 2024-25, our student body included:

- 68.2% of students qualified for free or reduced price meals
- 8.7% of students qualified as English Learners ("ELs")
- 12.9% of students qualified for Special Education services
- 82.5% are students of color, with:
 - 52% of students identified as Latino;
 - 16.2% African-American;
 - 4.1% Asian, Filipino, or Pacific Islander;
 - 10.2% belong to at least two categories.

In order to maintain the diversity of our student population, we implement an Outreach Plan that includes targeted efforts to recruit many different students, including those who are at risk of low achievement, students who qualify for special education, students whose families qualify for Free or Reduced-Price meals ("FRPM"), and other students belonging to traditionally under-represented subgroups. Student recruitment and community outreach efforts are targeted to neighborhoods in which CWC Mar Vista is located, which includes many socioeconomically distressed households. Our outreach efforts include:

- Sharing our information with all local Head Start programs, preschools and daycares serving socio-economically disadvantaged students of color;
- Sharing our information with other schools serving socio-economically disadvantaged students of color;
- Providing flyers at community events, religious institutions, businesses, libraries, parks and other civic institutions targeting socio-economically disadvantaged students and families of color;
- Providing flyers, tours, and other information in Spanish and Korean;
- Utilizing our parent body to spread additional information about CWC Mar Vista to their friends and families;
- Reaching out to socio-economically disadvantaged families who are accepted to ensure that they enroll, giving new families access to other families and/or staff who can be very specific in answering customized questions and who can provide individualized answers to families in multiple languages.

Our community outreach efforts are conducted by school leaders, staff, parents, and volunteers, some of whom are socio-economically disadvantaged and in a traditionally under-represented subgroup themselves. More information regarding recruitment and enrollment efforts can be found in Elements 7 and 8 of this document.

This outreach plan is working. Since its opening, CWC Mar Vista has had an increase in students who meet federal poverty guidelines. Using a weighted admission preference for families eligible

% of students who are socioeconomically disadvantaged ¹	33.9%	38.8%	42.0%	51.0%	49.4%	59.8%	68.2%

Additionally, CWC Los Angeles is grateful for the large-scale recognition of its schools, including from case studies:

- A study from Stanford's Center for Research on Education Outcomes (CREDO) evaluated the academic progress of students enrolled in charter schools in the United States. The current report identified Citizens of the World Los Angeles as a "Gap Buster" organization. <https://ncss3.stanford.edu/wp-content/uploads/2023/06/Credo-NCSS3-Report.pdf>

Innovative Feature #3: Community Building, Social-Emotional Learning, and Positive School Culture

We know all parents want the best for their children and see it as our responsibility to work with families to understand how and where they can best play a part in our school community so that 100% of families are engaged.

At CWC Mar Vista, we commit every day to providing a safe and nurturing environment for every child. It is the development of this mutually respectful and caring community that we know to be the crucial foundation for developing connected, capable, and courageous people who believe they really count. Our high parent satisfaction, and low suspension rates, as described further below, are evidence that our mission and the culture that drives that mission have been effective. In places where there is opportunity for improvement, such as attendance and chronic absenteeism, strategies put in place appear to be yielding desirable results - see below for more details.

1. SOCIAL-EMOTIONAL LEARNING EMBEDDED IN DAILY ROUTINES: Students participate in daily community-building activities and ongoing Social-Emotional Learning lessons, including mindfulness. During this time, students are equipped with the knowledge, skills, and tools within a supportive and nurturing environment, where they can see, experience, and practice positive communication, conflict resolution, and mutual respect. Through a mixture of scaffolded activities, role-playing, direct instruction, and other authentic experiences, students are given the opportunities to use and practice conflict resolution skills and strategies as they build community in their classroom and in the Charter School. At the elementary school, a program called Active Citizens trains upper elementary school students to run group activities during recess and to offer peer support when conflicts arise on the playground with younger students. These Active Citizens students are developing leadership skills while helping students resolve conflicts collaboratively. Additional school and classroom practices like Morning

Meetings and Closing Circles are all important elements that CWC Mar Vista students experience on a regular basis to promote Social-Emotional Learning and community building. Additionally, in many classrooms there is a practice of running Circles, which build community and are a key component of a restorative approach to working through any conflict that may arise. At the middle school, in addition to Social-Emotional Learning practices embedded into the curriculum, all students maintain an advisory course called Roots, where Social-Emotional Learning is directly taught. In this class, students confront topics such as identity, diversity, conflict resolution, stereotyping, and bias, with the goal of helping students and teachers create inclusive classrooms and spaces for belonging. Moreover, each Friday, each Roots class engages in a community circle to build community amongst students and/or to repair harm that may have been caused. After the lunch period, it is typical that classrooms engage in "Calm-O'Clock," which is a student-focused meditative and mindful practice to prepare students to engage in instruction. CWC Mar Vista strongly believes teaching social-emotional skills to all students directly correlates with the success of the positive school culture and discipline framework outlined in the next bullet

2. POSITIVE DISCIPLINE FRAMEWORK AND ITS IMPACT ON SCHOOL CULTURE: At CWC Mar Vista, we firmly believe that in order to have a peaceful school where students feel safe to focus on learning and deep collaboration with peers, a positive school culture is a must. Our philosophy towards social-emotional education and discipline focuses on responses to misbehavior that are educational and logical while always maintaining the emotional and physical safety for our whole community. To do this, the CWC Mar Vista team works together to develop behavioral expectations and procedures that are consistent with the Positive Discipline Model², in which we use both kindness and firmness to co-create relationships that embed both care and accountability. Positive Discipline is a program developed by Dr. Jane Nelsen. It is based on the work of Alfred Adler and Rudolf Dreikurs and designed to teach young people to become responsible, respectful and resourceful members of their communities. Positive Discipline teaches important social and life skills in a manner that is deeply respectful and encouraging for both children and adults (including parents, teachers, childcare providers, youth workers, and others). We believe that children are hardwired from birth to connect with others, and that children who feel a sense of connection to their community, family, and school are less likely to misbehave. To be successful, contributing members of their community, children must learn necessary social and life skills. Jane Nelsen gives the following five criteria for effective discipline that:

- a. Is Kind and Firm at the same time. (Respectful and encouraging)
- b. Helps children feel a sense of Belonging and Significance. (Connection)
- c. Is Effective Long-Term. (Punishment works short term, but has negative long-term results.)
- d. Teaches valuable Social and Life Skills for good character. (Respect, concern for others, problem-solving, accountability, contribution, cooperation)
- e. Invites children to discover how Capable they are and to use their personal power in constructive ways.

The Positive Discipline models are aimed at developing mutually respectful relationships. Positive Discipline teaches adults to employ kindness and firmness at the same time, and is neither punitive nor permissive. Through enacting frameworks like Positive Discipline, CWC MV is endlessly proud of the continual work to:

- Create a welcoming school culture.
- Hire culturally competent staff that support our school's mission and work to build the culture we desire.

² <https://www.positivediscipline.com/about-positive-discipline>

- Adopt practices such as Restorative Justice Practices that respond to and respect children's diverse needs.
- Implement a culturally responsive curriculum that allows students to learn about social and emotional intelligence in addition to core academic subjects.
- Maintain a safe, organized, and clean learning environment.

CWC Mar Vista additionally attributes the success of this innovative feature as a result of having dedicated personnel who both monitor the daily attendance of each child, and build strong relationships with families which enables trust/support/ability to communicate effectively. We are proud that this approach has resulted in several measures of positive school climate, including:

IMPROVED ATTENDANCE FOR ALL STUDENTS, WITH SIGNIFICANT REDUCTIONS IN CHRONIC ABSENTEEISM:

CWC Mar Vista is proud to report that average daily attendance has steadily increased over the past three years. This success is largely attributed to our strong, inclusive school culture, which fosters a sense of belonging and community among students. Additionally, increased comfort and confidence in returning to in-person learning post-COVID have been crucial in improving our attendance rates. Our research into chronic absenteeism revealed two primary groups: families of TK-1 students still adjusting to regular school attendance and families seeking flexibility to travel or keep children home. To address these challenges, we have implemented targeted interventions, including parent workshops, personalized support strategies, and school culture days designed to make school an even more attractive place to be. As a result, our chronic absenteeism rate has decreased in one year, and we are confident that continued efforts will lead to even greater improvements in the years ahead.

NO EXPULSION RATE / LOW SUSPENSION RATES: CWC Mar Vista has not expelled any student over the term of its charter and attributes the fostering of a strong school culture and efforts for community building mentioned.

The return to in-person learning is not without challenges, however, as evident by a slight rise in suspensions. In all cases, CWC MV is on par with the State performance on the California Dashboard for the respective sections. More information on this challenge is detailed in section 1.2D.

DEVELOPING CITIZENRY THROUGH SOCIAL JUSTICE CURRICULUM:

At CWC Mar Vista, a cornerstone of our educational approach is the integration of social justice themes into our project-based curriculum, reflecting our commitment to nurturing informed, compassionate, and active global citizens. We believe that education goes beyond the acquisition of academic knowledge; it encompasses fostering a deep understanding of equity, fairness, and the importance of advocating for positive social change.

Within our academic units, students are not only encouraged but are also actively guided to critically examine societal structures and issues, exploring diverse perspectives and the underlying causes of injustice. By engaging with these topics, they are prompted to think critically about their role in society and how they can contribute to creating a more equitable world. This approach allows students to connect their learning with real-world challenges, empowering them to become proactive individuals who are not just aware of social justice issues but are also inspired to take meaningful action.

Through this integration, our students are equipped with the skills and mindset necessary to question the status quo, develop empathy, and pursue transformative change, ensuring that they leave our school as well-rounded individuals ready to make a positive impact in their communities and beyond.

DEDICATION TO FAMILY INVOLVEMENT AND COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT:

We believe that parent involvement is essential for student academic success. Accordingly, we seek to provide opportunities for parents to feel both welcomed at our school and involved. We pay regular attention to ensuring all families have the opportunity to participate, as well as frequently communicate with parents about their child's progress and the organization's work in addition to information about family education workshops and school community activities. Through structures like regularly scheduled Principal's Councils, Family Committees, parent education workshops, coffee with the Principal, weekly bulletins, detailed progress reports and parent-teacher or student-led conferences, we not only partner with families in support of student learning but also to strengthen our community by extending the reach of the cross-cultural connections that are forged in our classrooms to the larger community as well.

As a way to measure family involvement and satisfaction, CWC Mar Vista conducts annual parent satisfaction surveys. These surveys serve as critical indicators of how well the Charter School is serving the needs of all families. We constantly work to achieve high response rates from families, averaging nearly 90% schoolwide year-over-year.

Below we share key data from these surveys over the last two years, which show both high results overall.

This data highlights the high degree of parent satisfaction at CWC Mar Vista across a broad range of topics, as well as the consistency of these high ratings. While we are proud of these results, we are constantly striving to improve them further.

We retain approximately 80% of our students and on caretaker surveys, families cite the presence of CWC MV in community events that celebrate and demonstrate CWC MV's commitment to Diversity, Equity and Inclusion ("DEI") as reasons for donating [over 50% of our families donate meaningfully (in finances, resources, and/or time) to the program throughout any given school year], as well as in rating high on the caretaker surveys.

Innovative Feature #4: Graduate Dispositions:

In addition to a rigorous core academic curriculum, we also want to make sure that we are preparing our students to emerge as a new generation of leaders – ready to work across lines of difference, solve complex problems, and contribute to their communities in a meaningful way. We have defined a set of habits and characteristics that we aim for all of our graduates to possess upon leaving Citizens of the World Charter Schools. You can think of Graduate Dispositions as our "ultimate student outcomes." We focus our curriculum and lesson planning in a way that maximizes the development of these skills, customized to each students' grade and specific needs.

We define the following definitions for each term:

- SELF
 - Self-Understanding: Identifies and understands one's own emotions, thoughts and behaviors. Understands one's passions, strengths and limitations. Recognizes the impact of context and others' perceptions, and uses self-awareness to respond thoughtfully. Engages in continuous self-reflection.
 - Self-Efficacy: Independent, disciplined and self-motivated. Consistently sets and achieves goals.
 - Critical Thinking: Analyzes, evaluates and applies information to ask questions, develop ideas, construct arguments and solve problems. Considers multiple perspectives, both from the past and present, when analyzing situations.
 - Adaptability: At ease with ambiguity and the unknown, knowing that it is an important step to finding clarity. Open-minded and able to manage rapid growth, change and disruption.

- TOGETHER
 - Connection: Expresses ideas and thoughts through verbal, nonverbal and written communication. Adjusts communication based on the purpose of the message, context and audience. Builds understanding by listening, asking questions, testing assumptions, and applying examples. Internalizes multiple viewpoints to inform communications.
 - Collaboration: Learns cooperatively with others to achieve a common or complementary goal. Encourages the contributions of others, through active listening, providing feedback and drawing on individual strengths. Responds to group dynamics, including issues of power and control.
 - Cultural Competency: Understands one's own identity and story. Can initiate and build constructive relationships with others, across lines of difference. Understands issues of privilege and power, as well as one's cultural norms and biases. Leads across diverse groups in different contexts, using an asset-based lens.
 - Empathy: Acts with kindness and compassion towards living and nonliving aspects of one's environment. Senses how another person feels, and can take another's perspective.
- WORLD
 - Systems Thinking: Sees the connections and relationships between things (people, places and ideas) over time. Identifies and predicts complex patterns of behavior. Connects seemingly unrelated ideas to solve problems, innovate, and imagine new ways.
 - Global Advocacy: Evaluates issues from multiple perspectives and identifies the role one can play to promote change locally and in the world. Acts courageously, making sacrifices for the greater good. Works alongside others as global citizens to pursue justice with shared respect for human dignity.
 - Lifelong Learning: Demonstrates curiosity and the desire to discover new things. Asks complex questions to develop understanding. Has deep and broad content knowledge.

Our student-centered learning model prepares each citizen of the world to emerge as a new generation of leaders, building strong communities both within and beyond the classroom. We are incredibly proud that through these graduate dispositions, thousands of our alumni go on to achieve remarkable success in school and in life. We maintain strong connections with our families through personalized high school counseling, where 7th and 8th grade students and their families receive step-by-step support throughout the high school enrollment process. Counselors and designated staff at conduct one-on-one meetings with middle school students and provide workshops for their caregivers to enhance their understanding of high schools in Los Angeles and beyond.

We believe that true success is determined by the paths our students choose after high school graduation—whether it's attending a prestigious university, pursuing a passion, or achieving a goal they once thought was out of reach. CWC Mar Vista is proud to have played a part in their educational journey.

While we take immense pride in the dedication and impact of our team at Citizens of the World, we are equally appreciative of the recognition and validation we have received from esteemed external organizations. One such recognition comes from the Chan Zuckerberg Initiative, a leading foundation known for its commitment to advancing educational equity and innovation. They conducted an in-depth case study on Citizens of the World, spotlighting our program as a model of success, particularly emphasizing our approach to fostering graduate dispositions. This feature underscores the effectiveness of our holistic educational practices and reinforces our commitment to nurturing well-rounded, socially conscious individuals who are prepared to thrive in an ever-changing world. 1.2C: SUCCESS OF THE CHARTER SCHOOL'S EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM IN MEETING THE SPECIFIC NEEDS OF ITS STUDENT POPULATION

CWC Mar Vista is committed to ensuring all of its students are receiving the personalized support they need and deserve, including a thorough process for monitoring data. The Board of Directors has institutionalized several practices that drive data-informed decision-making at each school in the network, and requires each school to report on school goals (including academic achievement, community, and fiscal goals & benchmarks) at board meetings. Academic data is disaggregated by subgroup, performance band, grade level and other dimensions. The Board monitors students' progress towards defined achievement targets for each part of the school year cycle, and, most importantly, the Principal and other instructional leaders report actions to be taken in response to the data trends. The Board has set the routine of talking about important matters such as student achievement on a regular basis and as a result, can authentically understand how CWC Mar Vista is progressing toward important subgroup goals, as well as other and school goals.

As mentioned above, special attention is paid to climate data that indicates students' sense of belonging. This data is taken 1-2 times a year by older students, caregivers and staff and asks a series of questions that are designed to measure how effective our program is at ensuring all students feel safe and included in the educational program. Data is disaggregated by race, class and other important subgroups to determine if we are meeting the needs of all learners.

This process ensures every student is able to succeed in their learning styles and have their unique needs met for success. CWC Mar Vista addresses these needs in a holistic manner, through the implementation of numerous educational strategies:

Success of the Educational Program #1: Innovative and Rigorous Differentiated Learning Within Project-Based Units

In addition to the differentiated instruction that occurs within the core academic subjects (reading, writing, and math), students encounter rigorous, creative and joyful learning experiences within their inquiry science and social studies blocks, a hallmark of the CWC instructional model. These Inquiry units contain ongoing assessments designed to monitor students' developing understanding and which teachers use to adjust their instruction accordingly.

In CWC Mar Vista's elementary school grades, we use an adapted version of the Teaching for Understanding Framework developed at Harvard University to create integrated science and social studies units. In CWC Mar Vista's middle school grades, teachers create projects both within and across subjects. All of CWC Mar Vista's projects not only embed State Standards, but also are delivered with our constructivist approach. Embedded within these project-based Inquiry units are hands-on activities that require students to apply their academic skills and understanding of a topic in a multitude of ways. These units prompt the kind of high-level critical thinking that we know to be essential when developing the minds of 21st-century learners who can not only succeed on standardized tests but can collaborate and successfully work through multiple aspects of complex analysis and problem-solving. Predicated on CWC Mar Vista's firm belief in and value for students having multiple intelligences and varied ways to convey academic mastery, it is not uncommon to observe students writing and singing songs or creating a video piece or producing a podcast episode to express their understanding of a concept. Not only do we see these projects as ways to make learning fun, but we also appreciate them as authentic and rigorous experiences that differentiate learning and engage our students in a novel way.

Additionally, while our science and social-studies-based curriculum embeds the necessary grade-level standards and high expectations of learning for all students, the projects included in these units are open-ended enough that students who are high achieving can take them to the next and higher levels of sophistication. At CWC Mar Vista, teachers have a detailed understanding of their students' academic development and capabilities – all of which provides our teachers with a keen sense of how to push each student specifically to ensure that our hands-on projects are not only creative but are full of differentiated ways for all students to push themselves as thinkers and based on CCSS and NGSS standards. In the design of projects, teachers ensure that projects align with the state standards for that given grade level and content area. These standards are assessed through NWEA assessments multiple times per year, as well as through unit assessments. The quality of projects is monitored by administrators to ensure that they are teaching appropriate state standards.

The success with inquiry project-based learning is reflected in CWC Mar Vista's overall student data as demonstrated in State test scores. While that data is more directly tied to our students' performance in ELA and mathematics, inquiry learning cultivates the critical-thinking and problem-solving skills that are also needed for success within more standardized assessments like the CAASPP. Additionally, given the cross-curricular and interdisciplinary nature of this work, important ELA and mathematics content is built as well, especially given the rich and authentic opportunities for students to read and write through any inquiry unit.

The CAASPP and the State Standards are specifically designed to evaluate not just students' basic knowledge, but also their ability to apply this knowledge in complex, real-world situations. These assessments emphasize higher-order thinking skills, such as analyzing, synthesizing, and evaluating information, which are crucial for success in both academic and life contexts.

Our program's focus on Differentiated Learning within Project-Based Units directly supports the development of these critical thinking skills. By tailoring instruction to meet the diverse needs of our students and engaging them in projects that require them to explore, question, and solve problems, we cultivate their ability to think deeply and creatively. This approach allows students to apply academic concepts in novel ways, which is a key component of what the CAASPP and Common Core aim to measure.

As a result, we believe that our emphasis on differentiated, project-based learning is a significant factor in our students' improved test scores. It equips them with the skills to tackle performance tasks with confidence, think critically, and develop innovative solutions, reflecting the true depth of their understanding.

As a comparison point, CWC MV regularly outperforms LAUSD and is on par with the State. That said, maximizing achievement for all subgroups is always a prominent thought for instructors and school leaders and is taking active steps for continued growth,

One of CWC MV's notable achievements was the effective implementation of Tier 2 supports for foundational literacy and numeracy. These supports were designed to provide targeted interventions tailored to each student's specific needs. In the classroom, students received differentiated instruction, utilizing research-based strategies to address gaps in their foundational skills. After school, additional support was provided, allowing for more intensive, small-group instruction that reinforced the concepts learned during the day.

To ensure the interventions remained effective and responsive, students were re-rostered each trimester. This regular reassessment allowed educators to closely monitor student progress, adjust support levels as needed, and swiftly address any emerging challenges. By continuously refining and adapting their approach, Mar Vista was able to create a dynamic and responsive support system that significantly contributed to student growth.

This multi-tiered support system not only helped struggling students catch up but also played a critical role in closing achievement gaps. It reflects Mar Vista's broader commitment to providing an inclusive, equitable education that meets the diverse needs of all learners, preparing them for long-term academic success. More information on interventions can be found in Element 1.

Success of the Educational Program #2: Differentiated Learning Within Workshop-Based Classrooms

In addition to project-based learning, it is the daily, targeted and rigorous workshop-based instruction that allows us to deliver an education program that has a high impact on all students' achievement. These practices provide instruction that is geared toward students' particular needs, level, pacing, and approach. It is within our small group structure that teachers have the flexibility to refine what they are targeting to meet students' needs and move each student to the next level across subjects. In grades 6-8, small groups are provided in multiple ways: differentiated instruction in each class, smaller class sizes than comparable schools in District schools, master schedules that allow students to receive additional instruction in core subjects such as ELA and math, and developing a master schedule with enrichment classes with smaller class size. In addition to the full battery of summative assessments we conduct regularly, our teachers collect daily anecdotal evidence that captures students' ongoing work. Based on that daily source of information, teachers make dynamic decisions regarding the focus of small group instruction each day and whether groups need to be re-configured in any way to best meet the needs of the students in their class.

Differentiation, as part of a Multi-Tiered System of Supports ("MTSS") - further detailed in Element 1.28, plays a crucial role in addressing individual student needs by leveraging various data points. For a real-life example, when a CWC MV student's NWEA scores showed a decline from the beginning to the middle of the year, it was decided to extend their intervention into a second cycle. This decision proved beneficial, as the student demonstrated continued progress on Tier 2 monitoring probes and consistently achieved mastery on Tier 1 end-of-unit assessments. By the end of the year, their NWEA Reading score had advanced to the 57th percentile, reflecting significant growth. The teacher noted a marked improvement in the student's confidence and participation, which translated into better performance in whole-class settings. The student moved beyond reliance on counting strategies and mastered recall of math facts within 10, alongside a deeper understanding of math vocabulary. This example underscores how targeted interventions, driven by data, can effectively support and enhance student learning.

Success of the Educational Program #3: Data for Students with Disabilities ("SWD") and English Learners

CWC Mar Vista has maintained a rigorous focus on supporting every student's needs. The student achievement outcomes described below (e.g., CAASPP comparative data in the tables below) demonstrate that while there is much room for improvement (and we take active steps to monitor), in most cases we are performing at similar levels as the State, when not outperforming.

To continue the momentum of slow-but-steady improvement, Mar Vista attributes the following actions as indicators to a continued positive trajectory:

- Dedicated leadership at the Charter School and regional level to support special education staff, English Language Development staff, and provide coaching to general education teachers. This newly created role immediately made an impact by offering targeted guidance and enhancing instructional practices across multiple areas. As a result, the Charter School saw improvements in collaboration among staff and more effective support for students' diverse learning needs
- Commitment to DEI helps our Differently Abled Learners in the classroom because teachers become more adept at recognizing diverse learning needs and adapting teaching methods that honor student's strengths and challenges, as well as incorporation of their cultural background into their learning experience.
- Increased ELD Standards Expertise: During a staff development session at CWC Mar Vista, the Principal highlighted the growing proficiency of staff in applying ELD strategies, a critical factor in selecting the pilot curriculum to better serve English learners. "Staff members have become increasingly proficient in employing ELD strategies, demonstrating a deep understanding of ELD standards based on Professional Development ("PD") provided during staff training. This expertise was identified as a key criterion in the successful selection of our pilot curriculum, ensuring it aligns with and supports our commitment to meeting the needs of English learners." - CWC Mar Vista Principal

English Learners

CWC Mar Vista has maintained a significant focus on supporting English Learners to both reclassify and once reclassified, demonstrate success academically. CWC Mar Vista is pleased that the Charter School exceeded the reclassification rate for both LAUSD District-wide average and the state of California average in 2021-22 and 2022-23, as shown below. CWC Mar Vista exceeded the reclassification rate for the state of California average in 2023-24.

We are proud not only that we are reclassifying English Learners, but also that our reclassified students (Reclassified Fluent English Proficient ("RFEP") students) are performing very well after they are reclassified. In 2021-22, CWC MV changed the reclassification criteria to ensure that all students, regardless of their language background, have the opportunity to succeed. By incorporating differentiated instruction, culturally responsive teaching, clear pathways for progression, comprehensive Professional Development, data-driven decision-making, inclusive parent engagement, and access to advanced courses, schools can create a more inclusive and supportive environment. Importantly, the changes do not compromise academic rigor; instead, they ensure that all students are challenged appropriately and supported to achieve excellence.

The analyses based on 2022-23 and 2023-24 CAASPP in the CA dashboard demonstrate three important conclusions about the strong performance of CWC Mar Vista's RFEPs:

- CWC Mar Vista RFEPs are outperforming RFEPs in LAUSD in ELA and Math
- CWC Mar Vista RFEPs are outperforming students who only speak English in Math at CWC Mar Vista
- CWC Mar Vista's RFEPs are outperforming English Only ("EO") students at a higher level than RFEPs in LAUSD

Success of Educational Program #4: Response to COVID 19 Global Pandemic

In March of 2020, CWC MV was forced to quickly transition to remote learning due to the COVID 19 global pandemic. CWC MV worked hard to minimize the impacts of the Charter School closure on students and families by maintaining the elements of the educational program during this period while trying to also provide synchronous and asynchronous opportunities for learning that are in keeping with screen-time limits that are developmentally appropriate for each grade band. In addition, Special Education services were provided to our students to the greatest extent possible; the following services transitioned to a fully “pull out” and virtual model: counseling, occupational therapy, academic resource services, and speech and language.

Our elementary school students had a mixture of synchronous learning via Zoom and asynchronous work, all of which was structured and balanced to be developmentally appropriate for all grade levels, TK - 5. Generally, in order to maintain a sense of community, students still started the morning via Zoom for a Morning Meeting where setting the tone for the day, community-building, schedule-sharing and other important class news was shared. Following that, there was generally some shared learning via Zoom that occurred throughout the morning - e.g. a phonics or math lesson. After synchronous learning occurred, students would often either be assigned asynchronous independent tasks and/or be asked to join small group instruction via zoom. In spite of the challenges of the time, CWC MV was proud of the structures we put in place to maximize time with students online and to maintain elements of small group instruction, an important aspect of the CWC MV learning model. Teachers also beautifully adapted CWC MV content to make the work as hands-on and as engaging as possible, even finding ways to inquiry -project-based learning still occurring in some fashion. CWC MV electives/specials teachers also held a combination of synchronous and asynchronous engagements, ensuring that students had access to the critical components of the program as well. CWC Mar Vista worked hard to distribute technology to students who needed it as well as other manipulatives, workbooks and learning tools that students might need at home.

Our middle school grades were learning synchronously in all courses after a one day transition—which was used to ensure all students had necessary equipment and that teachers were trained in the usage of Google Classroom and Zoom. Our students in these grade levels learned synchronously with built in blocks of asynchronous work time until their return to in-person learning.

During remote learning, we quickly began adopting innovative learning approaches utilizing technology to support instruction. Additionally, we also provided extensive Professional Development to help our teachers transition to remote learning.

In addition to the core curriculum we widened the access to special classes such as music, art, foreign language, and other elective courses by pooling teachers in the region and allowing our students to virtually engage and learn from expertise from multiple CWC schools.

Moreover, we also prioritized social emotional well-being. We did this by offering virtual buddy lunch groups for students, counseling, and referrals/ resources for families to meet the broader mental health needs of our community.

These dedicated, student-centered initiatives have significantly impacted subgroup performance. While we acknowledge the challenges posed by the COVID-19 pandemic in the following section, and are keenly aware of the drop in performance before-and-after, we are encouraged by the resilience our students have shown and remain committed to supporting their academic growth and recovery. The following data points highlight how CWC Mar Vista consistently outperforms the state on the metric of distance from standard (“DFS”), particularly among key subgroups, according to the Dashboard.

1.2D: AREAS OF CHALLENGE AND HOW THEY WILL BE IMPROVED IN THE NEW CHARTER TERM

At CWC Mar Vista, we are a team of continual learners, constantly striving to provide the best educational experience for our students, day in and day out. A number of areas that we are focused on developing in the coming years include:

Area of Challenge #1: Impact of Covid 19 Global Pandemic

As mentioned above, we are enormously proud of how both our community of educators and families stepped up and pivoted at an incredibly fast pace amidst plenty of uncertainty. Teachers and school staff provided solutions to make a seamless and supportive transition during a time of turmoil. We have included the subgroup performance compared to the State as a win, but also recognize it has affected the progress of those students, compared to the progress that was being made before the pandemic.

Despite the tremendous efforts of our educators and families to ensure a seamless and supportive transition during this tumultuous period, the aftermath had an undeniable effect on student progress. Like many schools across Los Angeles and the nation, we witnessed a widening of opportunity gaps, leading to lower academic proficiency levels and an increase in social-emotional needs among students. The disruption of routines and the isolation experienced during the pandemic severely hindered the development of essential social skills, resulting in a notable rise in dysregulated behaviors and increased demands on our educators. Additionally, the pandemic caused a significant decrease in enrollment as many families relocated to communities outside Los Angeles.

As we transitioned back to in-person instruction in the spring of 2021, we faced significant challenges, particularly in addressing student behavior and well-being. Teachers observed an increase in behavioral issues, which not only added to their workload but also contributed to teacher burnout. This period underscored the need for targeted interventions and support systems to help students reacclimate to the classroom environment and to support educators in managing the additional pressures.

While we are proud of the resilience our students have shown and the gains made in key areas, the impact of the pandemic has highlighted areas where we must intensify our efforts. CWC Mar Vista has consistently outperformed state averages on the CAASPP, particularly among English Learners and students with disabilities. However, gaps persist, especially for Hispanic/Latino students, socio-economically disadvantaged students, and Students with Disabilities. Although our performance in ELA and math compares favorably with LAUSD and the state, we recognize that we are still falling short of our standards of excellence.

To address these challenges and close the achievement gaps, we have implemented several targeted strategies:

1. Enhanced Instructional Support: We have intensified content coaching, particularly in mathematics at the middle school level, and increased support to ensure continuous improvement in classroom management and rigor. Our adoption of a new ELA curriculum focuses on delivering rigorous and accessible instruction to all students, ensuring that differentiated instruction meets the diverse needs of our student

2. Data-Driven Interventions: We are committed to using evidence of student learning to inform instruction and differentiation. Frequent formative assessments allow us to identify students at risk of falling behind and implement timely interventions, ensuring that all students are making steady progress toward meeting or exceeding state standards.
3. Culturally Responsive Teaching: Recognizing the importance of students' cultural backgrounds, we are embedding diverse perspectives and culturally relevant content into our lessons. This approach aims to create a more inclusive learning environment, fostering greater engagement and academic achievement among all students.
4. Family and Community Engagement: We are strengthening our collaboration with families and the broader community through workshops, regular communication, and community events. By engaging parents more deeply in their children's education, we aim to create a support system that extends beyond the classroom, equipping them with the tools and knowledge needed to support their children's learning at home.

These strategies reflect our commitment to continuous improvement and equity. By addressing the specific needs of our diverse student population, we are confident that CWC Mar Vista will not only improve student outcomes but also foster a more inclusive and supportive learning environment for all.

Area of Challenge #2: Professional Development and Curricular Resources:

The post-pandemic period brought significant challenges to CWC Mar Vista, compounded by the simultaneous hiring of a large number of new teachers due to large turnover as many teachers nation-wide left the profession for multiple reasons. Integrating the new educators into our school's unique educational model, which emphasizes progressive values and constructivist approaches, proved complex. Constructivism, while promoting student-centered learning, is often misunderstood as "free-range learning." In reality, it requires a well-structured curriculum that guides students while allowing them the freedom to explore and learn.

New teachers, unfamiliar with CWC Mar Vista's specific approach, faced difficulties in adapting to this model. The challenge was exacerbated by the need to equip these educators with high-quality instructional practices essential for implementing the curriculum effectively. Without this preparation, the progressive philosophy, which ideally fosters organic learning, can be misinterpreted and inconsistently applied, leading to reduced student engagement and suboptimal educational outcomes.

Additionally, the statewide teacher shortage intensified the situation. Delays in hiring further strained the Charter School's ability to provide timely and adequate support to the incoming teachers. This shortage not only affected the onboarding process but also placed additional pressure on existing staff, who had to manage the integration of new hires while continuing to address the diverse needs of their students. These challenges highlighted the need for robust support systems and targeted Professional Development to ensure a smooth transition and the effective implementation of the Charter School's educational model.

Solutions and Next Steps: CWC Mar Vista is committed to addressing these challenges by reinforcing its educational practices and support systems. As part of the regional team, the Charter School regularly engages in curriculum reviews to ensure the use of materials that align with current research, are culturally relevant, and foster collaboration across diverse student backgrounds. In 2020, all CWC LA schools implemented Illustrative Mathematics, a standards-aligned and culturally responsive problem-based math program. More recently, the Charter School undertook a curricular review and adoption process for English Language Arts, aiming to provide students with the most culturally responsive and rigorous standards-aligned program to develop as fluent readers and proficient writers. In the 2024-25 school year, 17 teachers across all Citizens of the World Schools piloted Fishtank Plus as a new ELA curriculum. Four of those teachers were at the Mar Vista campus. In the 2025-26 school year, all of CWC Mar Vista will be implementing this rigorous, State Standards-aligned and culturally responsive program.

These curriculum updates have been accompanied by aligned Professional Development to support teachers in the effective implementation of these programs. Additionally, CWC Mar Vista is in the initial stages of adopting a science curriculum for grades 6-8 that aligns with NGSS standards and meets the usability and alignment criteria set by EdReports. In school year 25 - 26, CWC Mar Vista will be newly using Amplify for a science program in 6th grade with the hope of extending that to other middle school grades in the subsequent years.

To further support teachers, the Charter School Leadership Team participated in intensive coaching through the Relay Graduate School of Education, focusing on best practices in teacher coaching. Leaders will routinely observe classrooms and provide feedback using the research-based Get Better Faster Rubric. The Charter School is also emphasizing the importance of high-quality Tier I instruction, with school leaders working alongside teachers in bi-monthly data team meetings to assess and address gaps in student learning.

Moreover, CWC Mar Vista is implementing targeted intervention efforts—before, during, and after school—to meet the needs of all students in a timely manner. These efforts are designed to ensure that more robust intervention programming continues to evolve in the years to come, ultimately leading to improved student outcomes across all subgroups.

Area of Challenge #3: Providing Authentic Opportunities for Agency and Voice for Staff

Within our school, we have learned that in order to attract and retain staff who are invested in our model and willing to work hard on behalf of it, we have needed to develop a more systemized and formal approach to engage staff in leadership and decision-making roles connected to the development of our larger program outside of any one single classroom. This is informed through staff surveys, feedback forms from Professional Development series and anecdotal discussions.

To that end, we focused on creating leadership roles for staff over the past several years and plan to continue to do so in line with organizational priorities. For example, we have developed Instructional Leadership Teams ("ILTs"). Teachers who have been selected for either subject-specific (e.g. Math or Literacy) or any other general ILTs have content and pedagogical expertise and years of experience that poise them to help co-lead continuous improvement work with their colleagues. ILT members report in feedback forms and focus groups that being on such is a key reason for staying at CWC MV and feeling developed as a teacher-leader on campus. Lastly, the Charter School has opportunities for both certificated and non certificated staff to participate in the Principal's Council, an advisory board, which helps support the administration in developing the Local Control and Accountability Plan ("LCAP"), aligning budgets, and other key decisions that impact the Charter School community.

All of these efforts result in high teacher retention rates at CWC Mar Vista. Between the 2023-24 and 2024-25 school years, CWC Mar Vista achieved a staff retention rate of 80.95% when excluding those who relocated, reflecting a continued commitment to staff support and stability. This marks a significant milestone in the Charter School's ongoing efforts to create a stable and supportive work environment. However, this success was not achieved overnight. Historically, staff retention has been a challenge, prompting CWC Mar Vista to make concerted efforts to foster a positive school culture and a warm, inclusive environment. These efforts have been guided by feedback from regular staff surveys, which highlighted the importance of a supportive community and professional growth opportunities.

During this same period, the Charter School experienced a significant development: teachers filed a petition to unionize. CWC Mar Vista's leadership responded by standing in partnership with this decision, recognizing it as an opportunity to further enhance the staff experience. By embracing the unionization process, the leadership is committed to continuing to improve and develop various aspects of the work environment. This collaborative approach underscores CWC Mar Vista's dedication to listening to and addressing the needs of its staff, ensuring that all educators feel valued, supported, and integral to the Charter School's mission.

1.3: STUDENT POPULATION TO BE SERVED AND ENROLLMENT ROLLOUT PLAN

CWC Mar Vista serves students in grades TK-8.

CWC Mar Vista serves the socioeconomically, racially and culturally diverse neighborhoods of Mar Vista and Palms. These neighborhoods are based in the following zip codes: 90066, 90064 and 90034. The Charter School is open to all students within those grade levels, as described in greater detail in Element 8.

CWC Mar Vista provides families a public charter school option with an intentionally diverse student body that offers a unique opportunity for their children to prepare for global citizenship. With so many inequities and challenges facing our society – systemic poverty and racism, climate change, violence, conflict rooted in cultural differences, and more – students will face significant societal challenges when they graduate from high school. Our graduates will need to not only navigate these challenges for themselves, but our hope is that they will also be future change makers finding innovative solutions to address inequities and challenges facing our society. It is our goal that our students will become global citizens with the savviness and integrity to change the world for the better.

For additional context regarding the neighborhood, and CWC MV's choice to serve in this neighborhood, Mar Vista has transitioned from a working-class neighborhood to one that is increasingly gentrified, and its tenants reflect a wide range of socioeconomic statuses. While it has become popular among affluent young professionals and creatives, leading to rising property values and rent, this has displaced some long-term, lower-income residents. These families have faced systemic underinvestment and the lingering effects of redlining, which have limited opportunities for wealth accumulation among its primarily immigrant and working-class residents. The socioeconomic disparity underscores the broader issues of economic inequality and displacement in Los Angeles.

Despite this gentrification, Mar Vista remains a progressive community that values social justice, a principle that CWC Mar Vista's program strongly embodies and seeks for our students to uphold.

As a part of the curriculum, ample opportunities are provided for students to develop their interests in a variety of extracurricular settings such as through school clubs. The Charter School facilitates many clubs based on student interest; recent offerings include athletics and robotics.

With such a rich and diverse student body, CWC Mar Vista is able to provide a dynamic, joyful and culturally diverse environment in and outside of school. This includes a robust events calendar filled with cultural celebrations such as the Hispanic Heritage Cultural Food Festival in October, Black History Programming in February, and the Pride Celebration that happens at the close of every school year. All of which are shared with caretakers and the broader CWC community through weekly newsletters, end-of-week wrap-ups from teachers, and other communication highlights via the community-facing hub, ParentSquare. These events showcase food, fun and other educational programs that allow the entire community to learn about each other. There are also opportunities for students and families across all grade-levels to showcase and share their cultural heritage inside the classroom including sharing favorite stories through read-alouds, songs and traditions that tie into the project-based curriculum they are learning about.

The data below highlight the diversity of the CWC Mar Vista target community based on several demographic characteristics⁹

- 6% of households have income less than $15,000
- 17% of households have income between $15,000 and $24,999
- 15% of households have income between $25,000 and $74,000
- 28% of households have income between $75,000 and $149,000

- 35% of households have income above $150,000

The data above shows the socioeconomic diversity of the Charter School's targeted geography. Approximately 31% of households are earning below $50,000 annually, an amount that is approximately comparable to Free and Reduced Price Meal qualifying income levels, which is lower than CWC Mar Vista's Free and Reduced Price Meal population of 50%. In addition, 14% of households earn $200,000 or more.

The general population demographic breakdown of the CWC Mar Vista region demonstrates the following¹⁰:

- 52% are Caucasian
- 23% are Hispanic/Latino
- 15% are Asian
- 4% are African-American
- 1% are Other

CWC Mar Vista is a TK-8 Charter School; enrollment projections for the charter term are included in the table below.

GOALS AND PHILOSOPHY

1.4: MISSION AND VISION

The mission of Citizens of the World Mar Vista is to create a high-achieving public school for a diverse community of students, developing their abilities, confidence, and sense of responsibility for themselves and their community.

CWC Mar Vista provides a high-quality education for all students from TK to grade eight, laying the foundation for future school, professional, and personal success. By drawing on one of Los Angeles' greatest assets – the diversity of the people who call our city home - we seek to ensure that unlike many of the current public school offerings in the area, all of the diverse members of this remarkably unique neighborhood are active participants in our school. In this way, we would create a hub for community activity that truly reflects and embraces the ethnic, racial, linguistic, and socioeconomic diversity of the neighborhood. CWC Mar Vista prepares students for success in college, a diverse society, and a global economy by drawing upon these school design characteristics and exceptional organizational leadership at all levels.

1.5: EDUCATED PERSON IN THE 21ST CENTURY

CWC Mar Vista has developed and successfully implemented our instructional framework with the end goal of laying the foundation so that students graduate from high school equipped to thrive in the 21st century.

We believe an educated person in the 21st century strives to grow in all possible ways. An educated person can work independently, cooperatively within a group, or as a leader. An educated person thinks creatively, reflectively and critically. Cognizant of our ties as human beings on the planet, and as individuals in an increasingly digital, fast-paced world, an educated person seeks to be a productive, caring, and responsible citizen of the world.

In creating our philosophical foundation, we have drawn on empirical research, our practical experience as educators, and ongoing and in-depth consultations with school leaders through the CWC network and other school leaders around the country. Together, the philosophies presented herein form the foundation for our practices and programmatic elements and are presented more fully in the Curricular and Instructional Designs, and in 1.10: Overall Curricular and Instructional Design in particular.

In the book *The Global Achievement Gap: Why Even Our Best Schools Don't Teach the New Survival Skills Our Children Need – and What We can Do About It*¹¹, Tony Wagner makes the argument that, "Schools haven't changed; the world has. And so our schools are not failing. Rather, they are obsolete—even the ones that score the best on standardized tests."

As we seek to prepare students to succeed in the 21st century, we embrace the accountability that accompanies charter schools. We believe that ensuring that students achieve excellent scores on standardized tests and a strong understanding of content standards is a baseline necessity. However, we also acknowledge that:

Rigor that matters most for the twenty-first century is demonstrated mastery of the core competencies for work, citizenship, and life-long learning. Studying academic content is the means of developing competencies, instead of being the goal, as it has been traditionally. In today's world, it's no longer how much you know that matters; it's what you can do with what you know.

In crafting our understanding of what it means to educate students for the 21st century and its implication for our academic program, we have drawn on Wagner's definition of what it means to be college, career, and citizenship-ready and the "Seven Survival Skills" that he identified:

1. Critical Thinking & Problem Solving
2. Collaboration Across Networks & Leading by Influence
3. Agility & Adaptability
4. Initiative & Entrepreneurialism
5. Effective Oral & Written Communication
6. Accessing & Analyzing Information
7. Curiosity & Imagination

We define college and career readiness in broad ways to ensure that students are fully prepared for the set of challenges they will face after graduating from high school. Our definition includes academic preparation (for example: content acquisition from various subjects as well as critical thinking and problem solving skills), as well as the various skills needed for success in our complex society (for example: taking initiative, oral communication skills, curiosity and others). By including both academic skills and other competencies in our definition of an educated person in the 21st century, CWC Mar Vista will successfully prepare students for success and persistence in college and careers.

CWC Mar Vista also includes "technological literacy" as integral to several of the skills named above. As an example, Item 6: Accessing Analyzing Information of the "Seven Survival Skills" requires the capacity to "manage an astronomical amount of information flowing into their work lives on a daily basis¹²" via technology. Determining which sources are most relevant as they seek to integrate multiple sources of information on the same topic is crucial to Critical Thinking and Problem Solving. Effective Written Communication requires students to utilize technology to produce and publish writing.

Given that the success of the CWC program is not merely tied to our students' achievement on standardized tests, we have created eleven Graduate Dispositions, which were previously detailed in "1.2B: Innovative Features of the Educational Program #4", are habits of heart and mind that we hope students will possess upon their graduation from CWC. These graduate dispositions are organized into the three larger categories of Self, Together and World, each of which encompass different skills we aim to cultivate within and between our students. As a reminder, the graduate dispositions are:

HOW LEARNING BEST OCCURS

Learning best occurs when students construct their own understandings, under the guidance of a teacher who offers varying levels of support, as needed, and with the involvement of their families in their education.

We present the following building blocks of our theory of effective learning:

- Constructivism: a theory of learning and knowing
- Gradual release of responsibility: an instructional model that presents a process in which the responsibility is released from the teacher to the student
- Family Involvement that Promotes Student Learning
- Feeling a Sense of Belonging

CONSTRUCTIVISM

Constructivism, a psychological theory, was initially based on the research of Jean Piaget and Lev Vygotsky and continues to develop in the work of Jerome Bruner, Howard Gardner, and others. The constructivist approach to learning is further validated by the findings of How People Learn: Brain, Mind, Experience, and School (1999), an authoritative synthesis of research on learning that was jointly commissioned by the U.S. Department of Education and the National Science Foundation.¹³

At its most basic level, the constructivist theory of learning means that new knowledge must be constructed from existing knowledge. New knowledge is incorporated into one's existing framework unless that framework is challenged. The children's book Fish Is Fish by Leo Lionni provides a vivid and straightforward illustration of this core idea.

Fish Is Fish (Lionni, 1970) described a fish who is keenly interested in learning about what happens on land because it can only breathe in water. It befriends a tadpole who grows into a frog and eventually goes out onto the land. The frog returns to the pond a few weeks later and reports on what he had seen. The frog describes all kinds of things like birds, cows, and people. The book shows pictures of the fish's representation of each of these descriptions: each is a fish-like form that is slightly adapted to accommodate the frog's descriptions – people are imagined to be fish that walk on their tailfins, birds are fish with wings, cows are fish with udders. The tale illustrates both the creative opportunities and dangers inherent in the fact that people construct new knowledge based on their current knowledge. (Bransford et al, 1999, p.11)

While the story of Fish is Fish appears simple and childlike, the core tenets apply to learning at all levels and ages. Brooks and Brooks emphasize in The Case for Constructivist Classrooms (1999) that "...[w]e construct our own understandings of the world in which we live" (p. 4). Those constructions can be misconceptions, incorrect, or incomplete, unless something challenges that construction, forcing the learner to reexamine their understanding. At CWC Mar Vista, our instructional framework will "allow learners to explore and generate many possibilities, both affirming and contradictory." (Fosnot 2005, p. 34)

To be clear, constructivism is a theory of learning and knowing, not a theory of teaching (Fosnot, 2005).

A common misconception regarding "constructivist" theories of knowing (that existing knowledge is used to build new knowledge) is that teachers should never tell students anything directly, but instead should always allow them to construct knowledge for themselves. This perspective confuses a theory of pedagogy (teaching) with a theory of knowing. Constructivists assume that all knowledge is constructed from previous knowledge, irrespective of how one is taught – even listening to a lecture involves active attempts to construct new knowledge. (Bransford et al, 1999, p. 11)

How People Learn includes the following two findings concerning children's development and learning:

Children are problem solvers and, through curiosity, generate questions and problems. Children attempt to solve problems presented to them, and they also seek novel challenges. They persist because success and understanding are motivating in their own right. Children's natural capabilities require assistance for learning. Children's early capacities are dependent on catalysts and mediation. Adults play a critical role in promoting children's curiosity and persistence by directing children's attention, structuring their experiences, supporting their learning attempts, and regulating the complexity and difficulty of levels of information for them.

CWC Mar Vista's teachers select instructional techniques as needed based on identified student needs on an on-going basis, guided by constructivist learning theory. Constructivism provides the guiding principles for lessons whether they are in the format of direct instruction, project-based learning, or mathematical problem solving. In the following pages, we present the idea of developing and using a rich repertoire of instructional strategies. While certain methodologies are implemented in many classrooms across the Charter School, teachers are not limited to using those techniques. Instead, they are encouraged to develop additional techniques, to draw on, as needed, to support students' constructions of understanding.

Constructivism calls for learning experiences to be adjusted, beginning with each learner's level of understanding and guiding students in building on prior knowledge. Our classroom structures are designed to allow for this differentiated instruction. Our model provides for considerable flexible group and independent work time in which teachers can meet with small groups and conference with individual students.

By ensuring that students are given a variety of different means of learning the material and the opportunity to construct their own understanding, we create the conditions to ensure all students achieve mastery of standards in meaningful ways. Deep understanding of the skills and knowledge presented in the Common Core State Standards will lead to strong performance in a variety of new situations, including state standardized tests. However, the converse is not true. The capacity to perform well on a standardized test does not ensure the capacity to apply that knowledge in novel or real-world situations.

Classroom practices designed to challenge students in transforming their current thinking and student success on tests are [not] inherently contradictory. However, there is much evidence (from National Assessment of Educational Progress and Third International Mathematics and Science Study, to name but two sources) that classroom practices specifically designed to prepare students for tests do not foster new learning that is applied to new settings (Brooks & Brooks, 1999, p. viii).

While we do not believe that test-preparatory instruction (or “classroom practices specifically designed to prepare students for tests” as stated in the quote above) is likely to lead to the ability to apply that learning in an alternate setting, we do recognize the important role that standardized tests play in monitoring instruction.

Furthermore, numerous independent researchers have documented the success of the constructivist model of education with historically under-served populations using standardized tests, including such schools as University of Houston Charter School in Texas.¹⁴ This school and countless others have long demonstrated that when children from socio-economically disadvantaged neighborhoods, including recent immigrants and English learners, are given the opportunity to attend a school like CWC Mar Vista, their test scores and self-confidence soar. (Amaral, 2002; Mester, 2008; Hollins, King, J. and Hayman, 1994; Mathison & Young, 1995; Thornton & McEntee, 1995; McCombs, 1994; O’Neil & Drillings, 1997; Freire, 1995.)

GRADUAL RELEASE OF RESPONSIBILITY

Learning best occurs when the appropriate instructional technique is selected based on the objective to be taught and the needs of the learner. The gradual release of responsibility can provide a useful way of categorizing instructional methods to help students become more independent. In short, this instructional model presents a process in which the responsibility is released from the teacher to the student. It requires that the teacher intentionally transition from owning “all the responsibility for performing a task ... to a situation in which the students assume all of the responsibility” (Duke & Pearson 2002, p. 211).

In the gradual release model, teachers offer varying degrees of support to promote student learning. When the teacher offers the most support, the learner control is low; when the teacher offers the least support, the learner control (and therefore responsibility) is high.

In some cases, a single lesson contains components from multiple levels of gradual release of responsibility. During a lesson, the teacher might teach a strategy to the whole class in which

(s)he briefly demonstrates a specific technique (demonstration). Then, students are encouraged to try it out together in partnerships before being sent off to apply the technique independently to their learning (independent practice). The teacher can monitor student learning and/or lead a small group of students who are likely to need more support, based on previous assessments. During this lesson, (s)he coaches them in applying the technique to their work (guided practice).

This gradual release may also occur over time. For example, the ultimate goal of reading instruction is independent reading, in which students become adults who select texts and read independently. Knowing that, the teacher can use this framework to structure instruction to release elements of reading to the student over time. Over time, the texts for each type of instruction should become more difficult. As a student becomes a more skilled reader, (s)he should be able to read independently a book that was once only accessible to her or him if the teacher read it aloud (Gaffney & Anderson, 1991).

The ultimate goal of instruction is independence, such that students are self-reliant and able to demonstrate their understanding without teacher support. We will use the assessments presented to monitor student progress towards independent demonstration of the Common Core State Standards and the California Standards.

This evidence-based model “emphasizes instruction that mentors students into becoming capable thinkers and learners when handling the tasks with which they have not yet developed expertise” (Buehl, 2005). The gradual release of the responsibility model of instruction has been documented as an effective approach for improving writing achievement (Fisher & Frey, 2003), reading comprehension (Lloyd, 2004), and literacy outcomes for English learners (Kong & Pearson, 2003).

FAMILY INVOLVEMENT THAT PROMOTES STUDENT LEARNING

Learning best occurs when students’ families are involved in their education. Family education and participation are essential components of student success. The ideas and skills a family brings to the Charter School and the exchange of ideas between parents and teachers help the students see parents as partners working towards a successful school experience for every student. Based on U.S. Department of Education research, family and school partnerships are believed to be critical to students’ success throughout their lives. According to A New Wave of Evidence: The Impact of School, Family, and Community Connections on Student Achievement. Annual Synthesis, 2002, a federally-funded research synthesis produced by the Southwest Educational Lab, multiple sources of evidence attest to the key role of parental involvement in supporting student achievement. Positive aspects of family and school partnerships include:

- Increased student attendance and higher aspirations.
- Improvement in student attitude and behavior.
- Improved parent and child communication; positive parent/teacher interaction.
- Increased community support for schools.
- Increased rate of homework completion.
- Higher test scores and grades.
- Fewer referrals and placements in special education.
- Higher graduation rates.
- Higher enrollment rates in post-secondary education.

In addition to several orientation sessions for new families, CWC Mar Vista conducts several parent- teacher-student class meetings annually to ensure that parents understand the curricular approach, are included in the life of the classroom, and hear from the teacher(s) about their child's progress and learning. To encourage the full participation of non-English speaking parents, CWC Mar Vista makes regular and full use of interpreters and highly values second language abilities when hiring teachers and other staff.

School leaders, in collaboration with teachers and parent volunteers, develop an annual schedule of workshops that will take place on the school site and welcome all parents in the community. These workshops are led by teachers, administrators, parents, and community members and focus on culturally sensitive, hands-on learning experiences to help parents develop skills to support their children.

All families are encouraged to participate as active volunteers in the Charter School's operations and activities. Parent participation at CWC Mar Vista has been very high. Parent volunteerism is key to the success of any school, and is an important part of our school philosophy and vision. CWC Mar Vista is very committed to equitably engaging all families and finding a multitude of ways in which a CWC Mar Vista family can plug into life at school. CWC Mar Vista firmly believes that parent volunteers not only strengthen our school, but have an invaluable positive impact on students as well. Participating in volunteer opportunities provides CWC Mar Vista parents a chance to connect with other members of our community.

Parents may volunteer before, during or after the school day, potentially within the classroom or in other facets of school life (chaperoning field trips, volunteering to help with academic activities, etc.). Other volunteer opportunities include planning student/school community events, fundraising activities, outreach to prospective new families, and much more. Skill levels required to participate in school activities will similarly be variable. In this way, parents, grandparents, and other family members provide valuable services to help the Charter School but more importantly, families become more involved and connected to the Charter School and their child's learning while also being empowered to effectively shape school programs and operations.

CWC Mar Vista shall not require a parent or legal guardian of a prospective or enrolled student to perform volunteer service hours, or make payment of fees or other monies, goods, or services in lieu of performing volunteer service, as a condition of their child's admission, continued enrollment, attendance, or participation in CWC LA's educational activities, or otherwise discriminate against a student in any manner because their parent cannot, has not, or will not provide volunteer service to CWC LA. No student will be denied admission, disenrolled, or receive a reduced grade or loss of educational benefit if parents or caregivers of any kind choose not to or are unable to volunteer. These policies are described in the Family Handbook, which is distributed annually to all families. Additional volunteering policies are described in the Charter School's Volunteer Handbook.

IMPACT OF BELONGING

Learning is deeply rooted in a social and emotional context, and the presence of a sense of belonging within an educational environment can profoundly impact student outcomes. In being intentionally diverse-by-design, CWC Mar Vista's emphasis on building a sense of belonging and promoting representation is not just a supportive practice, but a foundational component that drives the effectiveness of learning seen through its constructivist philosophy. In this approach, CWC Mar Vista uniquely positions itself to leverage diversity with the intent of enhancing the educational experience through equitable access and opportunity for all students.

Belonging encompasses the feeling that students and staff are not just present but are recognized, respected, valued and supported in a way that honors their unique experiences and their place within the collective school environment.

To further understand the mechanisms through which belonging enhances learning, outlined here are three strategies which CWC Mar Vista utilizes:

- Inclusive School Culture: Creating a school culture that celebrates diversity and actively promotes inclusion through year-round cultural recognition and celebrations.
 - This includes creating spaces where differences are celebrated and where diversity is seen as an asset to the learning environment.
- Restorative Practices: Using restorative practices to address conflicts and build community to strengthen relationships and create a more cohesive, supportive environment where all students feel they belong.
 - These practices focus on repairing harm and restoring relationships, rather than punitive measures, which help maintain a sense of belonging even when challenges arise.
- Continued Professional Development: By equipping teachers and staff with the knowledge, skills, and competency necessary to facilitate inclusive, responsive, and supportive educational spaces
 - As teachers become better equipped to address the systemic challenges inherent in their classrooms, they can better respond to barriers of equity that inhibit student learning.

When students feel a strong sense of belonging, they are more likely to be engaged in their learning, develop positive relationships with peers and teachers, and achieve academic success. CWC Mar Vista contributes to students' overall well-being by emphasizing the importance of belonging across lines of difference to provide students the skills to make them more resilient, motivated, and capable of navigating the complexities of a diverse society.

SELF-MOTIVATED, COMPETENT, LIFELONG LEARNERS

CWC Mar Vista's academic program reflects our broad objective of enabling our students to become self-motivated, competent, life-long learners. By putting our core beliefs about how learning best occurs into action, we establish the foundation for students' current and future development as learners. Below, we present a series of core beliefs, backed by our explicitly defined goals, which support the realization of these beliefs. Each of these is currently being successfully implemented at CWC Mar Vista.

Students have clear – and high – expectations; they receive appropriate guidance and enthusiastic support: Learning best occurs when learners are expected to learn and when they are supported in their learning. An effective educational program must begin with explicitly-stated, expected outcomes, such as the Common Core State Standards, and be monitored by appropriate assessments. Ongoing communication among students, faculty, and families facilitates each student's learning in the context of these stated objectives. Teachers scaffold the learning of students and differentiate instruction in order to lead all students to academic growth and achievement. CWC Mar Vista has set high expectations for student learning, grounded in state and national standards. We will regularly assess progress towards meeting them, celebrate milestones along the way, and provide supplemental instruction as needed.

Students are motivated to seek understanding through dynamic investigation and exploration in the context of real world scenarios and projects: Learning best occurs when children are self-motivated and inspired to answer questions that have meaning and relevance for them across disciplines and distinct state standards groupings. Project-based Inquiry learning capitalizes on students' natural curiosities and methods of exploring the world around them, reality, self-awareness, and more. CWC Mar Vista will implement inquiry projects as one of our core instructional techniques. As students mature in the upper grades, they may be provided with the opportunity to field-test or apply their learning beyond the Charter School walls.

Instruction is informed by a robust assessment system, in which standardized tests provide only a small part of the picture in determining student achievement: Assessment provides a means to identify achievement, progress, and deficits in student learning, as well as strengths and weaknesses of instructional and curricular practices. Assessment should be ongoing and holistic with effective data systems that can help educators continually assess and refine their curriculum's impact on each individual child throughout the school year. CWC Mar Vista implements clear goals for student learning, administers standards-based assessments, and monitors progress toward meeting those goals.

Students know how to collaborate, cooperate, and negotiate with diverse people and understand others' perspectives: In our rapidly developing, technologically-driven world, it is more imperative than at any other time in human history that people be open to the perspectives, values, and meanings of different cultures. As students age and develop, their learning – tied to State Standards – similarly grows in perspective from the local neighborhood to the city, state, nation, and world. The remarkable diversity of our neighborhood offers an incredible opportunity that has not been fully realized. CWC Mar Vista enrolls a student body that is diverse racially, ethnically, and socio-economically. One of the core tenets of our school design is diversity. CWC Mar Vista has demonstrated an ability to attract and retain a diverse student population that mirrors the surrounding diverse community. CWC Mar Vista implements instructional practices, such as class discussions, circles, small group work, and peer review that provide opportunities for students to collaborate with and learn from and alongside their peers.

Students have opportunities to develop and demonstrate understanding among the multiple intelligences: As discussed in this petition regarding the research of Howard Gardner, a comprehensive academic program should support the development of students' capacity across the spectrum of intelligences. CWC Mar Vista implements a rich instructional framework that supports students in developing their multiple intelligences. For example, project-based learning requires students to work in groups and provides practice for interpersonal intelligence. Metacognitive modeling supports students in the development of intrapersonal intelligence. CWC Mar Vista offers music, P.E. and art to develop musical, bodily-kinesthetic, and spatial intelligences.

Teachers will be given ample resources – including time and training – to develop their skills and talents, supported by school leaders and their peers: In order to ensure the highest quality instruction for CWC Mar Vista students, we must invest in the capability of our teachers. Teachers should be provided ample time, resources, and support to continuously develop their understanding, pedagogy, and skills, to collaborate with faculty and to consistently be learners themselves in the context of our school community. CWC Mar Vista implements a robust Professional Development program that embodies our theories of how learning best occurs. Our Summer Institute training along with PD on regularly-scheduled shortened days allow for frequent Professional Development in addition to ongoing coaching and observation. Additionally, CWC Mar Vista has developed a weekly schedule that has common planning time, which allows for a great deal of collaboration amongst peers. To support their ongoing learning, CWC Mar Vista teachers access rich professional resources, allowing teachers to draw from these to supplement their curricular maps. Our professional resources, in addition to the core curricular materials we use, make certain that our program is as innovative and as rigorous as possible in meeting all state standards. Our professional resources are regularly updated to ensure CWC Mar Vista is drawing from the most current research and body of curriculum to execute our model of instruction.

1.6: LOCAL CONTROL FUNDING FORMULA (“LCFF”) ANNUAL GOALS

Based on the state priorities detailed in Education Code Section 52060(d), CWC Mar Vista aims to achieve the following school wide and subgroup outcome goals. We use multiple summative and formative assessments aligned to California academic content and performance standards and CCSS to monitor individual student and subgroup progress towards the state priorities detailed in Education Code Section 52060(d) and the CAASPP.

The following chart details CWC Mar Vista's annual goals for all pupils (i.e. schoolwide) and for each subgroup¹⁵ of pupils identified pursuant to Education Code Section 52052 for each of the eight (8) state priorities and sub-priorities identified in Education Code Section 52060(d). We also include specific annual actions we plan to take to achieve each of the identified annual goals.

¹⁵ In the LCFF charts below * signifies that a subgroup did not have enough students to be considered significant and therefore to be reported out on. Alternatively it can also mean that we do not have the data to report out on.

1.7 OVERALL CURRICULAR AND INSTRUCTIONAL DESIGN

CWC Mar Vista implements curriculum based on proven models within our CWC Los Angeles network of schools as well as some of the leading schools in California and beyond. Our instructional framework (curriculum and instructional strategies) is informed by our philosophies about how learning best occurs in each subject area and what it means to be an educated person in the 21st century, as described in section 1.6. Our overarching goal is to ensure that as each student masters the State Standards across each discipline, we also develop each individual student's confidence, potential, and values that reflect our individual responsibility as citizens of the world in which we live.

In addition, CWC Mar Vista emphasizes Howard Gardner's Multiple Intelligence Theory (taken from Multiple Intelligences)¹⁶, embracing the notion that an educated person in the 21st Century is one who has developed a broad range of skills and interests across each of Gardner's eight areas of intelligence.

As Gardner explains: "I believe the human cognitive competence is better described in terms of a set of abilities, talents or mental skills, which I call Intelligences. All normal individuals possess each of these skills to some extent; individuals differ in the degree of skill and in the nature of their combination...Intelligences always work in concert, and any sophisticated adult role will involve a melding of several of them." (Gardner, Multiple Intelligences: New Horizons, 2006)

Gardner has identified eight areas of intelligence:

1. Linguistic Intelligence involves sensitivity to spoken and written language, including the ability to use language to accomplish certain goals; to listen perceptively and read critically; to learn languages; to express one's self persuasively or poetically.
2. Logical-Mathematical Intelligence is most often associated with scientific and mathematical thinking; the ability to detect patterns, reason deductively, and think logically, conceptually, and abstractly; the interest in experimentation, puzzles, investigations, and cosmic questions.
3. Musical Intelligence involves the capacity to distinguish the whole realm of sound and, in particular, to discern, appreciate, and apply the various aspects of music (pitch, rhythm, timber, and mood), both separately and holistically.
4. Bodily-Kinesthetic Intelligence involves the ability to use one's body in highly differentiated and skilled ways, for both goal-oriented and expressive purposes; the capacity to exercise fine and gross motor control of one's body.
5. Spatial Intelligence involves the ability to accurately perceive the visual world and to re-create, manipulate, and modify aspects of one's perceptions, even in the absence of the relevant visual stimuli.
6. Interpersonal Intelligence relates to the ability to work cooperatively and to communicate, verbally and non-verbally, with other people; the insight to understand others' intentions, motivations, and desires; and the judgment to recognize the biases underlying sources of information.

7. Intrapersonal Intelligence involves the ability to understand oneself; the motivation and focus to study independently; the wisdom to reflect.
8. Naturalistic Intelligence involves the ability to recognize, collect, analyze, and classify plants, minerals, animals, flora, fauna, and even cultural objects such as cars and sneakers. Those who excel in Naturalistic Intelligence exhibit a greater sensitivity to nature and their place within it, the ability to nurture and grow things, and care for animals.

The educational program is crafted to engage multiple areas of intelligence outlined above. We utilize a flexible yet structured approach into our curriculum. Our school is organized into grade-level teams and departments (in middle school), all of which are led by experienced educators who tailor instruction to address these diverse intelligences. For instance, linguistic and logical-mathematical intelligences are nurtured through rigorous academic subjects, while spatial and bodily-kinesthetic intelligences are engaged through hands-on projects and physical activities. Our curriculum also includes opportunities for artistic exploration and collaborative group work to support interpersonal and intrapersonal development, ensuring that each student's unique strengths are recognized and cultivated.

Staffing at our school is strategically aligned with our educational goals to ensure the highest quality instruction. We prioritize hiring educators who are not only skilled in their subject areas but also embrace our progressive educational philosophy and are adept at recognizing and addressing different intelligences in their teaching practices. This approach fosters an environment where teachers can effectively support and challenge students according to their individual learning styles and strengths. Additionally, our supportive framework encourages collaboration among staff to share best practices and continually refine their techniques, ensuring that our educational program remains dynamic and responsive to the needs of all students.

INSTRUCTIONAL DESIGN: INNOVATIVE COMPONENTS OF THE EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM

As further described in section 1.2C of this document, the innovative components of the educational program include:

- Innovative Feature #1: Challenging, Constructivist-Based Curriculum That Inspires Critical Thinking, Creativity, and Develops an Intrinsic Passion for Learning
- Innovative Feature #2: Intentional Socio-Economic and Racial Diversity
- Innovative Feature #3: Community Building, Social-Emotional Learning, and Positive School Culture
- Innovative Feature #4: Graduate Dispositions

As such, CWC Mar Vista has developed and successfully implemented our instructional framework with the end goal that students graduate from high school equipped to thrive in the 21st century.

To elaborate, we selected curricular resources that align with the Common Core State Standards and the Next Generation Science Standards. For the subjects that are not yet available by these standards, we have chosen curricular programs that both: (1) are specifically aligned with the State Standards; and (2) are likely to support the development of the 21st century skills articulated in the State Standards and (3) are culturally relevant in nature.

Second, we have selected instructional techniques that promote the competencies identified by Wagner and captured in the Common Core State Standards. Several examples are noted below and discussed in more detail later in this section.

- GRADUAL RELEASE OF RESPONSIBILITY: In some disciplines, teachers structure instructional strategies according to the principle of the gradual release of responsibility, in which responsibility is released from the teacher to the student. In these cases, teachers are intentional about how to scaffold student learning so that students can ultimately apply their thinking and newly adopted set of skills more independently over time.
- INQUIRY and PROJECT-BASED LEARNING develops the capacity to collaborate across networks and lead by influence. Students work in groups with and without identified leaders. In whole class projects, they work within and across small groups. Within those groups are other students whose backgrounds are substantially different from their own. This learning along lines of difference allows students to practice real life skills of collaboration, creativity, critical thinking, communication and community in a safe, supportive environment that prepares them for the world ahead.
- RICH REPERTOIRE OF INSTRUCTIONAL STRATEGIES that CWC Mar Vista teachers employ a variety of cultural relevant best practices and that require very different responses from students and allow multiple access points. These demands prod them to develop agility and adaptability.

KEY FEATURES OF THE EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM

The key features of the CWC Mar Vista educational program include:

- STANDARDS-BASED and KNOWLEDGE-BUILDING APPROACH TO LITERACY INSTRUCTION: A holistic approach to teaching the core skills of literacy with the strands of reading, writing, listening and speaking supported by the most current research. This includes systematic phonics and foundational literacy instruction in the earliest years to ensure our youngest students have a strong foundation of skills to build upon in future years. Throughout all grade levels, students are developing literacy skills within a knowledge-building context.
- PROBLEM-BASED APPROACH TO MATHEMATICS: A problem-based approach to teaching math that draws upon principles of Cognitively Guided Instruction or CGI. Curriculum tools are carefully designed to develop students' proficiency as mathematical doers and thinkers by engaging students in taking an active role in constructing their understanding.
- INQUIRY & PROJECT-BASED LEARNING: "Inquiry" as a curricular and pedagogical strategy that organizes students' mastery of state standards in the core academic disciplines around hands-on constructivist projects.
- SPECIALS & ELECTIVES: Students engage in different "specials" and electives that round out their learning in other academic spaces. This may include things like foreign language instruction, art, music, Physical Education ("PE") or the like.
- SOCIAL-EMOTIONAL LEARNING: This aspect of learning is of equal importance to that of academics at CWC. The learning appears in the form of dedicated time for SEL and in the forms of ongoing community building and conflict resolution that is in line with our restorative approach to discipline.
- DIVERSE-BY-DESIGN: This approach emphasizes that diversity is not just an incidental demographic goal, but a core principle and foundation for learning. By purposely reflecting the intentionally diverse population where our schools are located, CWC MV ensures that the educational environment is representative of the broader - society and that all students have equitable access and opportunity to succeed.

- DIVERSITY, EQUITY, INCLUSION & BELONGING: This foundational approach promotes that both students and educators drive and support an environment where diverse perspectives, racial and cultural differences, and experiences are assets integral to the educational process.

1.8: CURRICULUM AND INSTRUCTION

Our Instructional Framework consists of two core components: Curriculum Planning and Instructional Strategies. The first subsection below provides more description of CWC Mar Vista's approaches to curriculum planning including alignment with national and state standards, curriculum design, and selection of curriculum resources.

In designing our Instructional Framework, we have drawn on the experience and learning of CWC Mar Vista, as well as other schools in our CWC Los Angeles network. Our curricular choices and instructional methodologies are a mixture of instructional approaches that have existed for decades and methods that are founded on more current research. Our approach includes research-based, proven models of high-quality education for diverse populations. Schools such as the other CWC Los Angeles schools and Larchmont Charter School are all quite similar in our focus on constructivism and project-based learning. At the University of Houston's Charter School (employing a constructivist/ project-based learning approach), 89-95% of the 5th graders met or exceeded Texas standards. In addition to the high-performing public elementary schools, several acclaimed local private schools such as the UCLA Lab School and The Center for Early Education have employed these methodologies as longtime practices.

Our student population is highly diverse. Our students arrive at our school with a varied set of strengths and opportunities, in addition to experiences that reflect their racial, socio-economic and cultural identities. Our instructional approach emphasizes that it is our job to learn about our students via the assessments and assessment practices presented in Element 2 and Element 3, as well as through ongoing observations of student work and students at work. Our curriculum planning process, detailed below, considers what we know about past student performance in relationship to the standards that they are to master. Our flexible instructional strategies, also presented below, allow us to be responsive to student needs as revealed by assessment and observation.

All aspects of our curriculum are carefully designed and based on extensive research supporting our choices as "best practices." Further, we have collaborated extensively with similar schools that educate a mixed-socioeconomic status population with similar curricula to ours and have recognized tremendous success in their initial years of operation. Our collaborations¹⁷ have included Larchmont Charter School, The City School, Summit Prep (in the Bay area), and High Tech High (in the San Diego area). Our collaboration has included sharing resources, school visits, staff collaboration and other initiatives. Our primary focus is collaborating with the other schools in the CWC Los Angeles network. As such, CWC Mar Vista participates in the organized and regular collaboration sessions and Professional Development series with the other CWC Los Angeles schools.

¹⁷ While the private schools do not adhere to the same state standards as CWC, these schools nevertheless offer invaluable insights into how different children learn and succeed. Just as we intend to partner with leading education experts at the acclaimed universities within Los Angeles, so too do we intend to learn from those implementing "best practices" in the field in both public and private school settings.

Most importantly, the key to our instructional methodologies is a focus on differentiated instruction, driven by student need, as opposed to instruction being driven by school or teacher needs. We believe that all children can succeed and achieve state standards mastery, regardless of their background or circumstances when they enter our school. The challenge for us, as educators, is to discover the means with which to help each individual child achieve his or her full potential. By using these active learning strategies, and with a strong focus on data and ongoing multi-faceted assessments to inform instruction, we are confident that all of our sub-groups and individual students will succeed.

The following subsections present CWC Mar Vista's approach to curriculum and instruction. We begin with affirmations that our curriculum is aligned with national and state standards, followed by our processes for curriculum planning, a description of our curricular materials, and guidelines for selecting additional curricular materials in the future.

SCOPE AND SEQUENCE ALIGNED WITH NATIONAL AND STATE STANDARDS

CWC Mar Vista aligns all curriculum planning with the State Standards.

Additionally, for grades 6-8, CWC Mar Vista has elected to follow the preferred Integrated Science pathway recommended by the California State Board of Education. This integrated sequence allows students to develop a deep understanding of the connections between the various science disciplinary core ideas.

"BACKWARDS DESIGN" OF CURRICULUM

CWC Mar Vista teachers plan units of study collaboratively with an emphasis on mastering the CA State Standards using the 'backwards design' guidelines described in Understanding by Design (Wiggins & McTighe, 1998). This strategy advises teachers to "begin with the question: What would we accept as evidence that students have attained the desired understanding and proficiencies – before proceeding to plan teaching and learning experiences." There are three steps to this process:

1. IDENTIFY DESIRED RESULTS: Beginning with the CCSS, teachers will determine a tiered hierarchical set of learning expectations:
 - Enduring understandings: How will students internalize the standards such that they are linked to an authentically meaningful big picture understanding of the material?
 - Information and skills worthy of familiarity: What prior knowledge do my students need to make meaning of this new information? What foundational knowledge and skills do students need to master this material?

As teachers select and prioritize these learning expectations, they will be guided by thinking about the extent to which the idea, topic, or process (1) represents a "big idea" having enduring value beyond the classroom, (2) resides at the heart of the discipline, and (3) is tied directly to state standards and standardized testing.

2. ALIGNING ASSESSMENTS TO THE DESIRED RESULTS: Recognizing that teachers are shaping their standards-based instruction into larger projects and thematic units, it is essential that they assess mastery in an explicit way. Teachers assess throughout the unit of study using a variety of methods including both formative and summative assessments. Methods include quizzes or tests aligned with the style students encounter on standardized-assessments as well as more comprehensive or authentic checks for understanding such as informal checks, student observation, 1:1 conferencing, performance tasks, and projects. Teachers match an appropriate assessment method to each standard and establish and articulate clear criteria for reaching proficient performance.

3. DIFFERENTIATING INSTRUCTION TO MEET THE NEEDS OF ALL LEARNERS: Now that the learning expectations (knowledge and skills) have been identified, teachers work together to determine the most effective teaching methods and select the appropriate materials and resources to achieve their goals with all of their students. Teachers design innovative instructional strategies by differentiating the content, process, and products delivered to students in order to provide equal access for all learners (including English learners and students with special needs). Teachers write effective standards-aligned lesson plans and utilize a repertoire of research-based instructional strategies to increase student achievement.

As teachers implement their lesson plans, they continuously assess their own efficacy and impact with individual students in the classroom utilizing specific data and analysis of sub-groups. Our instructional program is driven by student data gathered by the teachers in order to make informed decisions about assessment, curriculum, pedagogy, and student services. Teachers continuously look at student work and questions in order to inform, structure, and refine their instructional practice. Based on concepts of “action research,” teachers are trained to take an analytical approach to teaching and learning. Teachers act as researchers in their classrooms to test hypotheses, gather data, and draw conclusions about their instructional practices. Teachers are then expected to base their pedagogical decision-making on collective research and to share best practices regularly both within their grades and across grades. In addition, teachers are able to draw upon the extensive planning and materials already developed by teachers from the other CWC Los Angeles schools. In effect, our teachers form a true community of learners as they take a more reflective and analytical approach to their instruction.

Student work and portfolios can play an important role in this process. Once data is gathered through formal assessments, teachers dig deeper into collections of students' work to inform their understanding of each child's strengths and challenges with the material. When learning is documented, children can also revisit and interpret their learning experiences and reflect on how to develop these experiences further. Teachers are able to interpret and reflect retrospectively on each student's individual progress and also use this documentation toward the creation of future contexts for learning. Teachers learn about their own roles in learning groups (e.g., when to intervene and when to stand back) and factors that contribute to making a learning group effective. Documentation of learning groups provides insight into what students are working on and how teachers might help them move forward in their work. Finally, reviewing documentation influences curriculum in terms of the amount of time a group spends on a topic and the level of student involvement in shaping an activity or unit.

These teaching methodologies place significant responsibility on our faculty, and CWC Mar Vista will utilize several strategies for addressing these demands. First, in hiring teachers, we recruit and assess for any teacher's capacity and interest in creating curriculum. (For some teachers, this is a much-desired prospect; for others, an additional burden. We must ensure that we hire teachers who are motivated by the opportunity and capable of fulfilling it.) Second, all teachers participate in guided professional development during the Summer Institute and frequent portions of the on-going professional development blocks.

Furthermore, we foster a strong sense of teacher creativity and collaboration, while creating a school-wide mindset for school improvement – a professional problem-solving ethos. Reflection and self-assessment among the faculty instills a commitment to continuous improvement. This process is empowering for those who participate, as teachers, for instance, no longer uncritically accept theories, innovations, and programs at face value. Above all, this emphasis on teachers' growth and development comes through an analysis and learning about student results promotes student achievement. CWC Mar Vista ensures that all members of our faculty receive appropriate training, support, time, and resources to develop their skills and engage fully in our processes.

Curriculum for Elementary School Grades

LITERACY: ENGLISH LANGUAGE ARTS and ELD (CORE)

As the CA ELA/ELD framework outlines, "All teachers with EL students in their classrooms will use the CA ELD standards to determine how to support their students in achieving the CCSS for ELA/Literacy and the content standards specific to each discipline." We employ an asset-based lens towards multilingualism that linguistically and culturally diverse students bring to school. We support students in maintaining their primary language, as it serves as both an asset and a connection to their homes and communities while continuing to develop their skills in English as an additional language. CWC Mar Vista uses a high-quality curriculum to provide standards-based instruction in all areas of literacy. The following curricular materials are used to teach reading and writing for all learners, including ELs:

- Foundational Literacy Skills Instruction:
 - All K-3 students receive daily, Tier 1, explicit, systematic instruction in foundational literacy skills, including:
 - Concepts of print / print awareness
 - Alphabetic principle
 - Phonemic awareness
 - Phonics / Letter recognition
 - Handwriting
 - Fluency
 - Vocabulary
 - Word Study (spelling, morphology, syllable types)
 - In addition to daily, whole-group Tier 1 lessons, K-3 students identified as at-risk also receive targeted, Tier 2 intervention in small groups anywhere from 3-5 days a week. The learning activities in these lessons are very closely aligned to what students are experiencing in Tier 1. The small group setting allows for teachers to provide more corrective feedback to students in-the-moment.
 - Students in 4th-8th grade who have gaps in their foundational literacy skills are provided Tier 2 and Tier 3 intervention instruction using curricular materials that employ a multisensory approach to teaching foundational literacy skills (e.g. Wilson Just Words (Tier 2) and Wilson Reading System (Tier 3)).
 - Additionally, CWC Mar Vista uses curricular materials that employ a multisensory approach to teaching foundational literacy skills (e.g. Wilson Language Foundations). This approach is evidence-based for all students, but especially for those with language-based learning disabilities.

- ELA Instruction (Reading and Writing):
 - Reading:

- CWC Mar Vista uses ELA curricular materials that prioritize access to grade-level texts and standards analysis for all students.
 - Through reading, writing, speaking, and listening, students are expected to engage in authentic, culturally rich and relevant texts.
 - Curricular materials provide guidance to teachers on carefully sequencing text-dependent questions so that all students can construct insightful analysis of text that aligns with grade-level standards.
 - Curricular materials provide guidance for teachers on different modes of reading instruction (e.g. whole group, small group, 1:1, shared reading, read aloud, etc.) so that they develop a rich repertoire of instructional strategies that they can employ based on their students' needs.
 - Vocabulary words that are critical to understanding the text are explicitly taught.
 - Literacy topics are taught within the context of rich knowledge-building units that build students understanding about relevant and engaging topics while also developing them as capable readers, writers, listeners and speakers.
- o Writing:
- CWC Mar Vista uses ELA curricular materials that allow students to produce clear and coherent writing in which the development, organization, and style are appropriate to task, purpose, and audience.
 - Curricular materials provide guidance for teachers on how to develop students' writing abilities across the three main genres of narrative, informational, and opinion/argument writing.

The overarching goal for TK-8 English Language Arts instruction is to ensure that students are able to develop and utilize improved communication skills, vocabularies, and writing abilities in an authentic manner. Using the ELA/ELD Framework as a guide, teachers organize instruction around the five key themes:

- Meaning Making
- Language Development
- Effective Expression
- Content Knowledge
- Foundational Skills

These cross-cutting themes signify the interrelated nature of the strands of both sets of standards and present them in an integrated context. Emphasis is placed on building and strengthening a balance of all of the English Language Arts skill sets, all aligned to the CCSS, in listening, speaking, reading, researching, and writing, and instruction. The ELA curriculum is designed to provide a broad range of instruction in reading, literature, writing, listening and speaking, and language conventions.

Additionally, ELA skills and content are addressed both in the regular classroom and in small reading groups in grades TK-5. Reading groups support the early development of phonemic awareness, phonics, and fluency. Classroom teachers integrate additional focus on vocabulary and comprehension with reading and writing instruction across the curriculum.

ENGLISH LANGUAGE DEVELOPMENT:

Given the variety of home languages spoken by students residing in Los Angeles and the instructional philosophy of the Charter School, CWC LA prepares teachers for a multi

- DESIGNATED - Develop students' English proficiency by targeting ELD standards
- INTEGRATED - Provide meaningful access to grade-level academic content instruction with embedded language supports.

INTEGRATED ELD

The ELA/ELD Framework “uses the term integrated ELD to refer to ELD throughout the day and across the disciplines. All teachers with ELs in their classrooms should use the CA ELD Standards in addition to their focal CA CCSS for ELA/Literacy and other content standards to support their ELs’ linguistic and academic progress. The ELA/ELD Framework specifies that in California schools, ELs should engage in activities in which they listen to, read, analyze, interpret, discuss, and create a variety of literary and informational text types. Through these experiences, they develop an understanding of how language is a complex and dynamic resource for making meaning, and they develop language awareness, including an appreciation for their primary language as a valuable resource in its own right and for learning English.” (Ch. 2, p. 81)

At CWC Mar Vista, ELs and LTELs are supported through strong Tier 1 instruction, utilizing a variety of instructional techniques to be used specifically with English Learners to achieve Integrated ELD. For Integrated ELD, we use a number of approaches and tools, including but not limited to: Specially Designed Academic Instruction in English (“SDAIE”), Project GLAD, Sheltered Instruction Observation Protocol (“SIOP”) and numerous language routines, all of which are described further below. These curricular resources and frameworks are also harnessed to various extents for designated ELD.

Generally speaking, like all students, EL students participate in a Multi-Tiered System of Supports model (previously referred to as “RtI”) if their assessment results indicate that they struggle with any subject area especially in English Language Arts and mathematics. The support provided to EL students in MTSS accommodates students’ language level. In some cases, ELs and LTELs are provided supplementary intervention time to support their language acquisition. For example, an EL student might be strategically rostered in a Tier 2 or Tier 3 intervention program to support them with their development of phonics within the Wilson Language System if they are not performing at the benchmark level within their Tier 1 phonics instruction.

DESIGNATED ELD

“Designated ELD is protected during the regular school day when teachers use the CA ELD Standards as the focal standards in ways that build into and from content instruction in order to develop critical English language skills, knowledge, and abilities needed for content learning in English... an opportunity during the regular school day to support ELs to develop the discourse practices, grammatical structures, and vocabulary necessary for successful participation in academic tasks across the content areas." (CA ELA/ELD Framework, Ch. 2, p. 91)

Classroom teachers are responsible for providing Designated ELD instruction throughout the week. CWC Mar Vista endeavors to align designated ELD instruction with the number of minutes of instruction recommended by the CDE (generally 30 minutes a day). For Designated ELD, EL students will work with an additional adult (e.g., intervention or EL) or will be placed in a Designated ELD group targeted to their level and/or grade span. Designated ELD instruction occurs for all ELs until they are identified as RFEP. These designated ELD lessons focus on increasing students' proficiency in English, as measured by the ELD Standards and ELPAC. This Designated ELD time is protected during the regular school day when teachers use the ELD Standards as the focal standards in ways that build into, and from, content instruction to develop the critical English language skills, knowledge, and abilities needed for content learning in English.

CWC Mar Vista meets all requirements of federal and state law relative to ELs, including LTELs) or ELs at risk of becoming LTELs, as it pertains to annual notification to parents (see Appendix E), student identification, placement, program options, EL and core content instruction, teacher qualifications and training, reclassification to fluent English proficient status, monitoring and evaluating program effectiveness, and standardized testing requirements.

The Designated ELD needs of students are currently addressed through the various frameworks and programs:

- All Grades (K - 8) -
 - Adaptive programs like Lexia English have begun to be integrated as a blended learning approach to supporting students with language needs. This is an adaptive program that is integrated with the CA ELD standards and can support students across all language levels. This is a tool used more heavily in elementary grades and used to support newcomers in the middle school years.
 - On top of the adaptive programs, CWC Mar Vista uses EL supports from our ELA curriculum and other teacher created materials to enhance ELD across all grades.
- Supplemental resource for Upper Elementary/Middle School (Grades 4th - 8th):
Implementation of Dr. Kate Kinsella's English 3D program.

MATHEMATICS (CORE):

The math model that is implemented allows for teachers to facilitate learning around the grade level mathematical content standards while putting the Standards for Mathematical Practice of the CCSS at the forefront of the work. We take a problem-based approach to teaching math that draws upon principles of CGI. Curriculum tools are carefully designed to develop students' proficiency as mathematical doers and thinkers by engaging students in taking an active role in constructing their understanding. Our students learn in community: they make sense of problems, persevere in solving, construct arguments, and discuss their ideas with their peers, building their sense of agency, ownership, and math identity. We use various tools to support math instruction. An example of such a tool is Illustrative Mathematics, a problem-based curriculum, which contains a number of features that distinguishes it from other math curriculum. These features include:

- A focus on three aspects of mathematical proficiency (conceptual understanding, procedural fluency, and application) as well as on students' attitudes towards mathematics.

- Activities structured using Five Practices for Orchestrating Productive Mathematical Discussions (Smith & Stein, 2011)
- High-leverage instructional routines, such as Number Talks and Notice and Wonders, that span multiple grade levels and develop students' conceptual understanding and mental math abilities.
- Features to support access for all students and especially students with disabilities, such as a consistent lesson structure, a pattern of independent think time before small group collaboration and whole group discussion, and tasks that allow students to engage with concepts in a progression from concrete to abstract
- Supplemental instructional supports aligned to the principles of Universal Design for Learning

The general progression of content skill development might look like:

- KINDERGARTEN: Students focus on two critical areas: representing and comparing whole numbers, and describing shapes and space. Students learn the number names and how to count in sequence, count objects, and compare numbers. They begin to understand that addition is putting together and adding to, where subtraction is taking apart and taking from.
- FIRST & SECOND GRADES: Students begin to represent and solve problems involving addition and subtraction within 20. Students work with addition and subtraction equations and extend their knowledge of the counting sequence. They develop their understanding of place value and the properties of operations to add and subtract. Students measure and estimate lengths in standard units and relate addition and subtraction to length.
- THIRD GRADE The focus shifts to multiplication and division. Students represent and solve problems involving multiplication and division within 100 and develop an understanding of the properties of multiplication and the relationship between multiplication and division. Students begin to solve problems involving the four operations, and identify and explain patterns in arithmetic. They develop an understanding of fractions as numbers, and solve problems involving measurement and estimation of intervals of time, liquid volumes, and masses of objects.
- FOURTH GRADE: Students continue using the four operations with whole numbers to solve problems. They generalize place value understanding for multi-digit whole numbers and use place value understanding and properties of operations to perform multi-digit arithmetic. They extend understanding of fraction equivalence and ordering then build fractions from unit fractions by applying and extending previous understandings of operations. They learn to use decimal notation for fractions, and compare decimals and fractions.
- FIFTH GRADE: Students develop an understanding of the place value system. They perform operations with multi-digit whole numbers and decimals to hundredths. They use equivalent fractions as a strategy to add and subtract fractions. They apply and extend previous understandings of multiplication and division to multiply and divide fractions. In Geometry, they learn to understand the concept of volume and relate volume to multiplication and addition. They also begin to graph points in the coordinate plane to solve real-world and mathematical problems.

SCIENCE (CORE):

Different curricula that are aligned to NGSS are used to enact, supplement and enhance standards-aligned teacher-created curriculum. With any curriculum that is embedded into science instruction, it must support our constructivist model and a belief that the best way for students to appreciate scientific enterprise, learn scientific concepts and develop the ability to think critically is to actively construct ideas through their own inquiry, investigation, and analysis. This mode of learning science creates students who are engaged with the scientific process of learning, which requires questioning, investigating, and analyzing.

Any strong science program is supported not only by taking students through hands-on constructivist experiences but also by engaging in science texts that build critical knowledge in this area. Texts can be embedded both before and after investigations and experiments. Science-based texts may include any of the following:

- Historical and biographical readings about scientists
- Fictional tales, myths, and stories about kids doing interesting things with science principles in an interesting context
- Expository reading to add detail and to extend the knowledge gained from direct experience
- Technical readings in which students follow instructions or technical explanations of scientific principle

The CWC Mar Vista science curriculum is, at its core, inquiry-based. Students engage in science via exposure to real world concepts and cross-curricular themes, and regularly apply critical thinking skills and test new ideas and hypotheses through labs and experimentation. Specific content includes physical science, life science, and earth systems science. Students learn to explore the world around them through an inquiry-based approach. Across all grade levels, students ask questions, make observations and discoveries, gather data, analyze explanations, and communicate results and scientific arguments. The program is fully aligned to the NGSS.

With our constructivist approach to curriculum development and instructional strategies, and through our unique constructivist framework, the science curriculum and scientific thinking are woven effectively throughout the curriculum and integrated meaningfully with ELA, mathematics, and social studies curriculum.

At the elementary level, students engage in scientific exploration and observation through hands-on, integrated projects. Teachers develop thematic projects to address all of the standards content. Emphasis is placed on developing scientific methodology at increasing developmental levels.

Methods of all science courses include the tools of science (e.g., technology, hands-on materials) and support development of the reading, writing, analysis, and communication skills students need to become science-literate. Students tackle problems and challenges in science in varied ways (e.g., investigations, models), using critical thinking and problem solving to reach decisions grounded in knowledge and logic.

SOCIAL STUDIES (CORE):

Teachers use the "backwards design" method, beginning with identifying the state standards to be addressed, and determining which elements of the standards-based textbook they use and which elements would be better taught by supplemental materials.

Curriculum planning maps will be revised on an on-going basis through teacher work groups and based on student assessment results.

The History/Social Studies curriculum at CWC Mar Vista is based on State Standards and aims to provide students with rigorous, inquiry-based, and experience-centered lessons and classes that allow students to acquire core knowledge in history and the social sciences. At all grade levels, students work to “think like historians and social scientists” so they recognize connections to the present and the past in order to reach a greater understanding of themselves and the world around them.

At the elementary level, social studies is integrated across the curriculum through an inquiry/project-based approach. Addressing all content standards, students study and explore themes and concepts of history, economics, and the broader social sciences by engaging in life-based activities, re-enactments, field trips, and research projects. Strong emphasis is placed on the integration of reading and writing skills across the curriculum through the use of first source materials, emphasis on comprehension skills for nonfiction, and research strategies.

Below is an example of inquiry unit throughlines that are aligned to CA History/Social Science Standards that demonstrate what the possible overarching themes for every grade level might be. The actual themes and throughlines for each grade level and unit are determined by teachers, driven by standards and curricular resources.

- KINDERGARTEN: Community and relationships
- GRADE ONE: Citizenship
- GRADE TWO: Culture
- GRADE THREE: Change and impact
- GRADE FOUR: Perspectives (focus on California history)
- GRADE FIVE: Design (focus on United States history and geography)

Additional Curriculum

VISUAL AND PERFORMING ARTS (non-core): Specials and electives that fall under the arts are an important component of the CWC mode. CWC Mar Vista hires individual and/or external organizations to provide visual and performing arts instruction to students throughout the week/trimester. These individuals/companies provide necessary equipment and materials as well (e.g., musical instruments). We facilitate visual arts instruction through available materials and supplies (paper, paints, pencils, scissors, etc.).

HEALTH AND PHYSICAL EDUCATION (non-core): The goal for the physical and health education curriculum is to promote healthy lifestyles among students and their families through the development of positive physical and mental habits. The physical education and health curriculum covers the following strands: movement skills and knowledge, self-image and personal development, and social development. In addition to the development and enhancement of physical skills, human development is a central part of the health curriculum.

The physical education program at CWC Mar Vista emphasizes individual motor skills, fitness and good sportsmanship. Students in grade five participate in the standardized Physical Fitness Testing, and the California Fitnessgram, which includes aerobic capacity, body composition, abdominal strength, trunk extension strength, and upper body strength and flexibility.

Age-appropriate health education lessons will be incorporated into the academic curriculum taught by the physical education teacher. As part of health education, students in grades K-5 will learn about maintaining proper health by developing responsible lifelong habits in and out of the classroom. The knowledge and skills important for students to know and do include: types of food and nutritional values, exploration of food labels, eating patterns among certain cultures, long-term consequences of dietary habits, variables that affect dietary requirements, such as age, amount of activity level, weight and other health conditions.

SOCIAL-EMOTIONAL LEARNING (non-core): CWC Mar Vista believes that SEL is integral to academic success. A number of tools have been blended together to create a SEL program that specifically develops skills in:

- Self-recognition and self-management of one's emotions
- An understanding of others including empathy and perspective-taking
- Decision making, problem solving and resolving conflict

Mindfulness is at the core of this program. Through designated SEL sessions and in an environment dedicated to social and emotional intelligence, children are learning how to be happier and healthier, working and learning effectively.

Social and Emotional Learning materials include the Cool Tools Tool Box and supplementary curriculum resources such as Second Step, Responsive Classroom, Mind Up and others.

TRANSITIONAL KINDERGARTEN: We believe that students who are enrolled in TK should have time and space to develop intellectual and social-emotional skills and abilities so that they have a solid foundation and are confident to begin Kindergarten the following year. When justified by enrollment, we have a separate TK classroom and curriculum so that we can meet the needs of each individual student and create a cohesive classroom community. During this TK year, students will be working towards the Kindergarten standards, using age and developmentally appropriate instructional strategies, and Kindergarten curriculum materials.

Curriculum for Secondary School

All courses in the CWC Mar Vista grade 6-8 program meet State Standards in every content area. Curriculum planning will ensure that units and lessons will be designed to ensure that state standards are taught to every student. The course sequence has also been designed to ensure that all appropriate state standards are taught in each grade level. The course sequence is:

	Courses
	6 th Grade	7 th Grade	8 th Grade
English Language Arts	6th Grade ELA	7th Grade ELA	8th Grade ELA
Mathematics	6th Grade Mathematics	7th Grade Mathematics	8th Grade Mathematics, with option to take Algebra (meets high school graduation requirements)

History/Social Studies	6th Grade Ancient History	7th Grade World History	8th Grade United States History
Science	6th Grade Integrated Science	7th Grade Integrated Science	8th Grade Integrated Science

In grades 6-8, all students take Spanish and Physical Education in addition to their core academic courses. Additionally, students have the ability to choose an elective course or “clubs” each year. Elective course offerings will vary year to year based on student interest and teacher availability, and options range from Drama, Foreign Language, Visual Art, Dance, and Chorus to Computer Science and Robotics.

Instructional Materials

Curriculum materials for each content area for 6th-8th grades are chosen based on the process described elsewhere in this charter (e.g., backwards design, alignment with Common Core State Standards, differentiating instruction, etc.).

In the descriptions below, we describe a set of subject-specific curricular programs that are aligned to the state standards and that provide the foundation for CWC Mar Vista’s educational program. As described above, CWC Mar Vista wishes to empower teachers to be the most effective educators possible, and, therefore, purchased curricular materials are used as a basis upon which teachers will build. During the blocks of time when subject-specific lessons occur, teachers draw upon the resources described below and other resources they deem appropriate for their students.

ENGLISH LANGUAGE ARTS (CORE):

As noted in the introduction of the CCSS for ELA/Literacy, the standards “insist that instruction in reading, writing, speaking and listening and language be a shared responsibility within the school.” Therefore, ELA is taught on its own and in all content areas: Science, Social Studies, and Math. We use a curriculum that is not only aligned to the Common Core State Standards for ELA but is aligned to our elementary ELA program as well. The curriculum engages students to comprehend literary works and informational materials of increasing length and complexity and emphasizes evidenced-based writing.

ELA in grades 6-8 builds off of the strong program in elementary grades by incorporating opportunities for building knowledge, developing vocabulary and comprehending of complex grade-level texts in both fiction and nonfiction. Specific attention is focused on teaching students to select and utilize specific evidence from text. Additionally, in the upper grades, ELA teachers devote considerable time to support students in developing argumentative and information pieces of writing that effectively link a student’s claim and supporting evidence with coherent reasoning.

MATHEMATICS (CORE):

CWC Mar Vista Mathematics classes for grades 6-8 follow the Common Core State Standards for Mathematics, which offer all students access to fundamental algebraic concepts by the end of 8th grade. In recognition of the significance of algebra mastery as a corollary to high school graduation, our teachers ensure that all students have achieved appropriate algebraic skills in algebra in eighth grade to be prepared for the subsequent high school mathematics standards.

In order to achieve the Common Core State Standards in Mathematics for grades 6-8, we utilize a nationally recognized, problem-based mathematics program that develops both conceptual and procedural mathematical understanding by engaging students in the Standards for Mathematical Practice. This curricula is carefully designed to build on prior knowledge, giving students' opportunities to make sense of problems and persevere in solving them.

The general progression of content skill development looks like:

- SIXTH GRADE: Students apply and extend previous understandings of multiplication and division to divide fractions by fractions, and of numbers to the system of rational numbers. They learn about ratio concepts and use ratio reasoning to solve problems. They apply and extend previous understandings of arithmetic to algebraic expressions, reason about and solve one-variable equations and inequalities and represent and analyze quantitative relationships between dependent and independent variables.
- SEVENTH GRADE: Students apply and extend previous understanding of operations with fractions to add, subtract, multiply, and divide rational numbers. They learn to analyze proportional relationships and use them to solve real-world and mathematical problems. They use properties of operations to generate equivalent expressions and solve real-life and mathematical problems using numerical and algebraic expressions and equations.
- EIGHTH GRADE: Students work with radical and integer exponents. They develop their understanding of the connections between proportional relationships, lines, and linear equations. Students analyze and solve linear equations and pairs of simultaneous linear equations. They define, evaluate, and compare functions and then use functions to model relationships between quantities.

SCIENCE (CORE):

CWC Mar Vista provides an Integrated Science Curriculum for grades 6-8, following the curricular recommendations of the State Board of Education. In the Integrated Pathway, Disciplinary Core Ideas are sequenced to build understanding across the traditionally segregated science disciplines of life science, earth and space science, and physical science, creating connections across topics through the Cross Cutting Concepts.

CWC Mar Vista follows the NGSS Integrated Science Course Pathway that was recommended as the preferred model by the California State Board of Education in 2013. For these courses, we have chosen to embed curricula like Amplify Science as well as a variety of supplemental resources into our science Inquiry units. These curricula engage students in investigating questions relevant to their lives by conducting investigations; collecting and analyzing data; developing and using models to explain phenomena; and engaging in argument from evidence, all in a literacy and discourse-rich environment.

A sample of essential questions used in a middle grades science course might include:

- What can cause Earth's climate to change?
- What affects the energy flow through an ecosystem, population, and organisms and how are these connected?

- How do living things change over time?
- How are forms of energy affected and changed?

The general progression of content skill development might include:

- GRADE 6: Cells, Organisms, and Body Systems, Weather and Climate, Global Climate Change
- GRADE 7: Ecosystems, Natural Resources, Structure and Properties of Matter
- GRADE 8: Natural Selection, History of Earth and Space, Waves and Electromagnetic Radiation, Energy, Forces and Interactions

SOCIAL STUDIES/HISTORY (CORE):

Teachers pull from a variety of standards-aligned curricula and a set of instructional strategies that actively involves the learner in developing historical thinking skills and perspective taking as well as practicing reflective and predictive skills in real life contexts. We aim to have social studies classrooms that are cooperative, culturally-responsive, and interactive where students get to interact and share their understanding of content with the use of multiple intelligences. Third, the aim is that social studies instruction enables deep mastery of historical knowledge, concepts, and processes.

Additional Curriculum

SPANISH/FOREIGN LANGUAGE (NON-CORE, Grades 3-8): Students at CWC Mar Vista take Spanish starting in 3rd grade as a way to develop their listening, reading, speaking, and writing skills in a foreign language. Students acquire vocabulary and grammar to be able to express themselves in complete sentences and short paragraphs using the present and preterit tenses, and be able to use formations that allow them to discuss future action. Students also develop fluency skills with accurate pronunciation and intonation, while fostering an appreciation of Spanish-speaking cultures. The Spanish teacher utilizes a variety of instructional resources for Spanish instruction including Duolingo, Blooket, and Jeopardy Labs.

VISUAL AND PERFORMING ARTS (NON-CORE): Similar to the elementary school grades, in grades 6-8, CWC Mar Vista hires individuals/companies for our arts instruction. These individuals/companies provide necessary equipment and materials as well. The curriculum provided in the visual and performing arts meets the broad course of study requirements.

HEALTH AND PHYSICAL EDUCATION (NON-CORE, Grades TK-8): The goal for the physical and health education curriculum is to promote healthy lifestyles among students and their families through the development of positive physical and mental habits. The physical education and health curriculum covers the following strands: movement skills and knowledge, self-image and personal development, and social development. In addition to the development and enhancement of physical skills, human development is a central part of the health curriculum.

The physical education program emphasizes individual motor skills, fitness and good sportsmanship. Students in grade seven participate in the standardized physical performance test, the California Fitnessgram, which includes aerobic capacity, body composition, abdominal strength, trunk extension strength, and upper body strength and flexibility.

Age-appropriate health education lessons are incorporated into the academic curriculum through the advisory program. Through Health and Advisory classes, students are also exposed to drug and alcohol awareness education to reinforce good decision-making and positive self-esteem.

SELECTION OF ADDITIONAL CURRICULAR MATERIALS

The curricular purchases are implemented by the administration and purchased well enough in advance to ensure timely implementation and training. When appropriate, teachers are able to provide input and research on any curriculum review and adoption processes that take place. Most importantly, all curricular materials must have a proven record with our targeted student population and must have been developed through sound, research-based methods that utilize the latest information on teaching, learning and brain functions.

We also draw on our experiences in prior years and at other CWC Los Angeles schools. CWC Mar Vista assesses students' progress in each of the curricular areas (as detailed in Elements 2 and 3 below). The analysis of student performance data, supplemented by observation of instruction and teachers' reflections, indicates if there are ways in which the curricular materials need to be revised or supplemented. Furthermore, as we select additional curricular resources, we will turn to our network of successful schools to ask about the materials that they have used, their success with those materials, and the areas in need of being supplemented.

Curricular materials are also analyzed from the perspective of the whole educational program and in relation to lessons and assessments that would follow from curricular programs.

Decisions are made in light of the following questions:

1. Does its design and content clearly connect to or support a standards based curriculum?
2. Is interactive learning promoted and is the child's construction of knowledge encouraged?
3. Does it help achieve social, emotional, physical, and cognitive goals?
4. Does it encourage development of positive feelings and dispositions toward learning while leading to acquisition of knowledge and skills?
5. Is it meaningful for these children? Is it relevant to the children's lives? Can it be made more relevant by relating it to a personal experience children have had or can they easily gain direct experience with it?
6. Are the expectations realistic and attainable at this time, or could the children more easily and efficiently acquire the knowledge or skills later on?
7. Is it of interest to children and to the teacher?
8. Is it sensitive to and respectful of cultural and linguistic diversity? Does it expect, allow, and appreciate individual differences? Does it promote positive relationships with families?
9. Does it build on and elaborate children's current knowledge and abilities?
10. Does it lead to conceptual understanding by helping children construct their own understanding in meaningful contexts?
11. Does it facilitate integration of content across traditional subject matter areas?
12. Is the information presented accurate and credible according to the recognized standards of the relevant discipline?
13. Is this content worth knowing? Can it be learned by these children efficiently and effectively now?
14. Does it foster children's exploration and inquiry, rather than focusing on "right" answers or "right" ways to complete a task?
15. Does it promote the development of higher-order abilities such as thinking, reasoning, problem solving, and decision-making?

16. Does it respect children's physiological needs for activity, sensory stimulation, fresh air, rest, and nourishment/elimination?¹⁵

Curriculum, materials, and instructional activities are selected by teachers, the Principal, and relevant outside consultants (e.g., special education consultants) based on their relevance and appropriateness, alignment with standards, our definition of an educated person in the 21st century, and goals of the Charter School as a whole. Choices must be compatible with the Charter School's emphasis on active learning strategies, investigation, and assessments. Supplementary and enrichment resources can be chosen at the discretion of the teacher, and must be used in a way that is compatible with the Charter School's educational philosophy.

All instructional activities are developed in alignment with the stated goals and measurable student outcomes of CWC Mar Vista.

Intervention and Enrichment Programs

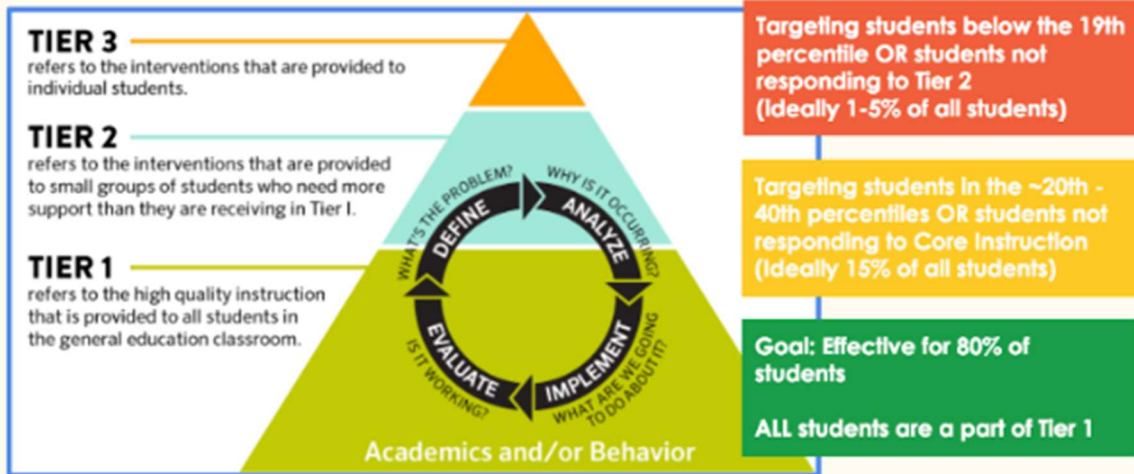

When selecting curricular materials for interventions, we ensure they align with the philosophies and practices of our core Tier 1 programs. At CWC Mar Vista, we've identified intervention programs in both foundational literacy and mathematics that complement our main instructional resources: Illustrative Mathematics and Foundations. For phonics intervention, students who need additional support use materials from Wilson Reading, the same publisher as Foundations. Wilson Reading provides a comprehensive intervention curriculum, including planning resources and progress monitoring tools, to help teachers focus on the most critical areas for reteaching. In mathematics, although Illustrative Mathematics doesn't offer a separate intervention curriculum, we've carefully chosen supplementary materials for Math Lab that align with its problem-based approach, reinforcing students' conceptual understanding of math concepts and procedures.

These targeted interventions are integral components of our overall approach to supporting student success. To ensure that every student receives the appropriate level of support, all CWC LA schools utilize a MTSS model, which provides a structured framework for delivering and monitoring interventions across various tiers. This serves as a foundational framework to ensure that every student receives the appropriate level of academic and behavioral support needed for success. MTSS is a comprehensive, data-driven approach that integrates various levels of intervention to address the diverse needs of our student population. By systematically providing increasing levels of support based on individual student needs, MTSS enables us to offer targeted assistance, from universal strategies that benefit all students to more intensive interventions for those requiring additional help. This model not only promotes early identification and intervention for academic and behavioral challenges but also fosters a collaborative environment where educators, parents, and support staff work together to create personalized learning experiences. Through MTSS, our school aims to enhance student outcomes, close achievement gaps, and build a supportive, responsive educational community.

Our process is outlined within this graphic, and further detailed below.

Goals for Each Tier of Instruction

General Intervention Program Guidelines:

- Our work needs to be focused on the overarching goal that Tier 1 instruction should be effective for 80% of students. The efficacy of Tier 1 needs to still be our primary goal.
- Tier 2 should not be seen as a cure-all for ineffective Tier 1 and Tier 3 should not be seen as a cure-all for ineffective Tier 2.
- For after school intervention, our initial focus at the elementary level will be on prioritizing students in grades 2nd - 5th. If capacity and staffing allows, we will add additional groups that include more primary age students (K/1).
- Given capacity, resources and staffing, our initial efforts to develop effective systems of intervention exist more at the Tier 2 intervention level (on top of IEP related services). In the future, we hope to add more programs and resources for more robust Tier 3 opportunities.

Intervention Rostering Guidance:

- To the extent capacity allows, students will be matched to a level of intervention that correlates to each student's risk classification.
 - e.g. students consistently performing in the 0 - 19th percentile bands should be matched to Tier 3 services when possible while students performing in the 20 - 40th percentiles should be matched with Tier 2 services
- To more strategically roster students for the appropriate intervention rostering, we aim to compare different data points before recommending any student for a specific intervention
- When comparing different data points (such as a students' achievement and growth in measures like NWEA MAP, DIBELS, Universal Screener for Number Sense and other curriculum-based assessments at the start of any school year, we will start with Spring data from the previous school year (which does not account for any potential summer slide a student may experience). Beyond Spring data, we will engage in a step-by-step process to determine if other more recent data points (other Beginning of Year assessments) "tell the same story" or offer a different view of a child's understanding.
 - If a child's data does tell a consistent story, their risk levels can be seen as consistent and they can be recommended for either Tier 2 or 3 services

- If a child's data does not tell a consistent story, we will confer as a team and, when possible, with a teacher to gain further insight. We might deprioritize this student for the moment.
- We will ensure that students prioritized for any school day or after school intervention come from historically underperforming subgroups (FRPM status, EL status, SWDs, students from Latinx backgrounds, etc.).
- Students prioritized and recommended by school and regional CWC LA instructional leadership for any additional after school intervention must fall into at least one of the higher-eligibility categories (e.g. FRPM/EL status, SWDs, & Homeless/Foster Youth). Spots for other students will only become available when students from these subgroups have been considered and offered spots when appropriate.
- In particular, ELs who are not able to engage in school day interventions (based on the structure of that school's intervention model) may be prioritized for after school intervention.
- Students receiving school day intervention, will likely not be prioritized for after school intervention of the same kind (if a student received phonics in the day they will not likely be prioritized for phonics in the after school setting).
- When possible, the school Mar Vista leadership team and regional CWCLA leadership team will confer with teachers before solidifying intervention rosters to solicit teacher input.

Yearlong Progress Monitoring and Re-Rostering Guidance:

- A key component of any Response to Intervention framework is routine data review processes that allow educators to monitor the effectiveness of instruction at all levels before determining if a student is newly eligible for Tier 2 or Tier 3 services OR before a student is recommended for being exited from intervention.
- Students who do not make progress within Tier 2 intervention might be recommended for additional, more intensive intervention during the school day if capacity allows (within a smaller group or meeting with greater frequency) OR might be recommended for an after school intervention group.
- Additionally, students who receive Tier 2 intervention who do not make progress may be ultimately recommended for a more formal Student Success Team ("SST") process and, potentially, a special ed. evaluation.
- Any student who has been invited to after school intervention who has poor attendance in that program may risk losing their spot at the end of or within any given intervention cycle.

Enrichment Offerings

While targeted interventions play a crucial role in supporting students who face academic challenges, it is equally important to provide opportunities that enrich their learning experiences. By offering a diverse range of enrichment programs, we can nurture students' strengths, ignite their passions, and foster a well-rounded educational journey. These enrichment activities not only complement the academic rigor but also empower students to explore new interests and develop critical life skills.

Some examples include:

- Elementary School Day Specials & Clubs
 - Spanish, music, art, physical education
- Middle School Electives
 - Spanish, art, drama, physical education

- After School Enrichment Program
 - Yoga, cooking, Lego engineering, flag football, volleyball, soccer, track and field
- Student Leadership Opportunities
 - Active Citizens program (elementary), student council (middle), Diversity, Equity, Inclusion, and Belonging ("DEIB") council, Weekly Wolf student newspaper
- Extension and Challenge Activities
 - Algebra 1 class, Math Circle extension class
- Field Trips
 - Astro Camp (5th grade), Catalina Island (8th grade), Medieval Times (7th grade), College field trips (all middle school grades)

Independent Study

Independent study is a voluntary optional alternative in which no pupil may be required to participate; a classroom option will always be available to the child. "Independent study" includes all nonclassroom-based instruction, including video conferencing, and online education. Independent study may be utilized for students to ensure that students continue their academic progress while absent under limited circumstances. The Charter School shall provide content aligned to grade level standards that is substantially equivalent to in-person instruction.

Independent study is available for students who miss more than one (1) school day due to health-related concerns, parent travel due to work, or other unforeseen circumstances (e.g., family health emergency, etc.) and must be approved by the Principal or designee. For students who participate in sixteen (16) or more days of independent study during one school year, a plan will be developed in accordance with Education Code Section 51747(e) for synchronous instruction and live interaction, as well as the other legal requirements.

CURRICULUM RESOURCES AND MATERIALS

CWC Mar Vista currently uses the following materials aligned with the State Standards, including CCSS, to deliver the curriculum. In years ahead, resource selection may change upon a thorough review of curriculum options. All curricular and instructional materials will be aligned to state content and performance standards, including CCSS.

TK-8 Curricular and Instructional Materials
Subjects	Core Curriculum & Texts	Relationship to State Standards / Common Core / NGSS

Physical Education, Health	Playworks Game Guide (TK-8); teacher-developed curricular materials	Aligned to state content and performance standards

For subject areas like social-studies and science, purchased curricular materials are a basis upon which teachers build. During the blocks of time when subject-specific lessons occur, teachers draw upon the resources described below and other resources they deem appropriate for their students. In this way, teachers can utilize the "Backward Design" (Wiggins, McTighe, 2005) methodology of devising lesson plans, learning outcomes and assessments in broad strokes in advance. However, for instruction to be truly effective, lesson plans need to be constantly revised to accommodate new assessment information (Data Informed Instruction), and lessons need to be customized to suit the learning needs of individual students (Differentiated Instruction). In order to implement both Data Informed and Differentiated Instruction, teachers receive Professional Development experiences and administrative guidance in designing purposeful assessments, making objective observations, and adjusting instruction and curriculum to best serve student needs.

We chose the curricular programs, with the following curricular progression and skills that are aligned to CCSS and State Standards, to form the core basis of our instruction.

INSTRUCTIONAL METHODS AND STRATEGIES

The following subsections present CWC Mar Vista's approach to instructional strategies. We begin by emphasizing our belief that teachers should have a repertoire of strategies at their disposal and offer numerous examples. Then we present two of those instructional techniques in more detail: literacy instruction and inquiry/project-based learning.

RICH REPERTOIRE OF INSTRUCTIONAL TECHNIQUES: Constructivism is a theory about learning, not a description of teaching. No 'cookbook teaching style' or set of instructional techniques can be abstracted from the theory and proposed as a constructivist approach to teaching. Instead, teachers use instructional techniques flexibly to promote the construction of students' understanding.

The skilled teachers at CWC Mar Vista utilize a rich repertoire of instructional strategies. In consideration of what s/he plans to teach and what students already know and previous instruction, s/he selects the appropriate instructional technique. In addition to the project-based learning and balanced literacy methods presented below, methodologies draw from:

DYNAMIC AND VARIED GROUPING: The practice of "pigeon-holing" students in stagnant groups for an entire school year or semester is often a detriment for the student. Research supports practices where instructional groupings are varied from homogeneous to heterogeneous and change often, as the students' capacities develop. Parents of young children recognize that their children can make great leaps in development seemingly "overnight" – our groupings of students will be fluid in recognition of this reality.

TARGETED RE-TEACHING: When formal or informal assessments reveal that one or more student(s) are struggling with a particular skill or concept, those students will receive targeted instruction that re-teaches that skill or concept. This instruction may be a single, brief lesson to correct a misconception or multiple sessions to address a more complex concern. Our staffing structure allows for a variety of small group instructional methods by offering small group instructional support by the teacher while the assistant (where applicable) monitors independent work, partner games and activities, and technology-guided instruction throughout the classroom.

SMALL GROUP INTERVENTION: CWC Mar Vista is intentionally designed to include small-group instruction on a regular basis. Teachers and teaching assistants (where applicable) lead small group intervention lessons for students with specific needs.

PEER CONFERENCING AND CROSS-AGE TUTORING: Tutoring and conferencing with fellow students in one's own classroom and at other grade levels is an effective strategy for enhanced learning in literacy, as well as in academic areas. While a variety of both cross-age and peer tutoring models may be used successfully to benefit both the student tutor and the student being tutored, student-to-student tutoring is not the primary means for supporting students who are struggling academically. That remains the responsibility of the classroom teacher (supported by the Student Support Associates, where applicable). The teacher will monitor students' progress according to the assessments and assessment procedures outlined in Element 2 and Element 3.

METACOGNITION: Teachers who share their thoughts on how they approach and complete a task or arrive at a conclusion, help students become aware of their own thinking; this is called metacognition. Successful students are able to understand and are aware of the most effective strategies they need in order to study and learn. Teachers help less successful students by modeling effective learning strategies for them, showing them how and when to use these strategies and teaching them why they are important for their success.

ACADEMIC DISCOURSE: Academic discourse with elementary and middle school students involves structured communication that helps them understand and engage with academic content. It includes the use of specific vocabulary, asking questions, and discussing ideas to develop critical thinking and comprehension skills. This discourse encourages students to articulate their thoughts clearly and to collaborate with peers in a meaningful way. Through this interaction, students learn to navigate and contribute to classroom discussions effectively.

DIRECT INSTRUCTION: As an instructional strategy, direct instruction responds to the student's needs by focusing directly on the skills required to be successful in school and ensuring that these skills are learned (Better Thinking and Learning, Maryland State Department of Education). Students can learn high-level concepts if they know how to learn, how to question, how to access prior knowledge, and how to integrate new knowledge. The elements of Direct Instruction include:

- Clearly communicating goals for students
- Structuring academic tasks for students
- Demonstrating the steps necessary to accomplish a particular academic task
- Monitoring student progress
- Providing student practice and teacher feedback to ensure success
- Holding students accountable for their work through frequent teacher review

TEACHER LECTURE: A familiar, and effective method for teaching when used judiciously and appropriately is teacher lecture. Synthesized research on learning processes presented in How People Learn (1999) confirms that “experts’ abilities to think and solve problems depend strongly on a rich body of knowledge about subject matter.” (p. 9) Facts acquired through lecture, text or empirical research are an essential component of constructing knowledge.

Teachers selected to join the faculty already have demonstrated skill in a variety of instructional strategies. CWC Mar Vista supports the ongoing development of their pedagogical skill through extensive professional development and coaching.

CWC Mar Vista's academic model demands high-quality teaching and expert teachers. As such, professional development and a selective hiring process are core components of the Charter School's design. By providing high-quality professional development, as well as time for teachers to meet, discuss, and learn what works best with their students, CWC Mar Vista enables teachers to use the most effective strategies for helping all of their students become active, motivated learners who master the knowledge necessary for life-long learning and success.

Literacy Instruction

CWC Mar Vista's vision for effective ELA instruction includes the following instructional essentials:

- Explicit instruction in foundational literacy skills
 - Foundational skills are explicitly and systematically taught using the multisensory approach.

- Data-informed, small group intervention instruction builds foundational skills to ensure all students become fluent readers and writers.
- Ensuring comprehension and command of reading and writing across genres
 - By activating background knowledge and asking carefully sequenced questions, teachers help all students to cultivate depth of knowledge and understanding of content across genres.
 - Students produce clear and coherent writing in which the development, organization, and style are appropriate to task, purpose, and audience
- Centering authentic, diverse, appropriately complex texts
 - All of our students, regardless of their reading level, build their knowledge of the world, gain confidence with challenging texts, and develop the critical thinking skills necessary for choice-filled lives.
 - Lessons are spent on tasks that require productive struggle in which students read, write, and speak about texts that provide windows and mirrors¹⁸ to the human experience and help them coherently build knowledge of the world.
- Prioritizing student voices through academic discourse
 - Teachers guide students to engage with texts in ways that both honor the author's purposes and student's backgrounds, experiences, and interests.
 - In whole and small group settings, teachers engage students in rich, structured discussions by carefully planning well-sequenced questions that allow all students to arrive at insightful analysis.

Students do the thinking. They are provided with opportunities to explore, talk, ask questions, listen to multiple perspectives, and be creative. They root their thinking and discussion in evidence from the text, and they deepen their discussion by incorporating academic vocabulary.

The following literacy instructional techniques include methods for teaching reading and writing:

READING

INTERACTIVE READ ALOUD: The teacher reads the text aloud and takes the opportunity to develop students' listening comprehension with texts that are more complex than they can read independently.

LITERATURE DISCUSSION: These discussions are structured ways for students to engage in academic discourse. They are guided by the text-dependent questions that teachers plan in a careful sequence to help students make meaning from the text.

SHARED READING: Students read aloud from a common enlarged text. In primary, this might be a big book or a chart. In the upper grades, the teacher might project an article to highlight key text features.

SMALL GROUP READING: The teacher brings together a small group of students who have similar needs in order to provide more targeted instruction.

WRITING

MODELED WRITING: The teacher demonstrates the process of writing in a particular genre, ¹⁸ National Association for the Education of Young Children and the National Association of Early Childhood Specialists in State Departments of Education.

while thinking aloud to reveal their mental processes while writing.

SHARED WRITING: The teacher and students compose a text together. The teacher is the scribe. The text becomes a model, example or reference for student writing and discussion.

INTERACTIVE WRITING: This method is very similar to shared writing, with the addition of asking students to write some portion of the text. This technique is only used with beginning writers and focuses on the features of letters and words.

INDEPENDENT WRITING: Students apply the writing skills they've learned to their individual writing projects while the teachers monitor student work and/or conducts small group instruction.

Taken together, the aforementioned instructional techniques are structured according to the principle of the gradual release of responsibility, in which responsibility is released from the teacher to the student.

MATHEMATICS

CWC Mar Vista follows the "Problem Based Lesson Structure", a process that follows this structure:

- Warm-up: The first event in every lesson is a ~5–10 minute warm-up.
 - Purposes
 - Invite students to get ready for the day's lesson
 - Give students an opportunity to strengthen their number sense or procedural fluency.
 - Strengthen students' skills in listening and speaking about mathematics.
- Activity: One to three classroom activities per lesson. The heart of the mathematical experience and the bulk of the time spent in class.
 - Purposes:
 - Give students experience with a new context.
 - Introduce a new concept and associated language.
 - Introduce a new representation.
 - Formalize a definition of a term for an idea they have encountered informally.
 - Identify and resolve common mistakes and misconceptions that people make.
 - Practice using mathematical language.
 - Work toward mastery of a concept or procedure.
 - Provide an opportunity to apply mathematics to a modeling or other application problem.
 - Some activities have associated optional extension problems, made available to all students.
- Activity Synthesis: The last portion of each lesson activity where students synthesize what they have learned in that particular activity.
 - Each activity includes flexible options for teachers to support students in solidifying topics from the activity, often including questions to ask students.
- Lesson Synthesis: After the lesson activities, the teacher summarizes the day's activities for ~5–10 minutes.
 - Teachers ask students questions about the day's activities that enable students to synthesize what they have learned.

- Each lesson includes synthesis questions that a teacher might pose.
- Teachers can use this time in any number of ways, including providing an opportunity for students to think about their learning using the learning targets.
- Cool-down: The last piece of every lesson is a ~5 minute cool-down.
 - Students are given a brief formative assessment.
 - Students work independently and turn in their work to the teachers.
 - Responses can be used to guide further instruction.
 - One cool-down is provided for every lesson, except the culminating lesson in the unit and the lessons in the culminating units (6–8) or modeling prompts (9–12).

Problem-Based Lesson Structure

All Subjects Inquiry/Project Based-Learning

Learning is a process of making connections, of understanding how things are related. As reflective learners, children connect what they've learned to their own lives. Rather than studying math and then separately studying science and then separately studying ELA standards, project-based learning integrates the skills and knowledge attainment through meaningful, "real" scenarios. Thoughtful questions and activities help children synthesize their new knowledge and apply it to new situations. Real learning is generative. One question often leads to another. As students progress through our transitional kindergarten through 8th grade program, they will internalize this process and work more efficiently, as well as deepen their learning through the implementation of their projects.

CWC Mar Vista defines Inquiry/project-based learning as a curricular and pedagogical strategy that organizes students' mastery of state standards in the academic disciplines around projects. It is important to understand that project-based learning does not replace content area time but rather is part and parcel of that same objective to achieve state standards mastery across all core disciplines. The projects are another means to the desired ends. Thus, project-based learning aligns well with a standards-based curriculum, as educators in several research studies have demonstrated (Dresden & Lee, 2007; Helm & Gronlund, 2000; Schuler, 2000). In this framework, students fulfill explicit educational goals as they are actively involved in planning, problem-solving, decision-making, and investigation; they work relatively autonomously, as well as cooperatively, over extended periods of time; they reflect on their work, receive feedback, and incorporate the feedback; they are guided by teachers' facilitation, not direction, to develop skills; and their final product represents the skills and knowledge they gained (Jones, Rasmussen, & Moffitt, 1997; Thomas, Mergendoller, & Michaelson, 1999; Moursund, 1999; Diehl, Grobe, Lopez, & Cabral, 1999).

For EL and socioeconomically disadvantaged students, project-based learning takes on additional importance. The collaborative activities inherent to project-based learning provide ELs with systematic opportunities to improve their English language proficiency in the context of authentic peer communication. Group interactions with the focus on the task rather than the language provides a nonthreatening opportunity for the second language learner to listen to other children's discourse and, once confident, to contribute to the conversation (Amaral et al., 2002; Echevarria et al., 2004). Research also indicates that the use of projects for the education of children living in poverty (1) increases their motivation for learning academic skills and the opportunity to meaningfully practice these skills, (2) helps children see themselves "as learners and problem solvers" and develops their self-esteem, (3) strengthens positive relationships between teachers and families, and (4) helps families become aware of resources available in their communities (Helm and Lang, 2003).

Furthermore, in diverse schools such as CWC Mar Vista, inquiry/project-based learning takes on added dimension in developing skills for problem-solving across lines of difference. In painting a portrait of "Students Who are College and Career Ready in Reading, Writing, Speaking, Listening, and Language," the Common Core State Standards for English Language Arts & Literacy in History/Social Studies, Science, and Technical Subjects include the need to "come to understand other perspectives and cultures." The standards guide further explains that students who are college and career ready "actively seek to understand other perspectives and cultures through reading and listening, and they are able to communicate effectively with people of varied backgrounds."

In schools with homogenous student populations, students are not exposed to learning opportunities that promote cross-cultural understanding. Evidence indicates that indirect programs that merely transmit information about other groups but aren't able to utilize intergroup contact have little impact on actually changing the behavior of students. Skills needed to relate to students of other racial and ethnic groups require practice.

Supreme Court decision: In Grutter v. Bollinger, the Court's opinion drew on briefs filed by the military and leading U.S. businesses to assert the need for a diverse education that supports the development of cross-cultural experiences and understandings that are required for success in the global marketplace and the increasingly diverse and multiracial U.S. society. ¹⁹

Most recently, in Fisher II, Fortune 100 companies filed a brief again emphasizing the importance of a diverse education for preparing individuals to succeed in the diverse and

Racially diverse schools promote social cohesion and reduce prejudice by fostering cross-racial understanding in ways that are not possible in homogenous school environments.

Instructional Design of Projects

CWC Mar Vista faculty develop projects that cover social studies and science standards, incorporate ELA and mathematics standards, arts standards, and more, integrating learning outcomes derived from the multiple intelligences. All project based learning curriculum modules integrate content standards and learning outcomes across content areas, focused on real problems, compelling themes and topics, and are linked to standards in social studies, history, literacy, visual, performing and media arts, mathematics and science. The materials offer a means of pursuing big ideas, ideas that students value. Students use new knowledge and skills to solve problems, explore, and gain and show understanding. Literacy and informational texts, the arts, writing, science, and mathematics all become powerful learning tools. Students build the repertoire of knowledge and skills they need to become life-long learners. These include the confident use of informational sources, reading and writing strategies, speaking and listening skills and strategies, arts skills and strategies, problem solving and thinking strategies, quantifying strategies, and collaboration skills and strategies as they develop each of their intelligences across a spectrum of domains.

The broad topics for these projects are teacher-created to support standards-based instruction and the specifics of each project will integrate students' own interests. The degree of their autonomy is dependent on the grade (and maturity) of the students. Over time, students learn to take more responsibility for their own learning processes and demonstrations of learning.

Teachers design projects that allow for greater opportunities for student responsibility, decision-making, and connection-building. Teachers' projects connect to the standards, consider cognitive and social development, build on prior years and feed into subsequent years for vertical articulation. Each project integrates State Standards across content areas. Teachers document the children's learning through note taking, pictures, tape recordings, and video.

When students work on projects, they use the resources detailed in this charter across the different core content areas and supplemental resources, as students produce their own questions and enhance their own learning via computer-based research, library research, and other resources. A project's central activities must involve the transformation and construction of knowledge (by definition: new understandings, new skills) aligned to CCSS on the part of students (Bereiter & Scardamalia, 1999). If the central activities of the project represent no new challenges to the student or can be carried out with the application of already-learned information or skills, the project is an exercise, not a project-based learning experience.

CWC Mar Vista's teachers use preexisting curricular materials and also develop their own projects and lessons that are aligned to state standards. Their process follows three basic steps:

1. PLANNING THE PROJECT: Teacher identifies specific state content standards the project is intended to address across disciplines and engages in "backwards design" to prompt students to engage in learning that will lead to the desired standards mastery.

2. BEGINNING THE PROJECT: Teacher elicits questions and problems from students and rephrases, as needed, to pose developmentally-appropriate, challenging questions or problems that become the “driving” question for the project (Krajcik, Blumenfeld, Marx, & Soloway, 1994; Marx, Blumenfeld, Krajcik, Blunk, Crawford, Kelly, & Meyer, 1994).
3. WEEKLY PROJECT TIME: In line with the “master-apprentice relationship,” CWC Mar Vista’s teachers will then “scaffold” instruction: breaking down tasks, using modeling, prompting, and coaching, to teach strategies for thinking and problem solving to help students become proficient at conducting the relevant inquiry activities (Blumenfeld et al., 1991), leading ultimately to mastery of the CCSS.

Projects are developed and implemented in alignment with the following research-based elements:

- Standards-based curriculum, instruction, and assessment planning linked to big ideas. (Mitchell, Wiggins)
- Intelligence as the development of wide range of aptitudes rather than a single, fixed aptitude (Gardner, Resnick, Sternberg)
- Student-centered, inquiry-based instruction. (Danielson, Hayes Jacobs, Wiggins)
- Focus on Literacy: thinking, viewing, listening, speaking, reading, and writing all day long. (Allen, Harvey, Taylor)
- Focus on numeracy: time management, assessing data, economics and money management, space planning and design.
- Literary, visual, performing, and media arts inside the natural cycle of learning. When children express themselves through the arts, they are involved deeply in thinking processes and discovery.
- Family and community cultures embedded in classroom and school life with families as partners in the educational process and extensive community involvement. (Epstein)

Teaching for Understanding

In creating its instructional project-based learning units, CWC Mar Vista draws inspiration from the other CWC LA schools, as well as the planning resources and 21st century skills created by the Buck Institute of Education. CWC Mar Vista also relies on Teaching for Understanding, an educational pedagogy that uses the following four questions as a foundation for its framework:

- What topics are worth understanding?
- What about these topics needs to be understood?
- How can we foster understanding?
- How can we tell what students understand?

These same guidelines can be applied to teaching at all grade levels, even through higher education.

Curriculum development has taught our team about the importance of considering curriculum development in hiring decisions. We recognize the importance of hiring teachers who have an interest and passion in curriculum development and design. CWC Mar Vista recruits and hires teachers whose skill sets and passions align with the needs and design of our school. We know that some teachers find the work of developing curriculum intellectually exciting and professionally satisfying. These teachers are often stifled in schools that demand less personal responsibility and allow less professional judgment in curriculum decisions. We demand more of both and will seek to hire teachers accordingly.

The process for developing project-based learning units is as follows:

- The Principal reviews the appropriate standards (including CCSS) and works to determine potential throughlines (themes that are carried throughout each project) so that (s)he can guide the work of teachers.
- Teachers are asked to become familiar with the standards and be prepared to discuss potential throughlines with their colleagues and to develop corresponding project-based learning units with their grade-level teams.
- In teacher teams, teachers determine their throughlines for the year in grades TK-5. To assist teachers in this work, CWC Mar Vista draws upon the deep expertise and other project-based learning units from other CWC Los Angeles schools. Following are examples of throughlines that may be developed:
 - KINDERGARTEN: Learning about me and my community
 - 1st GRADE: Diversity and interdependence
 - 2nd GRADE: Why is change important? Why does change happen?
 - 3rd GRADE: Perspective
 - 4th GRADE: Influence of power
 - 5th GRADE: Systems

Given the increased rigor of content at the 6-8th grade level, each core teacher develops a series of throughlines for the course. For example, at the 6th grade level the Integrated Science course has throughlines of systems, patterns, and structure and function. Grade level teams come together at the beginning of the year and throughout the year to explore overlaps in throughlines and develop connected projects and lessons. Thus, when the 6th grade math classes use statistics to explore personal and group identity, the ELA classes explore identity through readings of personal narratives.

Connections across disciplines are made explicit through teacher collaboration.

- Once a throughline is determined, teachers identify the number of projects to be implemented throughout the school year (for example: one project per trimester). The project should fuel students' understanding of the throughline throughout the year. Following are example units for a sample 1st grade throughline around diversity and interdependence.
 - Unit/Project 1: Who am I? Who are you?
 - Unit/Project 2: Diversity and interdependence in ocean habitats
 - Unit/Project 3: Reducing our carbon footprint: the interdependence between humans and nature
- For each project, teacher teams develop a number of understanding goals, which can be written as questions or objectives. For example, for diversity, understanding goals may be, "What is diversity?" "How are you special?" and "How are you

- different from your classmates?"
- Once the understanding goals are developed, teacher teams identify associated performances of understandings at three levels: initial ("mucking about", which refers to a phase filled with exploration and research), guided, and culminating.

Building Institutional Knowledge

At the end of each project, teacher teams create a portfolio that includes the unit and lesson plans, pictures of student work, work samples, and any other artifacts from the unit. The goal is to create full units with all the necessary artifacts so that CWC Mar Vista has institutional memory from which future teachers can benefit.

HOW THE INSTRUCTIONAL METHODOLOGIES AND CURRICULUM WILL ENSURE MASTERY OF THE STATE STANDARDS

CWC Mar Vista's instructional methodologies, curricula, and courses have been aligned to the State Standards. Our faculty receive training and guidance in continually refining curriculum and teaching practices aligned with current research and to the State Standards. Through ongoing Professional Development, collaboration, and support, our teachers develop a broad toolbox of strategies, and become experts at aligning those strategies to the standards and assessments for units, lessons and projects.

In addition, every grade level collaborates in order to map out the explicit integration of the standards referenced above in our constructivist-driven curriculum. School leaders provide feedback to teacher-created maps for adequate depth, breadth, and rigor. In addition, instructional leaders and teachers review formative and summative assessments for depth and complexity as well as incorporation of a variety of learning modalities. The scope and sequence of academic standards at CWC Mar Vista may be modified as necessary and/or appropriate.

Through an Inquiry/project-based structure as described above, students receive both individualized support and instructional strategies as they work to master the interrelated skills and knowledge in the content and performance standards. This approach leads to student mastery of higher level thinking skills. Students deeply understand what they learn, and interdisciplinary reading, writing, spoken language and arts foster this mastery. Within this context, EL students have many scaffolded opportunities to use English purposefully and interact with content and ideas in meaningful ways – all driven by instructional frameworks that are aimed at how to integrate powerful language development into all aspects of the learning day for English Learners. Students who perform below grade level receive instructional support for learning that engages students in presenting information in multiple ways and allows for diverse avenues of action and expression. Teachers provide this extra support and scaffolding through in-class strategies, team collaboration, intervention blocks, as well as after school support programs, including online adaptive programs designed to remediate basic skills. Intervention groups are designed to intentionally target students that are needing additional support in mastering state standards by providing them designated small group instruction.

CWC Mar Vista approaches curriculum design with the following criteria:

- Align curriculum to the Common Core State Standards and other State Standards, including the current English Language Development standards;
- Ensure rigorous instruction, while leveraging the use of technology as a tool;

- Provide many opportunities for students to participate in presentations of their learning in both individual and group settings;
- Utilize constructivist practices and inquiry units to promote student learning through cross-curricular and hands-on units of study and projects;
- Provide learning opportunities to deepen connections to the academic content and performance standards, including CCSS through regular instruction in the arts, elective opportunities and clubs; and
- Integrate connections to social-emotional supports.

HOW THE INSTRUCTIONAL PROGRAM WILL SUPPORT STUDENT DEVELOPMENT OF TECHNOLOGY SKILLS

CWC Mar Vista is committed to ensuring that all students have the technology access and skills to thrive in the 21st century. CWC Mar Vista students have opportunities to interact with technology to enhance creativity and innovation, communicate and collaborate with others, do research and advance their information fluency, promote critical thinking, problem solving and decision making skills, develop an understanding of the responsibilities and possibilities of digital citizenship, and to trouble-shoot and utilize technology operations and design concepts.

In grades TK-5, the goal and utilization of technology is two-fold: to increase technology readiness as well as utilize technology as a tool to differentiate and deepen learning in the classroom. Each classroom has access to a set of devices (generally Chromebooks) that teachers can utilize to meet these objectives. Teachers utilize programs such as ST Math, Lexia English, RazKids Reading and IXL Math to provide targeted and differentiated support in the core areas. As students get older, we add the additional element of using technology to deepen their understanding through computer-based research. Concurrently, we also gradually introduce computer readiness skills (such as keyboarding) and internet safety. This also ensures students will be prepared to take computer-based state standardized assessments

In grades 6-8, CWC Mar Vista aims to maintain a one-to-one or 1:2 Chromebook program ensuring that children have access to Chromebook (although this ratio of devices may change based on budgetary constraints, there will continuously be a low ratio of students per device). Technology is used daily to enhance and augment high-quality instruction, as well as ensures students will be prepared to take computer-based state standardized assessments. Students and teachers make extensive use of Google platform, and students can participate in typing club and other technology related offerings.

To this end, CWC Mar Vista adopts the following programs to support student development of technology skills.

- NWEA MAP TESTING: NWEA is a national organization that provides standardized measures of student success. This assessment is provided on computers and therefore helps prepare CWC Mar Vista students for the CAASPP assessments by familiarizing them with online assessments.
- WEB-BASED LEARNING PROGRAMS: Web-based learning programs such as RAZ-Kids, ST Math, Lexia English Math IXL, Delta Math, and Imagine Learning, are typically utilized within a rotational center or station within the classroom or perhaps during intervention blocks. These programs, often are adaptive to students' individual needs and path of learning and allow students to practice their computer skills to build on literacy and math learning through engaging practice and extension activities.

In addition to these resources, individual teachers use a wide variety of online resources and software tools in the classroom to support their curriculum, such as Epic, Edpuzzle, Flipgrid, etc.

1.16: TRANSITIONAL KINDERGARTEN

Students who enroll in CWC Mar Vista whose birth date falls within the dates listed below are offered a space in one of our stand-alone TK classes (or TK/Kindergarten combinations classes if offered, based on enrollment). During the subsequent school year, a TK student may become a Kindergartener.

- For students applying for the 2025-26 school year, priority will be given to students who turn five between September 2, 2025 and June 2, 2026. If there is sufficient availability in a classroom, students who turn five between June 3, 2026 and September 1, 2026 will be admitted to the Charter School.
- All students who have their fourth birthday by September 1 may enter TK.

CWC Mar Vista's whole-child approach supports and nurtures all areas of children's development and learning. From social-emotional and cognitive skills to academic content understanding to physical well-being, this holistic approach is a powerful strategy as children transition to TK and begin their elementary school journey. CWC incorporates the following into TK programming:

- Project-based and Inquiry-based Constructivist Learning- We create engaging opportunities to develop high level critical thinking in a creative experiential manner by providing students with multiple strategies to approach materials and different ways to participate and demonstrate understanding. Our TK teachers involve our students in developmentally appropriate inquiry projects that engage and harness the imagination of 4 and young 5 year olds. These projects beautifully interweave learning about the world and academic topics to also embed opportunities for students to learn how to collaborate and work together in meaningful ways.
- Social-Emotional Learning- Our robust SEL program supports our youngest learners in developing self-awareness, social awareness, self-management, relationship skills, and responsible decision-making through explicit SEL lessons, conflict resolution programs, mindfulness, and more. Through strategies from programs like Cool Tools, Responsive Classroom and Mind Up, even our youngest students are involved in daily social emotional learning that develops both inter and intra personal skills.
- Integrated and Diverse Learning- The school day is balanced with large group, small group, and individual opportunities, as well as indoor and outdoors activities, active and calm time, along with free choice and teacher-directed lessons. We believe that TK students learn best when there is a balance between play and open-ended choice time, as well as more guided parts of the day. CWC Mar Vista is proud of a balanced approach to learning that is geared to the beautiful developmental stage of our youngest students.

1.17: ACADEMIC CALENDAR

Our calendar is included below. We align most of our holidays and breaks with LAUSD, which makes it easier for working families to enroll in our school, particularly those who rely on public day care options. It should be noted that this version is for the 2026-27 school year calendar and adjustments to our calendar may be made in future years, although annual instructional minutes requirements required by Education Code Section 47612.5 will always be met, if not exceeded, barring emergency school closure(s).

SIXTH, SEVENTH AND EIGHTH GRADE SAMPLE SCHEDULES

Below are sample schedules for the grade 6-8 program and associated instructional minutes. Since students rotate to different classes throughout the day each student will have a slightly different daily schedule. Nonetheless, all students take daily core classes in history, English, math, and science. Additionally, students take classes in physical education (health and fitness), and an elective of their choosing several times each week such as Spanish, drama, art or music. Students are also placed in either an ELA intervention, Math intervention, or ELD class. Technology is incorporated in most classes through the use of computers available to students and teachers. All students also have an advisory period referred to as “Roots” that meets several times each week to address topics in Social-Emotional Learning.

1.19: INSTRUCTIONAL DAYS AND MINUTES CALCULATOR

The CWC Mar Vista daily schedule and annual calendar amounts to an annual offering of at least as many, or more than the minimum number of instructional minutes and days set forth in Education Code Section 47612.5 and Title 5, California Code of Regulations Section 11960. These sections require all students to be offered a minimum of 175 school days and, more specifically, kindergarten students to be offered 36,000 minutes, grades 1-3 to be offered 50,400 minutes, and grades 4-8 to be offered 54,000 minutes. The table below represents the instructional minutes offered in the instructional program.

1.21: ONGOING PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

CWC Mar Vista's academic model demands high quality teaching and qualified teachers. As such, professional development is a core component of the Charter School's design.

CORE BELIEFS

We apply our beliefs about how learning best occurs presented in Element 1 not only to instruction for students but also to professional development for teachers. We offer professional development that is targeted to individual teachers' needs as well as offerings that are required for all staff.

Just as our teachers design curriculum based on their individual student's needs, so too does our Principal with the support of the Regional Support Office ("RSO") Instructional Team at CWC Los Angeles. CWC Mar Vista Principal and the RSO Instructional Team at CWC LA design professional development activities that address instructional priorities and/or target specific instructional needs. The Principal and the RSO Instructional Team at CWC LA adjust the professional development plan to accommodate the needs of incoming faculty members and to address gaps in student learning.

The principle of the Gradual Release of Responsibility is also applicable for structuring adult learning. We:

- Present tools and techniques
- Support teachers as they strive to integrate those into their rich repertoire of instructional techniques
- Guide analyses of effectiveness
- Provide feedback as needed
- Monitor independent implementation

In addition to developing their competencies teaching students, teachers have opportunities to develop their skills supporting their peers. Therefore, in addition to participating in professional development, key teachers are asked to take on the role of being a resource to their peers. We identify individuals as team leaders, subject-specific experts or teacher mentors in specific areas. For example, a teacher might receive more extensive training in math and be responsible for supporting and co-facilitating professional development in mathematics for their peers.

Opportunities for faculty collaboration are built-in throughout the weekly schedule. As presented in the sample schedules above and described further below, the shortened day allows the staff to gather with the relevant teams, Principal and/or regional leaders for structured whole-school planning, cross-classroom curriculum design, reflection, and targeted professional development. This block is crucial to communicating and executing the vision of the Charter School. It provides ample time for teachers to plan curriculum as demanded by our project-based learning approach.

STRUCTURES

Along with members of the Instructional team, the Principal bears primary responsibility for creating the yearlong professional development plan and specific activities for faculty based on their individual needs and experience levels, but these activities encompass detailed instruction in our educational philosophies, assessment methodologies, utilization of our data systems, and more.

Specific professional development activities to support faculty in their professional growth include:

- SUMMER INSTITUTE: During a summer institute, all faculty receive in-depth training on our educational philosophies, review research studies, and collaboratively plan curriculum and lessons. This is an intensive training which establishes a strong school culture and ensures that every year all teachers and staff – both returning and new – are fully prepared for the first day of school and the work throughout the school year. Deep planning around curriculum, assessment, unit and lesson design takes place among teacher teams, led by CWC Mar Vista's Leadership Team, the RSO Instructional Team, teacher leaders and outside experts. This is also a time when best practices are shared to ensure alignment between the CWC Los Angeles schools. New staff have additional time and professional development prior to returning staff to support a successful entry to CWC Topics for Summer Institute sessions are both proactive and reactive to the needs of our adult learners and prior year student outcomes and may include anything from an introduction to Social-Emotional Learning, classroom culture, management, and set-up, core curriculum DEIB.
- PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT MEETINGS: All faculty meet regularly on the early release day to continuously develop, refine and evaluate curriculum and lesson plans based on individual students' needs, teacher needs and the progress of the Charter School as a whole in a collaborative, supportive environment. Our school calendar also includes anywhere from 4 - 6 full pupil-free days throughout the year for intensive development, either via outside conferences or internal full-day workshops and collaboration time. Professional development sessions include sessions in which faculty members, admin and teacher leaders lead PD on a particular topic, often aligned to instructional priorities. These days might also include Principal-led sessions, guest lecturers including experts from specific programs and partners at other schools in Los Angeles. Topics for an early release Wednesday PD may include time for leaders to facilitate protocols that take teachers through looking at student work OR providing time for teachers to unpack upcoming units of instruction and to co-plan lessons or re-teaching plans.
- CWC LOS ANGELES WAYFINDING SESSIONS: This year-long professional learning series exists to provide a differentiated track of PD for new teachers and/or new to CWC teachers as they navigate the often complex and unfamiliar waters during their beginning year(s) of teaching at Citizens of the World. Sessions provide meaningful professional learning opportunities focused on topics such as classroom management, caregiver communication and best instructional practices that will ultimately lead to better outcomes for students by increasing new teacher efficacy around CWC aligned practices. Topics for Wayfinding might include sessions that help new teachers understand the importance of clear and systematic classroom management routines to strategies for communicating with caregivers across lines of difference.
- INSTRUCTIONAL COACHING: Teachers receive coaching and support from their on-site administrators. Focal areas for coaching may focus on instructional priority areas, classroom management/culture or anything else that might align to school or individual teacher goals. Beyond that, teachers may also receive content-specific coaching in ELA, Math or other subject areas as well. Teachers who participate in content-specific coaching engage in coaching cycles that often focus on how to effectively plan and respond to data and evidence of student learning.

- FACULTY RESOURCES: Each site has created a Landing Page or central hub of resources that serves as a collection of key resources for all faculty to use and have easy access to throughout the year. These hubs ensure that data systems, shared curricular tools and more are always findable for all teachers.
- WEEKLY PLANNING TIME: Teachers are given planning time throughout the week both on their own and within teams. Students' participation in specialty/elective classes allows time for planning during the school day. In addition, portions of the ongoing professional development on shortened days will allow teachers to work in partnership with their peer teachers within and across grade levels. While our teachers – and indeed all teachers – spend countless hours outside of school preparing, planning, and reviewing student work, this time allotted during the school day will enable our teachers to work collaboratively as a team in designing lessons that best suit individual students in a supportive, professional atmosphere.
- DEIB PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT: By being an intentionally diverse school, it is important that all staff have access to professional development to understand their identities and the identities of their students and ways to be more culturally relevant in their work. These PDs can occur during summer institute, on Pupil Free Days throughout the school year and in conjunction with some of the Wednesday PD time set aside for teacher planning and learning. These opportunities allow teachers and staff to collaborate on best practices and ways to increase belonging for students and families. DEIB PD will oftentimes be woven into other instructional topics.
- ADDITIONAL PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT TOPICS: In addition to DEIB Professional Development, teachers also receive professional development of the following topics:
 - Data-informed decision making - help instructors review students work & data to create a plan to respond to real time student needs.
 - Standards-Aligned Instruction/curriculum-based professional development - for instruction in core academic areas and within curricula we use such as Foundations, Illustrative Mathematics, Fishtank English Language Arts.
 - Meeting the Needs of All Students - For example PD to support students with disabilities, English learners, etc.
 - Classroom management - this emphasizes how to build inclusive and positive classroom cultures and room environments, with focus on establishing key routines and procedures.
 - Evolving use of technology - trainings and supports are provided on using technology (such as Google Classroom, Go Guardian, online programs like Math IXL and Raz Kids) to equip instructors with the skills and knowledge to effectively integrate these tools into their teaching.
 - Culturally responsive teaching strategies are shared in order to activating students' prior knowledge, build strong relationships with students, and ultimately honors students' cultures and contexts.
 - Social-Emotional learning teaching strategies such mindfulness and Cool Tools curriculum from UCLA's Lab School give research-based strategies for promoting SEL and conflict resolution in the classroom. These strategies help teachers help students develop skills like self-regulation, emotional awareness, empathy, and effective communication.

- Crisis Prevention and Intervention for the de-escalation of student behaviors
- Instructional coaching techniques using the frameworks such as "Get Better Faster," which breaks down key teaching competencies into manageable, prioritized actions that teachers can implement in their classrooms.
- Parent and caregiver relationships to build and strengthen partnership throughout the school year. Additional support in effective communication practices with caregivers is also emphasized.

1.22: RECRUITMENT AND NEW TEACHER DEVELOPMENT

CWC Mar Vista believes that recruiting, developing, supporting and retaining high-quality teachers is essential to the success of our school. School leaders select teachers based on the qualifications outlined in Element 5, as well as the key features of the educational program featured in Element 1.14 and in the following bullet points:

- Standards-based Approach to Literacy Instruction
- Problem-based approach to Mathematics
- Inquiry & Project-based Learning: Specials and Electives
- Social-Emotional Learning

Recruitment of teachers utilizes multiple methods: professional networks, online sites and local universities with education credentialing programs. We make use of our professional networks (such as Teach For America, local charter schools, the California Charter Schools Association ("CCSA"), and university connections) to publicize open positions. Postings appear on multiple sites (such as Ed Join, CCSA's website, and CWC Mar Vista's website) and are forwarded through university alumni and public education school groups. We also have a number of highly prominent and respected educators on our Board and within our network who assist in spreading the word about our recruitment.

When a position is available, CWC Mar Vista reviews the criteria and qualifications for the open teaching position and advertises it along with a job description. Based on a review of resumes, school leaders (and current teachers) interview likely candidates based on competencies aligned to our key educational features noted above. This is in addition to observing them teaching a sample lesson. As needed, additional processes such as analysis of student performance data or videotaped instruction are utilized to select final candidates.

Furthermore, every candidate is screened to ensure they are culturally competent and align with our diversity philosophy. This is done through a series of specific questions during the interview process and presented scenarios where prospective candidates share what they have done in the past and will do in the future to ensure that students feel included.

Our thorough and rigorous selection process ensures that selected candidates are aligned with our mission and philosophy and bring a strong repertoire of skills as well as a willingness and capacity for ongoing development.

Ongoing professional development topics include:

- Presentation of the theoretical underpinnings of our philosophy and curricular approaches
- Activities to assist teachers in internalizing the theories
- Introduction to curricular tools

- Opportunities to plan using the curricular tools, with support
- Introduction to assessment tools
- Training in analyzing assessment data and determining the implications for instruction
- Curriculum-based coaching

Additionally, as mentioned in the prior section, new teachers or new to CWC MV teachers receive additional year-long professional development to address their unique learning and developmental needs through our Wayfinding series.

Through professional development, teachers develop:

- An understanding of the theoretical underpinnings of our philosophical, pedagogical and curricular approaches
- Skill in analyzing student assessment data to assess students' progress and determine implications for future teaching
- Familiarity and dexterity with utilizing curricular tools to accomplish student achievement goals
- Capacity and comfort in reflecting with their peers as they strive to become even better teachers

While the specific agendas, trainers, and materials will be determined by our Principal or their designees, among other things, our teachers study the following in the context of the foregoing activities:

- Curricular Tools outlined in Element 1
- Instructional Strategies described in Element 1
- Techniques for meeting a variety of student needs as presented in Element 1
- Assessments presented in Element 2 and Element 3

The Principal utilizes feedback from teachers, observations of instruction, and student performance data in determining the specific content and timing of professional development.

MEETING THE NEEDS OF ALL STUDENTS

At CWC Mar Vista, we take the challenge seriously as educators to help every student to achieve. We firmly believe that with strong first teaching in the classroom supported by targeted intervention²¹ as needed, every child can meet or exceed grade level expectations that are academic, social, or behavioral in nature. We recognize that students learn in different ways and we adjust our teaching to maximize the learning potential of every child. To promote academic success, we support students in expanding their skills and in helping them to develop strengths in areas in which they struggle.

Since our constructivist, project-based educational program inherently values and accommodates differentiated learning, our special needs populations (academically low achieving students, special education, gifted, EL, and low socioeconomic level) automatically receive focused attention to their needs and strengths, as teachers implement individualized instruction based on data-driven assessments. Following are the additional components of our educational program that ensure that students are offered the most effective education possible:

²¹For CWC Mar Vista, targeted intervention means that we monitor students' progress according to the assessments and assessment procedures outlined in Element 2 and Element 3. When those assessment results indicate that a student (or students) needs additional assistance, supplemental small group (or individual) instruction will "target" the specific concepts or skills with which the student(s) is struggling. Students who test below average or below grade level on the NWEA, SBAC, F&P reading assessments, and other classroom assessments, indicate that a student needs additional assistance. Interventions are provided first by the classroom teacher(s) and, when greater need is identified, by additional support staff.

1. Smaller class sizes and lower teacher-to-student ratios which allow the teachers to truly know their students;
2. Instructional planning time during each school day so that teachers can modify and create lessons and curriculum to meet the needs of individual students;
3. A culture of looking at data and evidence of student learning (analyzing student work on a regular basis on top of opportunities to examine summative assessment results too);
4. A culture among teachers of openness and collaboration, including weekly team planning sessions and regular professional development activities, allowing teachers to learn from each other's varying expertise in handling learning differences;
5. Ongoing communication between teachers and parents and a commitment to work together for the education of their children;
6. Various forms of assessment that are used to guide instruction;
7. Learning goals that are clearly articulated; and
8. High expectations for all students.
9. Ongoing professional development for teachers to ensure they are growing in their practice

CWC Mar Vista has intentionally created procedures and will be providing staffing resources to ensure that the needs of all students are met, including those who need additional support beyond the classroom to meet grade-level standards. Two core structures ensure that we monitor and address the needs of all students: Coaching Cycles and Student Success Team meetings.

COACHING CYCLES

The Principal, Assistant Principal, other school-site leaders and coaches at CWC Mar Vista meet regularly with their allocated classroom teacher to review data and the progress of every child in the class. In doing so, they will review the teacher's practices and students' performance in key assessments described more fully below in Element 2. During these meetings, the teacher discusses goals for the year, as well as the progress of each student and any changes that have been noticed since the last meeting, taking note of any strengths and areas of concern that may be academic, social, or behavioral in nature. Over time, these notes provide evidence of trends, patterns, or events that have influenced the teacher's practices and/or students' successes and can be used to better understand learning needs, individual styles, classroom differentiation strategies and appropriate interventions when necessary. The coaching team member and teacher engage in a reflective, rigorous conversation, and when faced with a student who poses a particular challenge, they initiate a Student Success Team meeting.

STUDENT SUCCESS TEAM MEETINGS

For students identified based on their assessment data and/or teacher or parent request as needing additional support, a SST meeting will be held. If a parent or teacher has a concern, a special meeting to discuss can be held, which can also lead to an SST. The SST typically includes the Principal, Assistant Principal, Instructional Coach and/or the Director of Student Support. The 1-2 teachers who are familiar with the student are included, and the student's parent/guardian may attend. The SST works with parents/guardians, teachers and the students themselves, to identify their learning needs and together they develop a plan for academic and social success. It is this plan that determines when, how often and for how long the team will meet. This decision is made separately for each individual situation, and the team continues to meet until the child has achieved success or meets the goals set. During the meeting, the team records all pertinent information for the student. Goals are established and interventions are put in place to support the child. Responses might include instructional modifications, new behavioral strategies in the classroom, greater follow-up strategies implemented in the home, or a new approach to differentiation of instruction. This practice is an effective problem-solving strategy to address issues as they arise, and to monitor student progress.

In addition, CWC Mar Vista's instructional program provides additional opportunities for students with a range of needs in its after school program²². During this important time, students receive intervention support or take additional enrichment classes based on an area of interest to him or her. In this way, students are able to both reinforce skill development and/or receive additional acceleration opportunities. CWC Mar Vista's after school program is currently part of CWC Mar Vista staff's offerings, although this is subject to change should an outside vendor be selected.

1.23: ENGLISH LEARNERS

A core part of CWC Mar Vista's mission is to meet the educational needs of all students in an environment that fosters an appreciation and understanding of other languages and cultures. Students at CWC learn the California ELD Standards in tandem with the Common Core State Standards for ELA/Literacy. Students are engaged in the type of rich instruction called for in the Common Core State Standards for ELA/Literacy, with appropriate scaffolding that attends to their particular language learning needs to ensure they have meaningful access. They are fully supported as they:

- Read, analyze, interpret, and create a variety of literary and informational text types
- Develop an understanding of how language is a complex, dynamic, and social resource for making meaning
- Develop an understanding of how content is organized in different text types across disciplines using text organization and structure, language features, and vocabulary depending on purpose and audience
- Become aware that different languages and varieties of English exist
- Recognize their home languages and cultures as resources to value in their own right and to draw upon in order to build proficiency in English
- Contribute actively to class and group discussions by asking questions, responding appropriately, and providing useful feedback
- Demonstrate knowledge of content through oral presentations, writing, collaborative conversations, and multimedia work
- Develop proficiency in shifting registers based on task, purpose, audience, and text type

²² References to programs beyond the TK-8 are outside the scope of the petition and provided to illustrate the services that the Charter School provides.

At the Charter School, we are committed to providing ELs at all levels of English language proficiency with meaningful access to the full curriculum through a comprehensive approach that includes specific instructional strategies and interventions in both designated and integrated ELD.

To support ELs, we utilize the English Language Arts/English Language Development Framework to guide our instructional practices. This framework ensures that ELs receive targeted support tailored to their proficiency levels, promoting their language development alongside their academic growth.

Designated ELD: For ELs at various proficiency levels, we implement designated ELD instruction as a part of their daily schedule. This instruction is specifically designed to build language skills and includes:

- Tiered Vocabulary Instruction: We provide explicit instruction in academic and domain-specific vocabulary, using visual aids, interactive activities, and context-based learning to enhance comprehension and usage.
- Language Functions and Forms: Our lessons focus on different language functions (e.g., explaining, arguing) and forms (e.g., sentence structures, grammar rules) to help ELs produce and comprehend complex language structures relevant to their academic tasks.
- Scaffolding Techniques: We use scaffolding strategies such as sentence frames, graphic organizers, and modeling to support ELs in developing their language skills in a structured manner.

Integrated ELD: In addition to designated ELD, we embed language development within core content instruction to ensure ELs can access and engage with the full curriculum:

- Differentiated Instruction: Teachers differentiate content, process, and product based on the proficiency levels of ELs. This includes providing modified texts, varied questioning techniques, and diverse assessment options to meet individual needs.
- Collaborative Learning: We incorporate group work and peer interactions, allowing ELs to practice language in a social context while receiving support from more proficient peers.
- Content and Language Integration: Teachers integrate language objectives with content objectives, ensuring that ELs are learning academic content while also developing their language skills. This includes using graphic organizers and visual supports to aid understanding.

Our approach is guided by ongoing assessment and data analysis to monitor the progress of ELs and adjust instructional strategies as needed. By providing both designated and integrated ELD opportunities, we ensure that all ELs, regardless of their proficiency level, have equitable access to the curriculum and the support necessary for their academic success.

CWC Mar Vista has adopted its own English Learner Master Plan. CWC Mar Vista complies with federal and state mandates regarding EL education and re-designation of EL students. CWC Mar Vista meets all requirements of federal and state law, relative to English Learners as it pertains to annual notification to parents, student identification, placement, program options, EL and core content instruction, teacher qualifications and training, reclassification to fluent English proficient status, monitoring and evaluating program effectiveness, and standardized testing requirements.

CWC Mar Vista ensures proper placement, evaluation, and communication regarding ELs and the rights of students and parents. Those requirements include, but are not limited to the following items:

- Home Language Survey: All incoming families complete a Home Language Survey upon enrollment at CWC Mar Vista, if this is their first enrollment in a California public school. If parents indicate that a student's primary language is other than English, students with no previous experience in LAUSD school will be administered the Initial ELPAC to determine their English Proficiency. The Home Language Survey or CALPADS is primarily how ELs are identified.
- ELPAC: The Initial ELPAC is administered to all students whose primary language is not English (within 30 calendar days after they are enrolled in a California public school for the first time) and then once each year, the Summative ELPAC is administered to English learners until they are reclassified. The Summative ELPAC is one of the measures used to determine whether students redesignate from English Learners to Fluent English Proficient students. The results from this test will be examined alongside other assessments named within our reclassification criteria chart (see below). For example, to see if a student qualifies for reclassification, CWC Mar Vista will look at Summative ELPAC performance alongside NWEA MAP and other assessments and curriculum-based work to see more holistically if a child has developed enough fluency in order to be considered for reclassification. Reclassification will be one of the Charter School's primary goals and measures of success.
- ELD Monitoring: Students identified as English Learners have their performance tracked both by standardized test scores and through CWC MV's other assessments and measures. In all of the areas above, an English Learner needs to demonstrate proficiency in the ELD standards.

At each reporting period, teachers track student progress toward each ELD standard. Given the ELD standards' alignment to the CCSS ELA standards, teachers compare students' performance and proficiency within ELD specific assessments to their performance on other CCSS aligned ELA assessments (e.g. NWEA MAP assessment and/or CAASPP). CWC MV participates in this type of data analysis and comparison throughout each school year as part of our usual protocols to regularly examine and analyze subgroup data, and to ensure students make adequate progress toward the mastery of ELD standards.

1.29A: EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM FOR ENGLISH LANGUAGE ACQUISITION: STRATEGIES FOR ENGLISH LEARNERS AND INTERVENTION

Given the variety of home languages spoken by students residing in Los Angeles and the instructional philosophy of the Charter School, CWC Mar Vista prepares teachers for a multi-lingual environment. As part of the CWC Learning Model, our schools provide all EL instruction in the general education classroom. ELs and LTELs are supported through strong tier 1 instruction and integrated ELD, utilizing a variety of instructional techniques to be used specifically with English Learners, all of which are described further below. These curricular resources and frameworks are also harnessed for designated ELD on top of additional teacher-made curriculum:

- SDAIE;

- Project GLAD; and
- SIOP.

Emerging Bilinguals participate in a MTSS model if their assessment results indicate that they struggle with any subject area especially in English Language Arts and mathematics. The support provided to EL students in MTSS accommodates students' language level. In some cases, ELs and LTELs are provided supplementary intervention time to support their language acquisition.

Classroom teachers are responsible for providing designated ELD instruction at least several times per week if not daily, and CWC MV endeavors to align designated ELD instruction with the number of minutes of instruction recommended by the CDE (generally 30 minutes a day). In instances when EL students require additional support designated language development, EL students may also work with an additional adult (e.g., intervention teacher, instructional support staff, etc.). Designated ELD instruction occurs for all ELs until they are identified as RFEP. These designated ELD lessons focus on increasing students' proficiency in English, as measured by the CA ELD Standards and ELPAC. This designated ELD time is protected during the regular school day when teachers use the CA ELD Standards as the focal standards in ways that build into, and from, content instruction to develop the critical English language skills, knowledge, and abilities needed for content learning in English.

CWC MV meets all requirements of federal and state law relative to ELs, including LTELs or ELs at risk of becoming LTELs, as it pertains to annual notification to parents, student identification, placement, program options, EL and core content instruction, teacher qualifications and training, reclassification to fluent English proficient status, monitoring and evaluating program effectiveness, and standardized testing requirements.

EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM RESOURCE #1: SPECIALLY DESIGNED ACADEMIC INSTRUCTION IN ENGLISH

SDAIE is a teaching approach that can be used across the curriculum to support EL students. It emphasizes the importance of supporting English learners in acquiring academic-related skills and knowledge, while at the same time learning English through comprehensible second language input. The practice was based upon linguistic theories laid out by a number of researchers including Dr. Steven Krashen and Dr. James Cummins, who developed "Contextual Interaction Theory." At the heart of the theory are two major components that impact the SDAIE classroom: "comprehensible second language input" and a "supportive affective environment."

Rather than focusing on language development, SDAIE focuses on content comprehension. Language is acquired because of the context in which it is contained. Teachers build vocabulary with their students and have high expectations for success of language acquisition and the concepts.

SDAIE encompasses solid teaching techniques that benefit all types of learners, offering particular support to students who are English Learners. The four major components of this teaching approach are:

- A VISUAL APPROACH TO CLASSROOM PARTICIPATION: Teachers use models, kits, manipulatives, and gestures to show students what they are talking about.
- A HANDS-ON APPROACH TO CLASSWORK: Students learn faster with the use of manipulatives and task-oriented projects for them to build new vocabulary into their work banks.

- COOPERATIVE LEARNING STRATEGIES: Teachers structure learning opportunities through project-based learning and during workshop instruction for students to work together, be held individually accountable, and develop positive social skills. Students are more likely to try to practice their English skills in smaller groups.
- GUIDED VOCABULARY TECHNIQUES: Teachers make conscious choices regarding the language used and how vocabulary will be introduced, practiced, and incorporated into all components of their lessons. Paying attention to clearly enunciate words and phrases, teachers will avoid idioms, colloquialisms and abbreviations.

The SDAIE approach seeks to teach both content and language in a cognitively demanding environment. The nature and goals of SDAIE lessons are to provide equal access to the curriculum of study. SDAIE strategies are consistent with multiple intelligence strategies, project-based learning theories, and special education disciplines.

EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM RESOURCE #2: PROJECT GLAD

Project GLAD is an instructional and professional development model in the area of language acquisition and literacy. GLAD strategies are specific methods of instruction for a successful English immersion education in a multilingual classroom. Project GLAD techniques are very well-aligned to the instructional model and, as such, well-integrated into ongoing instruction. According to its materials, the major components of this pedagogical approach include:

1. Teach to the highest:
 - A classroom environment that values the student and provides authentic opportunities for use of academic language and maintains the highest standards and expectations for all students.
2. Brain research, metacognition, and second language acquisition:
 - A classroom environment that values the student and provides authentic opportunities for use of academic language and maintains the highest standards and expectations for all students.
 - A time to activate and focus prior knowledge: inquiry charts, brainstorming, and clustering
 - An opportunity to ensure a common base of understanding and scaffolding: direct experiences, films, visuals, and teachers' read-alouds.
 - Students taught how and encouraged to organize thoughts and texts utilizing multiple intelligences: graphic organizers, summaries, visuals, or contextual and semantic clues.
 - Metacognitive aspect of teacher and students modeling of how an answer was obtained not merely the correct answer.
 - A student sets a purpose for learning: motivating, stated result or goal, student choices, inquiry charts.
 - Chances to negotiate meaning from language and text: co-op activities for problem solving, social skills; heterogeneous grouping.
3. Reading and writing to, with, and by students:
 - Reading that stresses the purpose and joy before the skills; that begins with writing and reading one's own language; continues with immense amounts of being read to; time for silent sustained reading and silent sustained writing with oral book sharing and quick shares.

- Direct teaching of concepts, vocabulary, or necessary skills; text patterns, academic language, writing patterns; decoding skills.
 - Writing that stresses the metacognitive use of reading and writing as a process; use of clustering/brainstorming to initiate writing; acceptance of developmental level of writer; editing and revising done only in appropriate place in the process. No over-editing in early drafts; not all writing brought to the editing stage; use of conferencing methods to guide students through the process; use of logs for personal responses to texts or issues; use of interactive journals.
 - Big Books on walls, shared reading/writing experiences are only a few strategies for a language functional environment; use of personal interaction values oral ideas and cross-cultural respect.
4. Strategies to foster respect, trust, identity, and voice (Cummins, Berman, Baron).
5. Ongoing assessment:
- Use of a variety of assessment tools to provide reflection on what has been learned, how it was learned and what will be done with the information. Assessment, ongoing and summative, based on strengths, as well as needs. In Project GLAD, the growth in scores of EL students far exceeded the norm at the national level. Over the past 20 years, Project GLAD has received the following awards:
 - United States Department of Education, OBEMLA, Project of Academic Excellence
 - California Department of Education Exemplary Program
 - Model reform program for the California School Reform Design
 - Training model for five Achieving Schools Award Winners

EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM RESOURCE #3: SHELTERED INSTRUCTION OBSERVATION PROTOCOL:

In addition to the above, many CWC MV staff have been trained on the SIOP model. This is a research-based and validated instructional model that has proven effective in addressing the academic needs of English Learners throughout the United States. The SIOP Model consists of eight interrelated components:

- Lesson Preparation
- Building Background
- Comprehensible Input
- Strategies
- Interaction
- Practice/Application
- Lesson Delivery
- Review and Assessment

Using instructional strategies connected to each of these components, teachers are able to design and deliver lessons that address the academic and linguistic needs of English Learners.

SDAIE and SIOP are all intrinsic to constructivism, project-based learning, and multiple intelligences theory. These coordinated approaches ensure that all CWC Mar Vista students acquire English language skills in reading, writing, listening, speaking, viewing, and thinking, and proficiently meet grade-level ELA standards.

LTEs have very specific language learning needs and require a program with specific interventions. In order to meet these unique needs, LTEL students are primarily scheduled in heterogeneous classes taught at their grade-level alongside students who are fluent in English. This ensures that LTELs have access to rigorous, grade-level instruction and can benefit from participating in rich academic discourse. All teachers who teach LTELs use SDAIE strategies to provide support and differentiation across all academic disciplines. A strong emphasis on developing academic language is provided in these classes. Teachers place significant emphasis on engaging these students with high interest lessons and texts, strong relationship building, and positive outreach to students' families. Additionally, teachers ensure that these students are actively engaged and participate in classroom discussions and small group work to ensure that they can take advantage of all opportunities to develop their language and literacy skills. A specialized ELD course designed for LTELs may also be provided when necessary and appropriate. This course would provide targeted support in addition to the grade-level course in English Language Arts.

RECLASSIFICATION PROCEDURES and HOW THE CHARTER SCHOOL WILL USE ELPAC to support and accelerate student progress towards English language proficiency;

CWC Mar Vista will use LAUSD guidelines stipulated in REF-1848.4 and REF-1849.2 issued by the Office of Planning, Assessment, and Research as a guide when determining reclassification eligibility for EL students:

While we believe this is a very exciting step for your child, if you have any questions or concerns about this decision, please don't hesitate to contact us at the school. Otherwise, if we do not hear from you, we will assume that you are in agreement about this decision. We will of course continue to monitor your child's progress in both language development and all other instructional areas." This provides caregivers an opportunity to share any input or concern upon hearing that their child is being nominated for reclassification. LAT (Language Appraisal Team)	LAT is required to review the above criteria to determine if reclassification is appropriate. The LAT is comprised of the principal or an admin designee (e.g. an Assistant Principal or a school's designated EL Coordinator). The LAT also should include the student's classroom teacher(s) and the caregivers/legal guardians of the student being reviewed. Other personnel, such as counselors, specialist teachers, RSP Teachers or EL experts can be included and consulted as/if needed.

RECLASSIFICATION GOAL:

It is CWC Mar Vista's goal that students are reclassified within three years through targeted instruction and assessment. For students enrolled at CWC Mar Vista beginning in transitional Kindergarten, this allows for re-designation well before they are designated a LTEL. For students who are enrolled in subsequent years whose language development is still in the beginning or early intermediate stage, students will be provided additional intervention with a goal that they will stay on target to advance 1-2 levels or more per year such that they can be reclassified in their TK-8 career.

The Principal continues to monitor the reclassification rate, and, in collaboration with the Executive Director, make adjustments to the academic program if the goal is not met. In addition, the Principal and members of the Leadership Team continually monitor the progress of RFEP students to ensure that they are successful after being reclassified, as well as English Learners and LTELs to help ensure that these students are making progress toward reclassification. Students who have been identified as LTELs and at risk of becoming LTELs will be tracked and monitored individually to ensure they are making adequate progress in their language acquisition from year to year. Charter School staff will meet regularly to monitor the progress of this group of students. Student progress will be monitored every trimester when NWEA data is available as well as at other points when additional data is readily available (e.g., curriculum-based assessments, the end of a writing unit, and other authentic work samples from ELD instruction). Based on a comprehensive analysis of this variety of student work and student data, students' specific needs will be identified and individualized goals for each student will be set. If students do not meet the goals that are set and are not making appropriate progress, a number of additional supports will be provided.

These students will be provided with small group or one-on-one intervention support, additional coursework in literacy and language development, and in many cases the convening of an SST to develop a plan to provide wrap-around support for the student at school and at home in partnership with parents.

Monitoring and Evaluating Program Effectiveness

Each school year, school leadership will take steps to ensure CWC Mar Vista's program is effective for our English Learner population. As part of this, CWC Mar Vista and CWC Los Angeles network regional leadership (led by our Head of Instruction and Learning) partakes in an annual analysis of our ELD program and go through the following items to evaluate, refine and adjust instructional practices for the coming school year. School administrative teams have a designated point person called the EL coordinator that works with the assistant principal to ensure clear ownership of this workstream on their campus.

- Adherence to Charter School-adopted reclassification goals and academic benchmarks as dictated by the newly adopted ELA standards
- Monitor academic data of each EL and their progress based on the number of years within our program to determine if they have experienced annual progress
- Monitor academic data of the entire EL subgroup to evaluate CWC Mar Vista's approach and success with this portion of our student population
- Continue to monitor the academic data of reclassified students to ensure their continued success and progress within all areas of academic development
- Monitor and support teachers to explicitly identify and teach concrete language objectives and academic vocabulary within daily instruction and unit plans
- Monitor teacher qualifications and the use of appropriate instructional strategies based on program design
- Monitor student identification and placement
- Monitor availability of adequate resources

1.24: GIFTED AND TALENTED (“GATE”) STUDENTS ACHIEVING ABOVE GRADE LEVEL

Some students need support to meet grade level standards, while other students need challenges in class to continue to grow academically. This is particularly true for students who are high-achieving or designated as gifted and talented. Though GATE students present instructional challenges, a separate, segregated classroom experience is not necessary.

As a general rule, we do not believe that any one assessment should be used to classify children or determine what resources are provided for a child's learning. Therefore, we offer differentiated instruction for all students who excel, not just those identified as gifted and talented at CWC Mar Vista. Children are referred to the District on a fee-for-service basis for GATE testing when their NWEA (or some equivalent) assessment scores are in the 98th or 99th percentile in both ELA and math for two consecutive years. Students initially qualify based on test performance as early as the 1st grade once two years of test scores have come in, and will continue to be identified ongoing throughout the course of their career at CWC Mar Vista.

High achieving students will be identified via teacher observation, superlative performance on our multiple assessments and standardized tests, and through our Student Success Team process, when appropriate.

CWC Mar Vista recognizes that all students bring unique gifts and talents. Our model is designed to differentiate and meet the needs of a wide variety of learners. Identifying students who are considered advanced involves the interaction of three sets of characteristics: above-average intellectual ability, creativity and task commitment (Renzulli, 1986).

For identification of gifted or talented: Students may be identified as "gifted" or "talented" (based on LAUSD's definitions of such) when a student has consistently performed at Advanced levels across subject areas. CWC MV does not conduct formal testing to identify "gifted" students. Instead CWC MV administrators will identify students as gifted after a student has demonstrated exemplary test scores on two years of standardized tests. This is in keeping with LAUSD's policy for such an identification process. Upon request, and if a student meets necessary criteria, CWC LA schools will also complete application forms required for student application to gifted magnet schools within LAUSD.

For identification of highly gifted: At 3rd grade or above, students may be identified as highly gifted based on the District's definitions of such. We conduct testing only in the rare instances where both standardized test scores and internal assessments indicate a child may be "highly gifted" because the student is consistently performing in the 98th percentile or higher across all subject area assessments.

Our project-based curriculum with an emphasis on Gardner's multiple intelligences is designed to allow all students to pursue their learning in an in-depth way and at a challenging pace. Giftedness involves the interaction of three sets of characteristics: above average intellectual ability, creativity, and task commitment²³. CWC Mar Vista works to ensure that potentially high-achieving students are not simply given additional work to do but rather are effectively engaged and supported in their learning at an appropriate level.

²³ Renzulli, J.S. (1986) The Three-Ring Conception of Giftedness: A Developmental Model for Creative Productivity. In: Sternberg, R.J. and Davidson, J.E., Eds., Conceptions of Giftedness, Cambridge

In the classroom, gifted children tend to:

- Get their work done quickly and may seek further assignments or direction
- Ask probing questions that tend to differ from their classmates in depth of understanding and frequency
- Have interests in areas that are unusual or more like the interests of older students

These students potentially differ from their classmates on three key dimensions: 1) the pace at which they learn; 2) the depth of their understanding; and 3) the interests that they hold. (Maker, 1982.)

In working with high achieving students, CWC Mar Vista teachers draw on the work of Sandra Kaplan (1986) whose educational research advocates a “depth and complexity” approach to providing appropriate challenges for gifted students. She suggests the following ways for teachers to enhance the curriculum for a gifted student:

1. Present content that is related to broad-based issues, themes, or problems
2. Integrate multiple disciplines into the area of study
3. Present comprehensive, related and mutually reinforcing experiences within an area of study
4. Allow for the in-depth learning of a self-selected topic within the area of study
5. Develop independent or self-directed study skills
6. Develop productive, complex, abstract and/or higher level thinking skills
7. Focus on open-ended tasks
8. Develop research skills and methods
9. Integrate basic skills and higher level thinking into the curriculum
10. Encourage the development of products that challenge existing ideas and produce "new" ideas
11. Encourage the development of products that use techniques, materials, and form
12. Encourage the development of self-understanding
13. Evaluate student outcomes by using appropriate and specific criteria through self-appraisal, criterion-referenced and/or standardized instrument.

At CWC Mar Vista, teachers learn to design curriculum and present instructional strategies that meet the varying needs of all learners, including gifted students. Furthermore, diversity exists within a gifted population, as demonstrated through the range in relative strengths and weaknesses, interests, work output, and personality traits of students. Staff use a variety of teaching styles in order to encourage all students to reach their potential. Dynamic grouping, flexible pacing of instruction, project-based work, student-directed learning, and individual investigations are some of the specific techniques to be employed in our classrooms. In most cases, differentiated instruction for gifted students will be provided in their classroom that includes students who are not designated gifted because a separate, segregated classroom experience is not necessary to support the needs of gifted students. In some cases, gifted students will be grouped with other high achieving students in a classroom (such as an elective) as a strategy to address their needs with a more targeted approach.

Progress monitoring is conducted by CWC MV staff on an on-going basis, including an administrator (Principal or Assistant Principal) and teachers of select gifted students, who assess the needs of gifted students and what programs are necessary to support those children in each of their classes. Parents are also consulted on a regular basis to ensure that there is alignment on the approach. CWC Mar Vista is committed to allowing students to move fluidly and appropriately to push and challenge each student to learn in their appropriate zone of development.

ONSITE DESIGNEE TO CONTACT REGARDING GATE

CWC Mar Vista's administrative team, including the Principal and Assistant Principal, is the point of contact for caregivers regarding GATE.

UNDERACHIEVING GIFTED

Students who perform well on assessments but encounter more extensive challenges in project-based work, task completion, and other assignments that require self-regulation may be considered underachieving gifted. Parents are notified of this issue during family conferences. For these students who are gifted but do not have the task commitment, we apply similar tactics that address our "at-risk" population. By fostering active student involvement in their own learning we increase student interest and enthusiasm. Teaching self-monitoring and self-management skills helps these students set their own goals and persevere when working on a project. Grouping them with more motivated students – both gifted and struggling – also provides a peer attitudinal model to help engage them in their own learning.

1.25: STUDENTS ACHIEVING BELOW GRADE LEVEL

CWC Mar Vista faculty and staff monitor student performance to ensure that students who are at-risk of failing to perform at grade level are appropriately supported. Students achieving below grade level are identified through a combination of interim benchmark assessments, unit or lesson assessments, teacher observation and/or parent observation.

Principal, administrative teams and teachers of CWC Mar Vista monitor an individual student's performance throughout the year according to the assessment procedures presented in Element 2 and Element 3. In the case of students who are performing below expectations, CWC Mar Vista teachers use that information to select instructional modifications (e.g. use of word banks, sentence starters, modified time demands).

When the classroom teacher's instructional modifications do not produce the desired results that would put the student on track to perform at grade level, additional steps will be taken. If a teacher or parent has a concern, a special meeting is called to discuss the situation. This may lead to referring the student to the Student Success Team, and when needed, students are evaluated on a case-by-case basis by the Student Success Team. Ultimately, we believe that the greatest responsibility for successfully educating these students lies within the core classroom day.

Through professional development and collaborative support, teachers receive training on effective intervention strategies targeted towards the areas of greatest need. In order to reach the greatest number of our students falling within this category, teachers are trained to utilize the following best practices:

HIGH EXPECTATIONS: Because of a strong belief in each student's potential, teachers are committed to identifying the student's strengths to help the student reach this potential and utilizing the most effective techniques to do so.

VARIED ASSESSMENT: As all students possess and utilize different strengths for their learning, a teacher who allows for a variety of assessments is more apt to find out what students have truly learned, not just how they take a test. Portfolios, oral presentations, open-book tests, group projects, and graphic maps are only some of the many avenues available for teachers to tap into their students' knowledge. The wider the variety of assessment the teacher uses and the more authentic and ongoing it is, the truer the picture the teacher will get of their student's understanding. (See Element 2 for explicit details about our assessment methodologies.)

DATA-INFORMED INSTRUCTION: Teachers, supported by school leaders, will analyze standardized and classroom-based assessment data. Through this analysis, they will identify trends of mastery and difficulty for individuals, groups of students, and the class as a whole. They will identify skills, concepts, and strategies in need of further instruction. Based on the trends, they will determine whether whole class re-teaching, small group intervention, individual tutoring or another action is the appropriate response.

DYNAMIC AND VARIED GROUPING: Instructional groupings will be varied from homogeneous to heterogeneous and changed often, as students' capacities develop. Our groupings of students are fluid in recognition of this reality.

SMALL GROUP INTERVENTION: CWC Mar Vista has a lower teacher-to-student ratio that enables extensive small-group instruction every day. Teachers, student support associates and other staff lead small group intervention lessons for students with specific needs. Checks for understanding (exit tickets, questioning, quick writes, etc.) will be built into small group lessons for 'in the moment' assessments, in addition to the assessment practices outlined in Element 2 and Element 3. The classroom teacher assesses student progress to determine when small group intervention is necessary and when it is no longer necessary because the student(s) have learned the identified skill or concept. In grades TK-5, teachers also provide push-in and pull-out instruction for students identified as needing additional support.

TARGETED RETEACHING: When formal or informal assessments reveal that one or more students is struggling with a particular skill or concept, those students receive targeted instruction to provide them another opportunity to learn it. This instruction may be a single, brief lesson to correct a misconception, or multiple sessions to address a more complex concern.

METACOGNITION MODELING & EXPLICIT STRATEGY INSTRUCTION: Teachers who voice their thoughts on how they complete a task or arrive at a conclusion help students become aware of their own thinking; this is called metacognition. Successful students are able to understand and are aware of the most effective strategies they need in order to study and learn. Teachers help less successful students by modeling effective learning strategies for them, showing them how and when to use these strategies and teaching them why they are important for their success.

DIRECT INSTRUCTION: As an instructional strategy, direct instruction responds to the student's needs by focusing directly on the skills required to be successful in school and ensuring that these skills are learned. Students can learn high-level concepts if they know how to learn, how to question, how to access prior knowledge, and how to integrate new knowledge.

The utility of these best practices are not limited to students who are having difficulty. They represent quality teaching for all students.

CLASSROOM MODIFICATIONS FOR AT-RISK STUDENTS

In order to help students who need special services or a "reasonable accommodation," classroom modifications are made. The following modifications or accommodations may be used by the classroom teachers, in coordination with the Student Success Team, for students who are at-risk, including foster youth or students with other potential risk factors, depending on the student's specific need:

- Materials. Utilize materials that customize to the student's need, such as using highlighted or underlined reading materials, visual aids, concrete manipulative materials, or supplies that adjust to the specific needs of the student.
- Methods. Customize instructional strategies to the student's need, such as providing modeling, coaching and scaffolding, visual clues, customized content delivery approaches, organizational aids, peer tutors, note taking supports, customized language for directions, or manipulatives.
- Assignments. Provide assignments that allow students to be more successful, using strategies such as giving directions in small, distinct steps (written/picture/verbal), lowering difficulty level, reducing paper and pencil tasks, providing extra cues or prompts, developing compensatory procedures through an alternate assignment or strategy, and avoiding penalizing for penmanship.
- Pacing. Adjust the pacing of work in order to facilitate success through reduction of paper and pencil tasks, extended time requirements, varied activities, provision of breaks, and developing strategies to preview materials.
- Testing. Adjust testing by providing tests orally, reading the test to the student, using visuals or pictures, giving similar questions in the classroom setting before the test, allowing dictation, shortening the test length, and administering the test outside of the classroom setting.
- Environment. Adjust the student's environment through preferential seating, altered physical room arrangement, concrete area definition, quiet space for the student, and elimination of visual distractions.

1.26: SOCIOECONOMICALLY DISADVANTAGED

As detailed extensively herein, we believe that all students can learn and succeed, and that socioeconomically disadvantaged students are entirely capable of academic excellence at the same levels as students whose families have more financial resources. Poverty is not destiny.

While CWC Mar Vista is sensitive to socioeconomic differences and ensures all students have full access to the educational, extracurricular, and social activities at the Charter School, CWC Mar Vista has not found systematic research that correlates socioeconomic status with school achievement in a way that can lead to a pedagogical generalization. We believe that all students can learn when given the proper instruction and support. If students that are socioeconomically disadvantaged are low-achieving, struggle with learning differences or are identified as English Learners, CWC Mar Vista utilizes strategies described in other sections of this petition.

At the start of their educational career at CWC Mar Vista, individual students are identified as low- income through the completion of our lottery interest form and enrollment packet. This enrollment packet includes questions that allow CWC Mar Vista to identify whether or not a student qualifies for Free or Reduced Price Meals per the National School Lunch Program's criteria.

Teachers monitor the academic growth of all students using all tools within our comprehensive suite of assessments. This monitoring includes our ongoing protocol to analyze academic data. During school-wide Professional Development "Data Days," the CWC Mar Vista team focuses on developing specific action plans to address students, including those within this subgroup. CWC Mar Vista's Student Success Team is also responsible for identifying students and families who need additional resources or support, including referrals to community organizations or enrichments to ensure students who are also academically gifted do not let barriers interfere with their known capabilities. Establishing an inclusive learning environment for all students is at the heart of CWC Mar Vista. We believe that learning should be accessible to every student, regardless of background, and that teaching and learning should honor all experiences. To that end we:

- MAKE RECOGNITION AND APPRECIATION OF DIVERSE BACKGROUNDS, CULTURES, AND PERSPECTIVES (INCLUDING THOSE REPRESENTED BY STUDENTS AND FACULTY) A CONSTANT THEME OF OUR CLASSROOM: The most effective schools not only highlight those backgrounds and cultures that are represented in the classroom but also (to some degree) recognize and appreciate other backgrounds and cultures that may be new and unfamiliar to the students. Many cultures and backgrounds are brought to students from outside the classroom through strategic choices of books, materials, and lessons.
- TEACH AND MODEL NORMS OF POSITIVE, INCLUSIVE INTERACTIONS AMONG MEMBERS OF THE CLASS: The most effective schools work to form a culture of community within each classroom. Teachers work with students to establish a respectful tone between every member of the classroom community by teaching students to value differences and resolve conflicts appropriately. Teachers model this behavior when interacting with students and other adult members of the community and by responding to comments that may not honor the diversity of the community.
- PROVIDE LEARNING EXPERIENCES FOR ALL FAMILIES: As an effective school community, we work to support all families. Our faculty establishes workshops that address the needs/desire of the families in our school, and which provide language support and translation as needed. The focus of the workshops is to provide guidance, resources, and training to families.
- OFFER EXTENDED SERVICES: CWC Mar Vista offers a whole day program from TK on, and a before- and after-care program for all grades to ensure full-day coverage for all grades, in order to accommodate working families. The core curriculum in art, music and physical education, as well as school field trips that expose students to real-life examples of what is being studied in the classroom and other enriching activities, expose disadvantaged students to learning and enrichment opportunities they might otherwise not have had. Such wrap-around services can assist in leveling the playing field from an economic standpoint, and yet we emphatically do not believe that academic expectations or ultimate performance are tied to socioeconomic status.

1.27: STUDENTS IN OTHER SUBGROUPS

Students in other subgroups (e.g., foster youth, homeless youth) are supported in similar ways to those described above. For example, students in other subgroups receive on-going monitoring by the Student Recruitment Specialists and provision of additional targeted customized support. Students are identified through conversations with families about the needs of their family. Teachers refer families with these needs to the Student Recruitment Specialists.

1.27a: IDENTIFYING FOSTER YOUTH AND HOMELESS YOUTH

CWC MV is committed to meeting the diverse needs of Foster Youth in accordance with AB 490 (Education Code Section 48853.5). We identify foster youth, students experiencing homelessness, and other relevant student groups through a proactive and sensitive approach during our enrollment process, which includes specific questions and considerations designed to identify students who are foster youth or experiencing homelessness. This ensures that appropriate supports and services can be provided from the outset. Teachers and staff monitor students and families and make referrals at any point during the year in case circumstances change.

1.27b: MEETING STUDENT NEEDS

CWC MV has robust support services for all students, regardless of need. For students with increased need, such as being unhoused or in foster care, CWC MV ensures counselors and educators collaborate to assess and address the unique needs of foster youth, homeless students, and other vulnerable groups. This includes access to counseling, academic support, transportation assistance, and referrals to community resources for housing, health services, and legal aid. We also have enrichments to promote academic success and enhance social-emotional well-being for all students, including those facing challenging circumstances.

We are committed to supporting students experiencing homelessness in accordance with the McKinney-Vento Act and have a dedicated McKinney Vento Act liaison. We ensure that any student under these provisions has immediate enrollment, even if they lack required documents, and provide transportation to and from school to maintain stability. Our designated McKinney-Vento liaison works closely with families to connect them with community resources, including housing assistance, healthcare, and academic support. Additionally, we offer tutoring and counseling services to address any educational gaps, ensuring that all students have equal access to a quality education regardless of their housing situation.

By integrating these approaches, our charter school aims to empower foster youth, students experiencing homelessness, and other vulnerable student groups to thrive academically and personally.

In conclusion, our charter school is committed to providing a supportive and inclusive environment where foster youth, students experiencing homelessness, and other vulnerable student groups receive personalized attention, comprehensive support services, and ongoing monitoring of their progress. By implementing targeted identification strategies, providing specialized supports, and maintaining rigorous progress monitoring practices, we aim to empower every student to achieve academic success and thrive personally.

Students with Disabilities

The FSDRL contains provisions necessary to address matters related to students with disabilities including special education and other federal requirements.

1.28: HOW THE CHARTER SCHOOL WILL SHARE PROMISING PRACTICES

CWC Mar Vista is deeply committed to its mission of creating an inclusive, high-achieving learning environment that reflects and serves the diverse community of Los Angeles. Central to this mission is a belief in collective growth and impact—not only within our own campus, but across schools that serve similar student populations and grade levels.

To that end, CWC Mar Vista will share its most promising practices in the following ways:

1. Cross-Campus Collaboration Within the CWC Network

CWC Mar Vista will maintain close ties with other CWC schools across Los Angeles and the broader national network. Through regularly scheduled network-wide convenings, instructionally focused leader sessions, and principal/teacher collaboration sessions, we will share best practices in project-based learning, social-emotional development, culturally responsive instruction, and inclusion strategies. These forums are designed to foster alignment, innovation, and shared continuous improvement across CWC campuses.

2. Teacher Leadership and Peer Learning

Teacher leaders as part of the Instructional Leadership Team at CWC Mar Vista and those at CWC sister schools will facilitate cycles of improvement through shared walkthroughs, data analysis, and PD planning across grade levels and content areas within the CWC network. The work of these teacher leaders within the Instructional Leadership Team will provide a platform to examine student work, discuss instructional strategies, and co-develop effective interventions based on shared data, learnings from which then can be shared across schools during network convenings.

3. Resource and Curriculum Sharing

We will collaborate with the CWC network to publish and share high-impact resources—such as unit plans, assessment tools, family engagement models, and DEI frameworks—on shared digital platforms. These will be made available not only to other CWC schools but to partner schools outside the network that serve similar demographics.

Through these intentional strategies, CWC Mar Vista will act as a bridge between innovation and impact, helping to elevate not only our own students but also contributing to the broader movement toward equitable, student-centered public education across Los Angeles.

Element 2 – Measurable Pupil Outcomes and Element 3 – Method by which Pupil Progress Toward Outcomes will be Measured

“The measurable pupil outcomes identified for use by the charter school. “Pupil outcomes,” for purposes of this part, means the extent to which all pupils of the school demonstrate that they have attained the skills, knowledge, and attitudes specified as goals in the school’s educational program. Pupil outcomes shall include outcomes that address increases in pupil academic achievement both schoolwide and for all pupil subgroups served by the charter school, as that term is defined in subdivision (a) of Section 52052. The pupil outcomes shall align with the state priorities, as described in subdivision (d) of Section 52060, that apply for the grade levels served by the charter school.” (Ed. Code § 47605(c)(5)(B).)

“The method by which pupil progress in meeting those pupil outcomes is to be measured. To the extent practicable, the method for measuring pupil outcomes for state priorities shall be consistent with the way information is reported on a school accountability report card.” (Ed. Code § 47605(c)(5)(C).)

MEASURABLE GOALS OF THE EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM

Charter School shall meet all statewide content and performance standards and targets. (Ed. Code §§ 47605(d)(1), 60605.)

Charter School shall comply with all applicable laws and regulations related to AB 97 (2013) (Local Control Funding Formula) and AB 484 (2013), as they may be amended from time to time, including all requirements pertaining to pupil outcomes.

STANDARDIZED TESTING

Charter School agrees to comply with state requirements for participation and administration of all state-mandated tests, including computer-based assessments. Charter School shall submit and maintain complete, accurate, and up-to-date California Longitudinal Pupil Achievement Data System (CALPADS) data in accordance with the requirements of California Code of Regulations, title 5, section 861. Charter School hereby grants authority to the State of California to provide a copy of all test results directly to the District as well as Charter School. Upon request, Charter School shall submit, in the requested format (e.g., CD), a copy of the results of all state-mandated tests to the District.

2.1: MEASURABLE GOALS OF THE EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM

See LCFF table in Element 1.

2.2-2.4: MEASURABLE PUPIL OUTCOMES: SUMMATIVE ASSESSMENT PERFORMANCE TARGETS AND OTHER PERFORMANCE TARGETS

See LCFF table in Element 1.

3.5: METHOD FOR MEASURING PUPIL PROGRESS TOWARD OUTCOMES: FORMATIVE ASSESSMENTS

The Principal works with CWC MV staff to ensure that all students have full access to the curriculum and that each subgroup in the Charter School is making meaningful progress toward meeting grade level standards and objectives, and that all teachers are properly credentialed. The Principal and faculty are accountable for academic achievement of the students at CWC Mar Vista. The Principal is ultimately responsible for meeting target goals, and is held accountable by the Executive Director, who is accountable to the Board of Directors.

To meet the accountability targets, school leaders guide CWC Mar Vista teachers in examining and analyzing pupil outcomes regularly. During the beginning of the school year, teachers participate in a professional development institute, which gives them the opportunity to analyze data from the previous school year and review other forms of data. When state testing data arrives, teachers review the data and reflect on their teaching methodologies. Teachers also engage in vertical articulation with one another. Throughout the school year, students are assessed regularly and student results are examined and discussed in grade level teams in order to determine if curriculum modifications are necessary.

VARIED AND AUTHENTIC INTERNAL ASSESSMENT

CWC Mar Vista defines assessment as the systematic and ongoing process of collecting, describing, and analyzing information about student progress and achievement in relation to curriculum expectations. We believe assessment serves a dual purpose: 1) to assess individual students or groups of students to note progress; and 2) to assess the quality of instruction to improve future learning. The data collected from assessments assists CWC Mar Vista in analyzing progress so that staff can modify and refine the teaching/learning cycle to better meet student needs.

CWC Mar Vista believes that assessment is vital to ongoing school success and will use multiple measures of assessment to provide a richer and more in-depth view of each student's progress. We use assessment data - both internal and verified - to evaluate the progress of the Charter School as a whole, drive instruction, create differentiated instructional programs for individual students, communicate with parents about their students' progress, and help empower students to self-reflect on their own learning.

At CWC Mar Vista, we believe that assessment is a valuable informational tool used to gather data about the students we serve. We will use both ongoing and periodic internal assessment tools to provide a balanced assessment approach. Teachers use a variety of strategies to provide a clear picture of student progress and how the instructional approach can be adjusted to increase student achievement. Our balanced assessment approach utilizes both formative and summative assessment strategies to monitor student progress and report on how students are meeting standards-based learning objectives. The following is a description of the assessment tools to be used:

1. NWEA MAP (Administered 3x/year; K-8th Grades Assessed): In the areas of Math and Reading, students take the NWEA MAP assessments. This assessment is CCSS aligned, nationally normed, and taken online (via student computers or tablets). Administered 3 times a year, the MAP tests adjust as a student works, generating assessment questions that get harder or easier depending on how each individual student fares. Therefore, one can determine not only if a student is at grade level but also how far below or above that child is. These features enable the timely collection and analysis of student data. At a leadership level, NWEA MAP assessments generate data reports and comparisons to see how students perform compared with national averages based on grade level and subject area. At the teacher level, data reports are broken down for each student so teachers can see what areas the students have mastered, which helps teachers align instruction specifically for what each student needs and is ready for at different points of the school year. Results are also reviewed by student race/ethnicity and student program (Free and Reduced Price Meal eligibility, English Learner designation, and Special Education services). Students will be expected to perform on or above grade level relative to the national average and to demonstrate growth that meets or exceeds the national average.

2. CURRICULUM-BASED READING AND WRITING ASSESSMENTS (End-of-unit assessments, K-8): CWC Mar Vista closely monitors student progress through the implementation of the new ELA curriculum, Fishtank, which integrates comprehensive assessments into each unit. These end-of-unit reading and writing assessments are specifically designed to align with State Standards, providing teachers with a clear, standards-based view of student achievement in key literacy areas. This approach allows educators to regularly evaluate how well students are meeting learning objectives and to identify areas where additional support may be needed. Additionally, the built-in assessments enable staff to report on student progress with concrete data, ensuring that instruction remains focused and targeted to meet the needs of all learners.
3. CURRICULUM-BASED PHONICS ASSESSMENTS (End-of-unit assessments, K-3 Assessed): CWC MV's systematic phonics program, Foundations provides Tier 1 end of unit assessments. These assessments allow us to measure progress towards the mastery goal (80% of each class reaches 80% mastery on unit assessments before moving on to the next unit). Through the aligned Tier 2 and Tier 3 programs for students who need further intervention, Foundations' Tier 2, Just Words and Wilson Reading System's programs also provide ongoing progress monitoring tools to assess student progress in an intervention setting.
4. mClass DIBELS (Administered 1-3x/year; K - 3 with potential expansion to upper grade levels): mCLASS DIBELS is a set of short, timed tests used to measure early literacy skills in students, such as phonemic awareness, alphabetic principle, and reading fluency. The goal is to identify students who might need additional help with reading and track their progress over time. During the benchmark assessments three times a year, we are specifically able to track students' progress. Specifically, these assessments help us measure the progress of students receiving reading intervention. We set a goal that 50% of students receiving intervention will advance one risk classification level by the end of the year, as measured by DIBELS EOY benchmarks. mCLASS DIBELS is also CWC MV's California-approved dyslexia screener.
5. CURRICULUM-BASED MATH SUMMATIVE ASSESSMENTS (End-of-unit assessments; GRADES K - 8): Illustrative Mathematics curriculum incorporates multiple assessment tools to ensure comprehensive coverage of grade-level CCSS. End-of-unit assessments, section checkpoints, and regular "cool downs" (exit tickets) are all integral components of this curriculum, offering teachers frequent and detailed insights into student understanding and mastery of mathematical concepts. These varied assessment methods allow educators to track progress across all key areas of mathematics, making it easier to identify strengths and address gaps in learning. This systematic approach ensures that instruction remains aligned with the CCSS, supporting continuous student growth and achievement.

6. UNIVERSAL SCREENER FOR NUMBER SENSE (“USNS” - Administered 2-3 times a year; GRADES K - 2 with possible expansion): The USNS math assessment is a tool used to evaluate students' math skills and understanding. It helps identify strengths and areas where students might need more help, often guiding instruction and support in the classroom. The USNS math assessment specifically evaluates various math skills such as number sense and place value, which are critical to all foundational mathematical concepts and accurate problem-solving abilities down the road. The USNS helps to identify how well students grasp these fundamental math skills and where they might need further instruction or practice. This tool is used to supplement Tier 1 math assessment data of all kinds and helps provide information for further differentiation, small group instruction and possible intervention.

7. INQUIRY UNITS PERFORMANCE-TASKS, RUBRICS & CHECKLISTS (End-of-unit assessments; GRADES TK - 8): With the guidance of the Principal and the Instructional team, grade level teams develop performance tasks that can be grade by rubrics and checklists that align to the goals and standards of any Inquiry unit. These tools provide ongoing data about students' progress towards meeting state and grade-level standards and incorporate additional learning goals for focal content within an Inquiry Unit that, oftentimes, has a science and/or social studies focus. Teachers refer to these assessment tools as they observe students and analyze student work. Students also will be guided in developing awareness of their own progress toward achieving standards mastery through on-going formal self-assessment, peer-assessment and informal conferences with their teachers.

8. OBSERVATION & DOCUMENTATION - Administered on an ongoing basis; GRADES TK - 8: Written observations of student learning are used to help teachers evaluate students as both individuals and as participants in a group setting. Teachers are guided in documenting student progress against criterion-referenced checklists and benchmarks that are derived from content standards. Documentation plays a role in assessing student learning in all areas of the curriculum.

Teachers use these assessment tools (along with others) to track individual student success and to give a profile of the overall success and development of achievement at the Charter School. School leaders then analyze this data to identify trends and address specific needs.

Teachers are guided by Principal-designated professional development programs to specifically address the needs of learners who are not making adequate progress. Students who show a continued lack of progress toward meeting grade-level standards are referred to resources mentioned in Element 1.

USING STANDARDIZED TEST SCORES IN MEASURING PUPIL PROGRESS

CWC Mar Vista believes that standardized tests provide only a part—albeit a key part—of the picture in determining student achievement. Our students take all standardized tests required by the state and participate in CAASPP testing starting in 3rd grade. These are the chief accountability measures in place from the state and federal government. CWC Mar Vista will comply with all changes to these testing requirements (e.g., additional grades taking additional portions of the test, etc.).

In addition to using standardized tests to evaluate the effectiveness of the instruction and educational program offered, CWC Mar Vista considers standardized test scores to provide a small, but important, window into the achievement levels of students. CWC Mar Vista intends to demonstrate progress on the aggregate results of standards-based reports. Further, this report and standardized test data will be disaggregated to show how sub-groups (e.g., EL vs. non-EL) perform.

- CAASPP: CAASPP is administered during the spring to all students in grades 3-8. This test is assumed to measure student progress in math and English language arts. CWC Mar Vista will comply with all changes to these testing requirements (e.g., additional grades, taking additional portions, etc.).
- THE CALIFORNIA ALTERNATE ASSESSMENTS ("CAA") for ELA and mathematics are given in grades three through eight and grade eleven. The CAAs are a part of the California Assessment of Student Performance and Progress system. Only eligible students may participate in the administration of the CAAs. IEP teams "shall determine when a child with a significant cognitive disability shall participate in an alternate assessment aligned with the alternate academic achievement standards." (Title 1, Part A, Subpart 1, Sec. 1111(b)(2)(D)(ii)(I)—Every Student Succeeds Act, 2015) CAAs items are aligned with alternate achievement standards, which are linked with the Common Core State Standards for students with significant cognitive disabilities. The goals of the CAAs are to ensure that students with significant cognitive disabilities achieve increasingly higher academic outcomes and leave high school ready for postsecondary options.
- ELPAC: The summative ELPAC is administered to English Learners until they are reclassified. The initial ELPAC is administered to newly enrolled students based on the responses to the Home Language Survey in the enrollment packet.
- FITNESSGRAM/ PFT: The Fitnessgram, California's State testing in physical fitness, is scheduled and adopted as a measurement of physical fitness for students in grades 5 and 7. CWC Mar Vista will meet all statewide standards and conduct pupil assessments required pursuant to Education Code Section 60605, and any other statewide standards authorized in statute.

3.6: DATA ANALYSIS AND REPORTING

CWC Mar Vista currently utilizes a Student Information System ("SIS"), Aeries, and several data warehouse and visualizations systems called Tableau and Forefront, all of which capture data and create a variety of reports and analyses on topics such as student achievement, student subgroup, grade-level, and classroom data, tailored to the needs of our school and our instructional methodologies. We will continue to ensure that our SIS integrates with District-systems and/or reporting requirements.

Student performance data is utilized by all members of the CWC Mar Vista community. Guided by the Executive Director (who is held accountable by the Board of Directors), the Principal is responsible for monitoring student progress towards identified goals and adjusting the academic program to meet those goals as needed. The Principal and CWC Mar Vista staff work together to implement an effective reporting system to share data with students, families, and the community. Data are collected, analyzed and reviewed to monitor student progress toward meeting grade-level standards and to inform instructional practice. The following are ways in which data are utilized and shared:

SCHOOL-LEVEL DATA

School-level data is used to inform school-wide decisions by the Board of Directors, Executive Director, the Principal and/or the regionally Instructional and school site teams. Identifiable trends in student performance data form the basis for key leadership decisions, including changes to the academic program, resource allocation, Professional Development focus areas, and targeted instructional coaching for teachers. A variety of school-level data, such as NWEA, is shared with the community and Board of Directors. This verified data, in accordance with AB1505, is shared one to two times per year reporting year-over-year student progress. This data includes both outright achievement and growth data for all subgroups, which can be tracked from the beginning of the year to the end of the year and across multiple years as well. CWC Mar Vista reports on mandated state testing and sub-group data (FRPM, EL, Latino, African American, etc.). CWC Mar Vista uses the School Accountability Report Card ("SARC") to share other relevant data, where appropriate. Within professional development that occurs throughout the year, the Principal engages their staff in ongoing reflection on data. For example, that might include a whole staff session to look at NWEA data or to analyze CAASPP or curriculum-based trends.

CLASS-LEVEL DATA

Class-level data is used to inform decisions within the classroom and across the Charter School, as needed. Examples of class-level data that is regularly used include but are not limited to DIBELS, Fishtank end-of-unit assessments, Foundations end-unit assessments, and Illustrative Math end-of-unit assessments.

An example of how CWC Mar Vista might use class-level data is that, at the start of each school year, each returning teacher meets with the teachers in the next grade and the preceding grade to discuss students from the previous school year. This might look like a first grade teacher sitting with a kindergarten teacher to learn more about the students entering their new class. Information such as overall student progress, specific improvements or challenges, and successful approaches will be shared. After this meeting, the first grade teacher sits with a second grade teacher to complete the same process. These meetings allow specific data to be shared about each student in the grade. Teachers use the information gathered during these conversations, along with the pre-assessments given at the beginning of the year, to design their instruction.

In partnership with school leaders, teachers reflect on the progress each child is making and the appropriateness of the educational program being offered. Through this work, they will be coached to modify instructional approaches, differentiate or potentially tag a student for additional support and intervention when possible. As a result of these meetings, teachers may choose to re-teach units and skills, condense upcoming lessons, restructure student grouping or pull students for an intervention cycle. Teachers may also use the data to realign their curriculum or revise their pedagogical techniques for future units and/or school years.

School leaders analyze assessment data regularly. Gaps in student knowledge become the focus of teacher development in the classroom and help determine appropriate professional development experiences. The staff are trained on how to interpret both formative and standardized test data and will be engaged in critical analysis of all assessment data in real-time – including that created and derived from their classroom activities -- in order to determine how best to address any performance deficiencies or negative data trends, both for groups of students as well as individual children. Data analysis is yet another part of our strategy to ensure differentiated and meaningful instruction for all of our students, based on their individual needs.

INDIVIDUAL STUDENT DATA

Individual student data (such as a progress report) is used to provide families, teachers and students with detailed information about each student's achievement. In addition to tracking student progress toward grade level standards, it can be used for in-depth analysis of student strengths and areas of concern. When necessary, this analysis is used to roster students into intervention programs that meet student needs. It may be used to help inform supplemental remedial instruction, special education evaluations, or more challenging enrichment.

Progress reports/report cards, based on State Standards and school-generated goals and objectives, are issued at least twice each year for elementary grades TK-5 and every trimester for grades 6-8. The progress report explains both learning and behavioral objectives and marks the student's progress toward mastery of the expectations. These reports can also be used as part of teacher-parent conferences.

The role and use of data to inform stakeholders of curriculum, instruction, tiered intervention and enrichment, as well as improve the charter school's educational program and operations by the staff, school site leadership, executive leadership, and governing board, and general school performance:

Results from our assessment activities are collected and analyzed continuously in order to drive program improvement across all facets of the Charter School, including curriculum, instruction, tiered intervention and enrichment.

We regularly report on and distribute information about school progress to the Charter School community including, but not limited to, summary data on the following key outcomes and milestones:

- Across instructional staff at the regional and school level (3x/year): Student progress toward the Charter School's goals and outcomes from assessment instruments and techniques as described in this section;
- Across Executive Leadership (weekly): The Organization Leadership team includes the Executive Director, Head of Instruction, Head of Operations & Finance, and Head of Schools. This team meets weekly, if not more often, to cross-share critical data points from each individual school and broadly as a network. This includes, but is not limited to, student performance data (academic achievement, subgroup performance, intervention and support patterns), operational and compliance reporting information (such as authorizer oversight reports, enrollment updates, and critical staffing needs/updates), strategic planning (including status points of progress towards goals), community and stakeholder engagement (such as robust discussion on feedback received from staff, family, and/or community members), etc.
- With Board Members (3x/year): Major Board decisions and policies are driven by quantitative and qualitative data;
- With Family Members (approximately monthly): During school site council meetings, families receive overviews of major reports such as SARC and LCAPs (which include share-out of subgroup data and opportunity for feedback on goal development and additional school programming), as well as summaries of annual parent satisfaction surveys;
- External Partners (approximately monthly): Regularly sharing major school community accomplishments, including fundraising efforts, facility developments, community partnerships and more help further embed CWC SL into our community and deepen relationships with our partners.

- Authorizers (as needed): Information about the Charter School's educational program, as well as its administrative, legal, and governance operations, is collected for several compliance purposes, as well as for relationship building. CWC SL seeks to be transparent in operation and collaborative with any partnering entity.

3.7: GRADING, PROGRESS REPORTING, AND PROMOTION/RETENTION

In elementary school grades, CWC Mar Vista uses a developmental progress report card twice a year to share progress with students' caregivers. Caregivers are given information regarding their child's English language arts proficiency, standards-aligned skills to work on and skills demonstrated in mathematics, and inquiry (science, and social studies). Additionally, the teacher reports on the child's social emotional development. The report also contains a short narrative component, where teachers further discuss student progress toward meeting grade-level standards and goals.

In middle school grades, a standards-based grading system is used to complete report cards every trimester. Student-led conferences with the student, their caregivers and their advisor are carried out during the year.

A core tenet of standards-based grading is that a student grade measures their progress towards skills (called Learning Targets). Students know their learning targets and spend time reflecting on their own progress using teacher-created rubrics. In this system, grades are viewed as a tool to help students learn more. Students are given MULTIPLE opportunities to demonstrate that they comprehend a learning target. Students receive a rubric grade from 1-4:

- 1 - Below Basic Comprehension (With our students we say, "Just Getting Started!")
- 2 - Basic Comprehension (With our students we say, "On My Way")
- 3 - Proficient (With our students we say, "Getting the Hang of It")
- 4 - Advanced (With our students we say, "I get it! I really do!")

It is generally understood that students will not score a 4 on their first encounter with a learning target which is the beauty of standards-based grading. It gives students explicit direction for their growth and progress. We will continue to celebrate academic achievement by celebrating the growth of students.

PROMOTION/RETENTION POLICY

CWC Mar Vista staff work hard and are dedicated to all students making suitable progress and achieving a level of proficiency that enables them to be promoted to the next grade level. However, there are cases when students do not achieve the desired level of proficiency (academically, socially and/or emotionally) and should be retained at the same grade level. In such cases, school leaders will hold a conference with the child's parent or guardian in early spring to present information on the student's progress/proficiency in all areas and recommendations for retention.

On or before May 31, the Charter School Principal shall send written notification of the final decision to retain a student. While family input is an important part of the decision process, the Charter School Principal will make the determination on student retention.

If a caregiver wishes to appeal the Charter School Principal's decision for promotion or retention, a family may bring their appeal to the Head of Schools who will make a final determination. The caregiver must file an appeal within ten (10) school days of the date on the written notice of retention.

4.2: BOARD OF DIRECTORS COMPOSITION AND MEMBER SELECTION

BOARD COMPOSITION

The Board of Directors, per the organization's bylaws, has between three (3) and thirteen (13) members. These members have a range of skills and expertise that they bring to the Board, including real estate, finance, fundraising, school leadership, instruction, strategic planning, legal and other skills. These skills help provide oversight of critical areas of need for the organization and also provide important perspectives during Board deliberations to ensure that a broad range of perspectives and best practices are taken into consideration. The Board has currently appointed several parent representatives to ensure that CWC Mar Vista maintains the parent perspective when making decisions.

MEMBER SELECTION

The process of selecting members of the CWC Los Angeles Board of Directors is described in the Bylaws of the organization. The current number of Board members in the bylaws is between three (3) and thirteen (13) members.

- Rotation of service terms: Board members serve a three-year term after an election by the Board.
- Process and potential considerations for determining a need to select/add board member:
 - The organization seeks to recruit an adequate number of committed members to reach quorum, provide a broad range of expertise, expand our circles of influence, and increase board sustainability. At the same time, it is not so large that board members lose their connection to the mission and goals of the Board and CWC LA. The Board will represent a cross section of Los Angeles and will include persons with expertise in business, nonprofits, and education. The Board will seek to attract a variety of individuals. The Board engages in a rigorous analysis of the skills needed on the Board (such as finance, strategic planning, fundraising, legal, policy, instruction, compliance and other areas) when engaging in a search for new members.
 - Specific Board Needs:
 - Legal and financial services
 - Management/leadership experience including scaling organizations
 - Real estate expertise
 - Knowledge of charter schools/education/politics
 - Marketing/PR experience
 - HR, Talent, and Recruiting
 - School Leadership
 - DEIB experience
- Selection criteria and process: CWC LA's Board recruiting process includes the following steps:
 - Cultivation of the prospective board member. Ensure alignment between the needs and expectations of Citizens of the World Charter Schools Los Angeles and the needs and expectations of the individual. This will be achieved by:
 - Investing candidates in the mission and work of CWC
 - Setting expectations for prospective Board members
 - Creating a vision for how Board membership meets the needs of both the individual and the organization
 - Board or staff member who knows the prospect will introduce the prospect to

- o the Executive Director
- o Board reviews the nomination and discusses prospect based on their desire to serve and needs of the board
- o Executive Director, Board Chair and members of Board cultivate prospective board members:
- o Deliver information concerning the history and future plans of CWC LA and annual report.
- o Prospective board member visits one or more schools
- o Prospective board member meets with Executive Director
- o Prospective board member attends a board meeting
- o Prospective board member meets with Board Chair where requirements and responsibilities of board service are explained and agreed upon
- o Prospective board member meets with CEO of CWCCS.
- o Board Chair presents formal recommendation to the full board of CWC LA; Board votes on prospective candidate
- o Board Chair meets with prospective candidate and extends an offer to join the board.

Board members are selected, in consultation with the organization's sole statutory member, to provide specific expertise or perspectives to support the organization. Board membership is by appointment. As explained above, the Board has currently appointed several parent representatives to serve on the Board in order to provide a parent focus to the Board's work. When selecting Board members, the Board seeks a set of individuals who can bring significant expertise and for the parent representatives, those who can also bring a parent perspective voice to the Board. Several members of the Board (less than what would constitute a quorum at any given time) actively engage with candidates before bringing a final candidate to the Board for consideration and approval, subject to approval by the sole statutory member.

Please see the bylaws for additional information.

4.3 AND 4.4: GOVERNANCE PROCEDURES AND OPERATIONS

CWC Los Angeles holds approximately one regular board meeting each month. All Board meetings will be held in accordance with the Brown Act and Education Code Section 47604.1(c), and stakeholders and the public are welcome and encouraged to participate. The Board receives annual or every-two-years training in the Brown Act, conflicts of interest, and ethics (AB 2158). Agendas are posted on the CWC LA website and at the CWC Mar Vista school site, and an email announcement is also sent out to CWC Mar Vista parents and staff advertising each meeting. Activities of CWC Mar Vista will be addressed separately, when necessary, and there will be regular opportunities via public comment for stakeholders and the public to participate in the governance of CWC Mar Vista. The calendar of regular Board meetings will be established by the Board by the end of each fiscal year for the subsequent year and is also posted on the CWC LA website and CWC Mar Vista webpage.

Board decisions are made at meetings when a quorum is present (defined as a majority of directors then in office). Meetings by teleconference are permissible as long as all members of the Board can hear one another and the requirements of the Brown Act are followed, including: a quorum of the Board must be located within the physical boundaries of Los Angeles County; votes must be taken by roll call; meeting agendas are posted at all teleconference locations and each teleconference location is identified on the agenda; all teleconference locations must be accessible to the public; members of the public must be able to hear and be provided an opportunity to address the Board at each teleconference location; the agenda shall indicate that members of the public attending a meeting via teleconference do not need to give their name when entering the conference call.

In accordance with the principles of transparency and impartiality, board members are required to abstain from voting on any matter in which they have a direct or indirect personal or financial interest. This abstention is essential to ensure that decisions are made in the best interest of the organization, free from conflicts of interest. Members must disclose any potential conflicts before the vote and recuse themselves from participating in the discussion and decision-making process related to that matter. Failure to adhere to this policy may result in an automatic disqualification from voting on the relevant issue. This policy upholds the integrity of the Board's decision-making processes and maintains public trust in the governance of the organization.

Please see the bylaws for additional information, and note that the provisions of this charter are subject to change; should the bylaws be changed by the Board, they will be shared with the District. LAUSD/CSD will be consulted prior to making changes that impact an approved charter.

The purpose of the Principal's Councils is to provide advice and feedback to the Principal around day-to-day activities of the Charter School, to provide grass-roots level feedback on issues in a timely manner, and to provide input into the LCAP and annual update. The issues discussed with the Principal's Council will also be addressed to the full parent, teacher, or staff community, as appropriate. The Charter School shall also present a report on the annual update to the LCAP and the local control funding formula budget overview for parents on or before February 28 of each year as part of a nonconsent item at a regularly scheduled Board meeting.

The Principal endeavors to ensure that the meetings are open to, and inclusive of, all segments of the Charter School community. The Principal's Council serves as the School Site Council for CWC Mar Vista.

The Charter School effectively leverages its website as a dynamic platform to engage stakeholders by providing a wealth of interactive and up-to-date information. The site features a user-friendly interface with sections dedicated to students, parents, faculty, and the broader community. It includes real-time updates on board meetings, academic calendars, school events, and emergency notices, ensuring that all stakeholders stay informed. 7.1 AND 7.2: ACHIEVING RACIAL, ETHNIC, SPECIAL EDUCATION, AND ENGLISH LEARNERS BALANCE

A student population that reflects the demographics of LAUSD– and the remarkably diverse neighborhood we intend to serve – is integral to our mission. All CWC LA schools are committed to making diligent efforts to recruit students from a broad array of racial and ethnic, special education, and English Learner backgrounds so as to achieve a balance that is reflective of the general population residing within the territorial jurisdiction of LAUSD.

As shared above, the demographics of CWC Mar Vista largely reflect the demographics of the neighborhoods being served by LAUSD. CWC Mar Vista will maintain an accurate accounting of the ethnic and racial balance of students enrolled in the Charter School and the Charter School's efforts to achieve LAUSD's Racial and Ethnic Balance goal of a 70:30 or 60:40 ratio.

OUTREACH PLAN: MEANS OF RECRUITING A DIVERSE STUDENT BODY TO CWC MAR VISTA

CWC Mar Vista builds upon the successful model of community partnerships and outreach that the Charter School has developed in its initial term, when the Charter School successfully targeted and enrolled a student population that reflects the community at large. In addition, CWC Mar Vista provides an admission preference for students who qualify for Free or Reduced Price Meal, enabling the Charter School to ensure a balance of student socioeconomic status.

However, we must still be intentional and proactive in our outreach so that our Charter School closely approximates the demographic of the local community. We will build on the Charter School's history in the Mar Vista community, which has consisted of working with leaders of local community organizations, preschool programs, religious organizations, and neighborhood leaders who are committed to assisting us promote our school to area families, particularly those who are traditionally most in need.

Our website is a valuable source of information and outreach for our school. Activities will include, for example, participating in community events. Our staff and volunteers will continue to participate in the following key activities:

- A. Meet with the leadership of local preschools, daycare centers, businesses, service and community organizations in order to:
 1. Inform leaders and their constituents/clients/acquaintances of the Charter School's mission, programs, services;
 2. Hear and address the needs, questions and concerns of all community members;
 3. Foster an ongoing mutually beneficial relationship with other organizations that are serving the community.
- B. Hold informational/orientation sessions for parents and community members at local preschools, religious centers, community centers, parks, libraries and more to reach out to families of young children and inform them about CWC Mar Vista's mission and operations.
- C. Ensure placement of CWC Mar Vista informational brochures and promotional fliers about school/community events in local preschools, religious facilities, libraries, businesses, and community organizations.
- D. Form mutually-beneficial partnerships with organizations in our area to offer referrals and services to the children and families we serve.

CWC Mar Vista will work diligently to ensure that staff conduct these efforts with appropriate language fluency for the target audience at each event/location. We have already been conducting outreach in two languages (Spanish, English) and will continue to evaluate additional translation needs.

In addition to utilizing the existing structures of organizations that serve the community, Charter School staff and volunteers will publicize the Charter School to potential parents using the following means:

- INTERNET Our website will serve as a central hub for Charter School information. We will use Search Engine Optimization, search engine Marketing, email drip campaigns, and other virtual communities that will be contacted and/or created.
- BRANDING The Charter School logo will be used to identify the Charter School and will use its reasonable best efforts to ensure that the logo is prominently displayed on all materials distributed in conjunction with the Charter School
- COMMUNITY EVENTS/FAIRS/FESTIVALS: Local events including fairs, festivals, farmers markets, and other local events
- MULTILINGUAL PARK INFORMATION SESSIONS: Throughout the coming months, and prior to the lottery each spring, Charter School representatives will hold multilingual events at local parks and/or playgrounds. Charter School representatives will advertise these events via various avenues prior to each event, and then create a celebration-like atmosphere with food, decorations to draw attention, organized activities for kids, and more. Charter School representatives will speak with potential parents about the Charter School, and will hand out Charter School brochures/registration information
- MEET AND GREET/TOWN HALL MEETINGS: We intend to have larger events to have a dialogue with interested parents, and expand to larger meetings as our outreach engages with more and more of the community. We view these meetings as crucial forums for parents to ask questions of, and offer guidance to, staff and board members

Our staff are active members of the communities we serve, and actively seek and engage the community for new organizations and businesses with which to form relationships, and serve as the lead in conducting outreach with new contacts and forming new partnerships. Our Principals, with the support of the CWC LA regional support team, hold primary responsibility for planning orientation and outreach meetings and events with prospective families.

OUTREACH LANGUAGES

Outreach will be conducted primarily in English, Spanish and Korean, though we will continue to assess the need to provide outreach in additional languages. As noted previously, our target community is remarkably diverse and includes a multitude of nationalities.

ACHIEVING RACIAL AND ETHNIC, SPECIAL EDUCATION, AND ENGLISH LEARNER BALANCE

As noted throughout this document, our mission is based on a concept of creating a truly diverse Charter School that reflects the neighborhood it serves, and the broader demographics of Los Angeles. As detailed extensively in Element 1, our target community is one of the most diverse areas of this city. As "Citizens of the World" we seek to embrace this diversity in our student enrollment and ensure a multicultural environment rich with unique experiences for our students to learn from one another. CWC Mar Vista will continuously monitor our progress toward achieving diversity, including a racial and ethnic, special education, and English Learner balance, over the course of the charter term.

A sample of the activities CWC Mar Vista intends to conduct in the target area is detailed in below:

General Timeline	Activity
Every month, beginning in October	Outreach and information sessions held on campus with prospective parents to explain the vision and mission of CWC Mar Vista.
November and April	CWC Mar Vista staff and parent volunteers distribute fliers to local organizations, daycare centers, preschools, and other community centers in the targeted geography area.
Every month, beginning in September	School tours are provided on a frequent basis to prospective families who are interested in learning more about CWC Mar Vista.
Every month, beginning in September	CWC Mar Vista sends fliers to other CWC Los Angeles schools to distribute to their parents to share with their network/community.
November through June	Presentations to community daycare, preschool, and Head Start locations in the targeted geography for prospective parents.
September through July (weekly)	Outreach efforts via canvassing and door-knocking in the local geographic community.
November and April	CWC Mar Vista staff and volunteers conduct outreach to community newspapers (circulated and online) and popular blogs.

To cultivate a student population that truly reflects the diversity of Los Angeles and our neighborhood, including English Learners, RFEP, and students with special needs, CWC LA will implement targeted strategies designed to engage these communities. CWC LA will ensure that all communications, including enrollment materials and school information, are translated into appropriate languages to reach non-English-speaking families effectively. The Charter School will actively promote its inclusive programs and support systems, highlighting the comprehensive resources available for students of all backgrounds, including those with special needs and varying abilities. As a dedicated community partner, CWC LA is committed to not only attracting but also retaining a diverse pool of educators whose experiences and backgrounds mirror the rich diversity found within LAUSD. This approach will help foster a school environment that is inclusive, equitable, and representative of the broader community it serves.

Charter School shall not discourage a student from enrolling or seeking to enroll in the Charter School, nor encourage a current student from disenrolling, for any reason, including, but not limited to, the student's academic performance, nationality, race, ethnicity, or sexual orientation or because the student is a student with disabilities, academically low achieving, an English learner, neglected or delinquent, homeless, economically disadvantaged, or a foster youth. If Charter School operates multiple school sites, this information shall be disaggregated by school site. (Ed. Code § 221.9.)

8.1: POLICIES AND PROCEDURES FOR ADMISSION AND/OR ENROLLMENT

The Charter School shall admit all pupils who wish to attend the Charter School. No test or assessment shall be administered to students prior to acceptance and enrollment into the Charter School. The Charter School will comply with all laws establishing minimum and maximum age for public school attendance in charter schools. Admission, except in the case of a public random drawing, shall not be determined by the place of residence of the pupil or their parent or legal guardian within the state. In accordance with Education Code Sections 49011 and 47605(e)(2)(B)(iv), admission preferences shall not require mandatory parental volunteer hours as a criterion for admission or continued enrollment.

In accordance with Education Code Section 47605(e)(4)(A), the Charter School shall not discourage a pupil from enrolling or seeking to enroll in the charter school for any reason, including, but not limited to, academic performance of the pupil or because the pupil exhibits any of the characteristics described in Education Code Section 47605(e)(2)(B)(iii), including pupils with disabilities, academically low-achieving pupils, English learners, neglected or delinquent pupils, homeless pupils, or pupils who are economically disadvantaged, as determined by eligibility for any free or reduced-price meal program, foster youth, or pupils based on nationality, race, ethnicity, or sexual orientation. Similarly, in accordance with Section 47605(e)(4)(C), the Charter School shall not encourage a pupil currently attending the Charter School to disenroll from the Charter School or transfer to another school for any reason, including, but not limited to the academic performance of the pupil or because the pupil exhibits any of the characteristics described in Education Code Section 47605(e)(2)(B)(iii), as listed above.

8.2: STUDENT RECRUITMENT

CWC Mar Vista will actively recruit a socio-economically and ethnically diverse student population from the District and surrounding areas who are committed to the Charter School's educational philosophy and instructional practices. As detailed in Element 7, our Outreach Plan includes targeted efforts to recruit diverse students, including those who are at risk of low achievement, students with individualized educational plans, and economically disadvantaged students. Our child-centered approach to education will be particularly impactful for these children.

Furthermore, our management structure is intentionally designed to ensure that our Principal is able to focus on the education of a diverse student body, including students who require additional support to ensure they are able to succeed in and outside of the classroom.

8.3 AND 8.4: LOTTERY PREFERENCES AND PROCEDURES

PREFERENCES IN ADMISSION

Applications will be accepted during a publicly advertised open enrollment period each year from October through February or March unless notice is publicly provided to the community with a different timeline for enrollment in the following school year.

Following the open enrollment period each year, applications shall be counted to determine whether any grade level has received more applications than availability. In the event that this happens, the Charter School will hold a public random drawing to determine admission for the impacted grade level, with the exception of existing students, who are guaranteed admission in the following school year.

Admission preferences shall be applied by grouping students who completed lottery interest forms into grade levels and preference categories in the following order:

1. Students residing with the Los Angeles Unified School District.
2. Siblings of students currently enrolled in the Charter School. Siblings are defined as any two students who share a parent/ legal guardian. (Legal documentation may be required.)
3. Children of the Founding Parents of CWC Mar Vista, consistent with LAUSD's Founding Parent/Founders Preference policy, and not to exceed 10% of the Charter School's enrollment.
4. Students who qualify for Free or Reduced Price Meals.²⁵
5. Children of CWC Mar Vista employees (excluding those in contract/temporary/substitute positions) and CWC LA Board of Directors members, not to exceed 10% of the total students admitted each year at CWC Mar Vista.

The Charter School and the District agree to adhere to the requirements related to admission preferences as set forth in Education Code Section 47605(e)(2)(B)(i)-(iv).

The CWC Mar Vista Principal will take all necessary efforts to ensure lottery procedures are fairly executed. Lottery spaces are pulled in order of grade level by the designated lottery official (appointed by the Executive Director). Separate lotteries shall be conducted for each grade in which there are fewer vacancies than pupils interested in attending. All lotteries shall take place on the same day in a single location. Lotteries will be conducted in ascending order beginning with the lowest applicable grade level. There is no weighted priority assigned to the preference categories; rather, within each grade level, students will be drawn from pools beginning with all applicants who qualify for the first preference category, and shall continue with that preference category until all vacancies within that grade level have been filled. If there are more students in a preference category than there are spaces available, a random drawing will be held from within that preference category until all available spaces are filled. If all students from the preference category have been selected and there are remaining spaces available in that grade level, students from the second preference category will be drawn in the lottery, and the drawing shall continue until all spaces are filled and preference categories are exhausted in the order provided above.

LOTTERY TIMELINES

The Charter School will designate an application window and deadline for consideration for the public random drawing in February, unless notice is publicly provided to the community regarding a different time frame. If at the end of the open application window at the end of February, there are more applicants than capacity at any grade level, admission, except for existing pupils, will be determined by public random drawing ("lottery").

Following the lottery, parents of students who are offered spots will be notified by phone call, via digital platform (currently, SchoolMint), text and/or email by either a member of the enrollment team who manages the lottery system, or by member(s) of the Charter School responsible for managing outreach to families within 24 hours.

Depending on the date of the lottery, the time period between when spots are offered to the initial pool and when they need to accept and request an enrollment packet, will be at least five days from the lottery, but may be longer in the event our lottery is held prior to other area schools' lotteries and private school admission notifications.

The enrollment packet must be returned either electronically or via hard copy by the student's parent or guardian within the deadline given by the Charter School (at least two weeks after the lottery). The Principal shall coordinate the process and Charter School staff will handle notifications and processing of enrollment materials.

Independent observers will be welcomed at all lotteries - information regarding the lottery is always posted on our website or shared when additional information is requested in person.

LOCATION OF LOTTERY

The location of the lottery will be arranged to ensure maximum parent participation. Ideally the lottery would take place virtually for maximum accessibility.

DATE AND TIME OF LOTTERY

The Charter School will designate an open enrollment period from the fall (approximately October) through the lottery date at the end of February. The lottery date is designed to maximize applications and attendance and is set based on a variety of factors, including school vacation schedules, private school application deadlines and response timeframes, other charter school lotteries, logistics at the school site, and other factors. The lottery date is typically in late February or early March, and can vary slightly based on the factors named above. We typically will hold the lottery in the evening so that parents who work during the day are able to attend. Attendance by parents is not mandatory, only encouraged.

At the lottery, the Executive Director or designee will draw names for each grade in which there are more applicants than spaces available. The Principal or designee will be present to ensure fair and accurate implementation of the lottery procedures. Students will be assigned a number corresponding to the number of enrollment slots. Once all admission slots have been filled, remaining students will be added to the waitlist in the order in which they were randomly drawn. Records will be kept on file at the Charter School documenting the fair execution of the lottery, such as documentation of the number of open seats and electronic records contained in CWC Mar Vista's lottery management system, which includes the information contained on the CWC Mar Vista lottery form and information regarding steps in the lottery process. Lottery results will also be made available on the website following the lottery.

FAIR EXECUTION OF LOTTERY PROCEDURES

At all times, our enrollment and lottery process will be transparent. Parents will be encouraged to attend the virtual or in-person public drawing. The Charter School's policies and procedures regarding enrollment will be clearly publicized in the application instructions, the CWC Mar Vista Family Handbook, on our website, and the Charter School's bulletin board prior to the lottery. Information about the lottery will be posted on the Charter School's website, will be posted at the Charter School site, included in public notices and flyers posted in the community and will be available by calling the Charter School. In order to document the fair execution of the lottery, the Regional Support Office and CWC Mar Vista Principal will maintain all forms for all students who participated in the lottery for one year, as well as the documentation of the order of names selected.

WAITLISTS

During the same public random drawing, once capacity is reached, the remaining names will be placed on a waiting list in the order drawn. If vacancies occur during the school year, the vacancies will be filled according to the waiting list.

Students who are not offered seats for the academic school year for which the lottery was held will remain on the waiting list until the end of that academic year unless otherwise requested by the parent to be taken off. The wait list is cleared at the end of the academic year for which the lottery was drawn. Therefore, the wait list does not carry over from one year to the next.

NOTIFICATION OF PARENTS ON WAITLIST

As spots become available, families on the waitlist will be notified via telephone, text and/or email by either a member of the Regional Support Office team who manages the lottery system, or by member(s) of CWC Mar Vista responsible for managing outreach to families in the order they appear on the waitlist and given at least three (3) days to respond to the request. If families are unreachable by phone and email, offers will be rescinded after 2 weeks.

PARENT COMMUNICATION

Lottery interest forms and enrollment forms will be available online at the Charter School's website or in the main office in several languages. Lottery interest forms may be completed via paper and handed into the office to a designated representative, or completed via an electronic system. Samples of our lottery interest and enrollment forms are included in our submission. An explanation of the application and enrollment process will be provided at outreach events, in written application materials, and on our website. Written materials regarding the application and enrollment process will be available on our website and in the Charter School office in multiple languages, as necessary. Public notice will be posted at the Charter School site and website regarding the date, time, and location of the public drawing, encouraging people to attend.

CWC Mar Vista will offer orientation meetings prior to the application deadline with the Principal or designated Charter School representative in order to discuss with interested parents the Charter School philosophy, mission, and instructional practices.

ENROLLMENT RECORDS

Only uninterested parties who are employees of the Charter School or who have signed confidentiality waivers will handle enrollment data. The data will be kept on file at the Charter School, or in an electronic system maintained by the Charter School, in the event of the need for an audit.

Element 9 – Annual Financial Audits

“The manner in which annual, independent financial audits shall be conducted, which shall employ generally accepted accounting principles, and the manner in which audit exceptions and deficiencies shall be resolved to the satisfaction of the chartering authority.” (Ed. Code § 47605(c)(5)(I).)

Charter School shall provide for an annual audit that shall be conducted in compliance with applicable state and federal laws, including but not limited to the requirements of Education Code sections 47605(b)(c)(I) and 41020 as they may be amended from time to time. Charter School shall ensure compliance with the requirements of section 41020(f)(2), which makes it unlawful, absent an Education Audits Appeal Panel waiver, for a public accounting firm to provide audit services to a local educational agency if the lead audit partner, or coordinating audit partner, having primary responsibility for the audit, or the audit partner responsible for reviewing the audit, has performed audit services for that local educational agency in each of the six previous years.

9.1 AND 9.2: ANNUAL AUDIT PROCEDURES: INDEPENDENT AUDIT

An annual independent financial audit of the books and records of the Charter School will be conducted as required by Education Code Sections 47605(c)(5)(l) and 47605(m). The books and records of the Charter School will be kept in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and as required by applicable law, and the audit will employ generally accepted accounting procedures. The audit shall be conducted in accordance with applicable provisions within the California Code of Regulations governing audits of charter schools, as published in the State Controller's K-12 Audit Guide. To the extent required under applicable federal law, the audit scope will be expanded to include items and processes specified in applicable Office of Management and Budget Circulars.

The Executive Director, Head of Operations & Finance and their designees are responsible for ensuring that the annual audit will be completed and forwarded to the District, the County Superintendent of Schools, the State Controller, and to the CDE by the 15th of December of each year. This includes, working with and providing to the independent auditor all necessary information to complete the audit, and ensuring that the independent auditor sends the completed audit to the required agencies by the statutory deadline.

The Executive Director, Head of Operations & Finance, Audit Committee and any other reviewers of the audit, will additionally review any audit exceptions, deficiencies, findings or material weaknesses to the Board of Directors. The Board will assign several members (less than quorum) to work with the Executive Director and the auditors to develop a comprehensive plan to note any audit exceptions, deficiencies, findings or material weaknesses and to prevent future occurrence. This action plan will be presented to the full Board for deliberation and approval in a reasonable timeframe depending on the seriousness of the deficiency, finding or material weakness. The Board will receive an update and full resolution within several months of the initiation of this process. The Board will submit a report to the District describing how the exceptions and deficiencies have been or will be resolved to the satisfaction of the District along with an anticipated timeline for the same. Audit appeals or requests for summary review shall be submitted to the Education Audit Appeals Panel ("EAAP") in accordance with applicable law.

The independent financial audit of the Charter School is a public record to be provided to the public upon request.

AUDITOR SELECTION AND OVERSIGHT

The Board shall have a standing Audit Committee composed of at least one Board Member. The Audit Committee shall not include any members of the Charter School staff, including the President and the Chief Financial Officer (whether or not such persons are unpaid volunteers). The Audit Committee shall be responsible for the preparation of the annual financial statements using generally accepted accounting principles, and the preparation of the annual audit of the corporation in accordance with Education Code Section 47605(m) and Government Auditing Standards issued by the Controller General of the United States. In addition, the Audit Committee shall recommend the retention and termination of the independent auditor and may negotiate the independent auditor's compensation, on behalf of the Board.

Based on the recommendations of the Executive Director, Head of Operations & Finance and Audit Committee, the Board of Directors will select an independent auditor on the California State Controller's list of auditors approved to conduct charter school audits and will oversee the annual audit. The Executive Director, Head of Operations & Finance, or their designees (such as a back-office provider hired by CWC Mar Vista and managed by the Executive Director) shall have responsibility for working with the auditor to complete the audit.

Element 10 – Suspension and Expulsion Procedures

“The procedures by which pupils can be suspended or expelled from the charter school for disciplinary reasons or otherwise involuntarily removed from the charter school for any reason. These procedures, at a minimum, shall include an explanation of how the charter school will comply with federal and state constitutional procedural and substantive due process requirements that is consistent with all of the following:

(i) For suspensions of fewer than 10 days, provide oral or written notice of the charges against the pupil and, if the pupil denies the charges, an explanation of the evidence that supports the charges and an opportunity for the pupil to present the pupil’s side of the story.

(ii) For suspensions of 10 days or more and all other expulsions for disciplinary reasons, both of the following:

(I) Provide timely, written notice of the charges against the pupil and an explanation of the pupil’s basic rights.

(II) Provide a hearing adjudicated by a neutral officer within a reasonable number of days at which the pupil has a fair opportunity to present testimony, evidence, and witnesses and confront and cross-examine adverse witnesses, and at which the pupil has the right to bring legal counsel or an advocate.

(iii) Contain a clear statement that no pupil shall be involuntarily removed by the charter school for any reason unless the parent or guardian of the pupil has been provided written notice of intent to remove the pupil no less than five schooldays before the effective date of the action. The written notice shall be in the native language of the pupil or the pupil’s parent or guardian or, if the pupil is a foster child or youth or a homeless child or youth, the pupil’s educational rights holder, and shall inform the pupil, the pupil’s parent or guardian, or the pupil’s educational rights holder of the right to initiate the procedures specified in clause (ii) before the effective date of the action. If the pupil’s parent, guardian, or educational rights holder initiates the procedures specified in clause (ii), the pupil shall remain enrolled and shall not be removed until the charter school issues a final decision. For purposes of this clause, “involuntarily removed” includes disenrolled, dismissed, transferred, or terminated, but does not include suspensions specified in clauses (i) and (ii).

(iv) A foster child’s educational rights holder, attorney, and county social worker and an Indian child’s tribal social worker and, if applicable, county social worker shall have the same rights a parent or guardian of a child has to receive a suspension notice, expulsion notice, manifestation determination notice, involuntary transfer notice, and other documents and related information.”
(Ed. Code § 47605(c)(5)(J).)

GENERAL PROVISIONS

Charter School shall provide due process for all students, including adequate and timely notice to parents/guardians and students of the grounds for all suspension and expulsion recommendations and decisions and their due process rights regarding suspension and expulsion, including rights of appeal.

Charter School shall ensure that its policies and procedures regarding suspension and expulsion will be periodically reviewed, and modified as necessary, in order to conform to changes in state law.

Charter School shall ensure that its staff is knowledgeable about and complies with the District’s Discipline Foundation Policy and/or current equivalent policy.. Charter School shall comply with the terms of the School Discipline Policy and School Climate Bill of Rights resolution adopted by the LAUSD Board of Education on May 6, 2013.

Charter School shall be responsible for the appropriate interim placement of students during and pending the completion of Charter School's student expulsion process and shall facilitate the post-expulsion placement of expelled students.

Charter School shall document and implement the alternatives to suspension and expulsion that Charter School utilizes in response to attendance-related concerns, e.g. truancy or excessive tardiness.

No student shall be involuntarily removed by the Charter School for any reason unless the parent or guardian of the student has been provided written notice of intent to remove the student no less than five schooldays before the effective date of the action. The written notice shall be in the native language of the student or the student's parent or guardian or, if the student is a foster child or youth or a homeless child or youth, the student's educational rights holder, and shall inform him or her of the basis for which the pupil is being involuntarily removed and his or her right to request a hearing to challenge the involuntary removal. If a parent, guardian, or educational rights holder requests a hearing, the Charter School shall utilize the same hearing procedures specified below for expulsions, before the effective date of the action to involuntarily remove the student. If the student's parent, guardian, or educational rights holder requests a hearing, the student shall remain enrolled and shall not be removed until the Charter School issues a final decision. As used herein,

"involuntarily removed" includes disenrolled, dismissed, transferred, or terminated, but does not include removals for misconduct which may be grounds for suspension or expulsion as enumerated in this section.

HOMEWORK TO SUSPENDED STUDENTS

For any student who has been suspended from school for two or more schooldays, Charter School shall provide student with the homework the student would otherwise have been assigned if requested by the student or student's parent/guardian. If a homework assignment is requested and turned in to the student's teacher either upon the student's return to school from suspension or within the timeframe originally prescribed by the teacher, whichever is later, but it is not graded before the end of the academic term, then that assignment shall not be included in the calculation of the pupil's overall grade in the class. (Ed. Code § 48913.5)

STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES

Charter School shall establish and implement policies and procedures to ensure full compliance with federal and state laws and regulations regarding the discipline of students with disabilities. If a student is recommended for expulsion and the student receives or is eligible for special education, pending the completion of the expulsion process, Charter School shall identify and provide special education programs and services at an appropriate interim educational placement determined in coordination with the LAUSD Division of Special Education.

In the case of a student who has an Individualized Education Program ("IEP"), or a student who has a Section 504 Plan, Charter School shall ensure that it follows correct disciplinary procedures to comply with the mandates of state and federal laws, including IDEA and section 504 of the Rehabilitation Plan of 1973. As set forth in the MOU regarding special education between the District and Charter School, an IEP team will meet to conduct a manifestation determination and to discuss alternative placement utilizing the District's Special Education Policies and Procedures Manual. Prior to recommending expulsion for a student with a Section 504 Plan, Charter School's administrator will convene a Link Determination meeting to ask the following two questions:

- A. Was the misconduct caused by, or directly and substantially related to the student's disability?
- B. Was the misconduct a direct result of the Charter School's failure to implement Section 504?

NOTIFICATION OF THE DISTRICT

Upon expelling any student, Charter School shall notify the Charter Schools Division by submitting an expulsion packet to the CSD immediately or as soon as practicable, which shall contain:

- Completed "Notification of Charter School Expulsion" [form available from the CSD website or office], including attachments as required on the form
- Documentation of the expulsion proceeding, including statement of specific facts supporting the expulsion and documentation that Charter School's policies and procedures were followed

- If the student is eligible for Section 504 accommodations, documentation that Charter School conducted a Link Determination meeting to address two questions:
 - A. Was the misconduct caused by, or directly and substantially related to the student's disability?
 - B. Was the misconduct a direct result of Charter School's failure to implement Section 504 Plan?

Notwithstanding and apart from the documentation sent to the Charter Schools Division as indicated above, if the student is a resident of a school district other than LAUSD, Charter School must notify the superintendent of the student's district of residence within 30 days of the expulsion. Additionally, upon request of the receiving school district, Charter School shall forward student records no later than 10 school days from the date of the request as stated in Education Code section 49068 (a) and (b).

OUTCOME DATA

Charter School shall gather and maintain all data related to placement, tracking, and monitoring of student suspensions, expulsions, involuntary removals, and reinstatements, and make such outcome data readily available to the District upon request.

REHABILITATION PLANS

Pupils who are expelled from Charter School shall be given a rehabilitation plan upon expulsion as developed by Charter School's governing board at the time of the expulsion order, which may include, but is not limited to, periodic review as well as assessment at the time of review for readmission. Terms of expulsion should be reasonable and fair with the weight of the expelling offense taken into consideration when determining the length of expulsion. Therefore, the rehabilitation plan should include a date not later than one (1) year from the date of expulsion when the pupil may apply to Charter School for readmission. Charter School shall inform parents in writing of its processes for reinstatement and applying for expungement of the expulsion record.

READMISSION

Charter School's governing board shall adopt rules establishing a procedure for the filing and processing of requests for readmission and the process for the required review of all expelled pupils for readmission. Upon completion of the readmission process, Charter School's governing board shall readmit the pupil, unless Charter School's governing board makes a finding that the pupil has not met the conditions of the rehabilitation plan or continues to pose a danger to campus safety. A description of the procedure shall be made available to the pupil and the pupil's parent or guardian at the time the expulsion order is entered and the decision of the governing board, including any related findings, must be provided to the pupil and the pupil's parent/guardian within a reasonable time.

REINSTATEMENT

Charter School's governing board shall adopt rules establishing a procedure for processing reinstatements, including the review of documents regarding the rehabilitation plan. Charter School is responsible for reinstating the student upon the conclusion of the expulsion period in a timely manner.

GUN-FREE SCHOOLS ACT

10.1: SCHOOL CLIMATE AND STUDENT DISCIPLINE SYSTEM

We believe that students learn best in an environment where there are clear expectations about behavioral and community norms that allow them to feel safe, cared for, and respected. In order to maintain a positive learning community and embrace CWC Mar Vista's mission of developing good global citizens, CWC Mar Vista will develop and maintain a comprehensive set of student discipline policies for actions by students that would violate Education Code Section 48900. CWC Mar Vista will follow the procedures as outlined herein rather than using the procedures in Education Code 48900, et seq, except where specifically indicated in this section. This policy, the Suspension and Expulsion Policy contained within Element 10 of the charter renewal, meets the intent and purpose of the Education Code and provides ample due process and clarity of procedure. Parents, teachers, and students will all be encouraged to offer input on the Charter School's disciplinary policies and implementation to ensure that all stakeholders are valued and respected.

Consistent with this Suspension and Expulsion Policy, it may be necessary to suspend or expel a student from regular classroom instruction. This shall serve as the Charter School's policy and procedures for student suspension, expulsion, and involuntary removal. LAUSD/CSD will be consulted if an amendment to the policy is needed. Charter School staff shall enforce disciplinary policies and procedures fairly and consistently among all students. This Policy and its Procedures will be printed and distributed annually as part of the CWC Mar Vista Family Handbook which will clearly describe discipline expectations. The contents in the Family Handbook are consistent with provisions in this petition, District's policy(ies)/School Climate Bill of Rights and all applicable law.

Corporal punishment shall not be used as a disciplinary measure against any student. Corporal punishment includes the willful infliction of or willfully causing the infliction of physical pain on a student. For purposes of this policy, corporal punishment does not include an employee's use of force that is reasonable and necessary to protect the employee, students, staff or other persons or to prevent damage to school property.

The Charter School administration shall ensure that students and their parents/guardians²⁶ are notified in writing upon enrollment of all discipline and involuntary removal policies and procedures. The notice shall state that this policy and its procedures are available upon request at the Executive Director's office.

Suspended or expelled students shall be excluded from all school and school-related activities unless otherwise agreed during the period of suspension or expulsion.

A student identified as an individual with disabilities or for whom the Charter School has a basis of knowledge of a suspected disability pursuant to the Individuals with Disabilities Education Improvement Act of 2004 ("IDEA") or who is qualified for services under Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 ("Section 504") is subject to the same grounds for suspension and expulsion and is accorded the same due process procedures applicable to general education students except when federal and state law requires additional or different procedures. The Charter School will follow all applicable federal and state laws including but not limited to the applicable provisions of the Education Code, when imposing any form of discipline on a student identified as an individual with disabilities or for whom the Charter School has a basis of knowledge of a suspected disability or who is otherwise qualified for such services or protections in according due process to such students.

No student shall be involuntarily removed by the Charter School for any reason unless the parent/guardian of the student has been provided written notice of intent to remove the student no less than five (5) school days before the effective date of the action. The written notice shall be in the native language of the student or the student's parent/guardian, and shall inform the student, and the student's parent/guardian, of the basis for which the student is being involuntarily removed and the student's parent/guardian's, right to request a hearing to challenge the involuntary removal. If a student's parent/ guardian requests a hearing, the Charter School shall utilize the same hearing procedures specified below for expulsions, before the effective date of the action to involuntarily remove the student. If the student's parent/ guardian requests a hearing, the student shall remain enrolled and shall not be removed until the Charter School issues a final decision. As used herein, "involuntarily removed" includes disenrolled, dismissed, transferred, or terminated, but does not include removals for misconduct which may be grounds for suspension or expulsion as enumerated below. Students may be involuntarily removed for reasons including, but not limited to, failure to comply with the terms of the student's independent study Master Agreement pursuant to Education Code Section 51747(c)(4).

²⁶The Charter School shall ensure that a homeless child or youth's educational rights holder; a foster child or youth's educational rights holder, attorney, and county social worker; and an Indian child's tribal social worker and, if applicable, county social worker have the same rights as a parent or guardian to receive a suspension notice, expulsion notice, manifestation determination notice, involuntary transfer notice, involuntary removal notice, and other documents and related information. For purposes of this Policy and its Procedures, the term "parent/guardian" shall include these parties.

Each enrolled family will have access to the CWC Mar Vista Family Handbook at the beginning of each school year. CWC Mar Vista provides the Family Handbook to all enrolled.

CWC Mar Vista implements a school climate and discipline plan consistent with the District's Discipline Foundation Policy and School Discipline Policy and School Climate Bill of Rights resolution. This section describes how this plan is implemented.

CWC Mar Vista's ultimate priority is to maintain the safety of all members of our community, both emotionally and physically. This goes for when inside classrooms, around our building, outside on the play yard or at any Charter School function. All members of the community play a role in implementing this plan. For example, teachers take a proactive approach: teaching conflict resolution skills, setting clear expectations, reinforcing positive behavior and redirecting misbehavior. In response to any sort of misbehavior that infringes on the safety of our community, we aim to have a discipline system that is focused on being rehabilitative rather than solely punitive.

SOCIAL-EMOTIONAL DEVELOPMENT AND STUDENT DISCIPLINE POLICY

CWC Mar Vista is committed to the building of a safe and nurturing environment for every child. It is the development of this mutually respectful and caring community that we know to be the crucial foundation for developing connected, capable, and courageous people who believe they really count. We do this work not only to cultivate students who can succeed academically, but also to create a new generation of world citizens that have invaluable leadership, problem-solving, and peacemaking skills.

With our focus on the social-emotional aspects of learning, CWC Mar Vista encourages students to become aware of their role as essential members of our learning community. As part of this, CWC Mar Vista's approach to Social-Emotional Learning and discipline are the crucial ingredients to the development of our larger positive culture. We proactively build this culture and engage students in this work as a key approach to working on students' misbehavior, discipline, and consequences.

With workshop-based classrooms and a positive approach to discipline, our goal is to encourage students to take charge of their lives and manage their own learning. As part of this, we expect that all students behave in a respectful way toward their teachers, all adults, their classmates, and the property of others. Additionally, students are treated and spoken to respectfully and with care. With a great focus on community, it is our goal that every student possesses a clear understanding of how their actions affect others. When a child acts in a thoughtless or harmful way, the entire community suffers. While our larger goal is to discourage misbehavior preemptively, when misbehavior does occur, we use missteps as opportunities for learning and reflection. Our philosophy towards social-emotional education and discipline will focus on responses to misbehavior that are educational and logical while always maintaining the emotional and physical safety of our whole community. CWC Mar Vista utilizes site-selected tools and curricula both within and outside the classroom to support social-emotional development, such as mindfulness, Calm Classroom, Connected and Respected, Cool Tools, Restorative Justice Practices, and/or Responsive Classroom, among other programs/ models/frameworks/curricula. These tools combined support a healthy school culture where all students can thrive.

Because of the above beliefs and philosophies, explicit time within CWC Mar Vista's weekly schedule is devoted to cultivating our school-wide social-emotional development skills and positive culture by teaching a curriculum that develops these skills and qualities of character within our students. Students are explicitly taught conflict resolution skills/strategies and anti-bullying tools. Time is devoted to social-emotional development for each student. Through a mixture of scaffolded activities, role-playing, direct instruction, and other authentic experiences, students will be given the opportunity to use and practice conflict resolution skills and strategies as they build community in their classroom and the Charter School. School and classroom practices like Class Meetings, Morning Meetings, Roots Advisory (Grades 6-8) and grade level meetings are all important elements to the building of our positive culture at CWC Mar Vista.

Students are encouraged to request assistance in resolving conflicts when needed. All CWC Mar Vista staff receive professional development related to conflict resolution, social-emotional development, community-building, and classroom management. Additionally, through Back to School Night and other parent meetings, all families have the opportunity to learn and develop skills related to conflict resolution. Just as we ask students to deal with conflict in respectful ways, we ask the same of all community members as well.

TIERED BEHAVIOR INTERVENTION

When appropriate, CWC Mar Vista attempts to provide learning opportunities for misbehavior rather than immediately suspending or expelling a student. If a student violates Charter School policies enumerated in the charter or Family Handbook that are not specified as grounds for mandatory suspension or expulsion, and the student is not a threat to the safety of themselves or others, CWC Mar Vista will first consider the interventions listed below as positive behavior supports, including but not limited to:

- Positive behavior support plan with tiered interventions that occur during the school day
- Positive reinforcement
- Goal-oriented behavior action plans and charts
- Working with a peer buddy to establish supportive partnerships
- Restorative Justice Circle
- Intensive role play with instruction embedded
- Time in a buddy classroom
- Development of a community repair plan (student redirected to accomplish a service project or goal at school that better our community)
- Engaging the SST process

If necessary, CWC Mar Vista's progressive discipline plan will move to implement the following responses to student behavior:

- Warning
- Loss of Privileges
- Notices to parents by phone/letter
- Referral to the Principal
- Request for Parent Conference
- SST Process

If these interventions are not appropriate given the nature of the offense or are unsuccessful, CWC Mar Vista will consider:

- Saturday School
- Suspension
- Expulsion

The Principal bears primary responsibility for overseeing all student discipline. Staff are trained on a regular basis on these interventions and next steps, and how to effectively manage them within each classroom.

ALTERNATIVE MEANS OF CORRECTION

For a student facing discipline for a discretionary offense listed below, the Principal or administrative designee may, whenever possible and practicable, provide alternatives to suspension or expulsion. These alternatives shall use a research-based framework with age-appropriate strategies that improve behavioral and academic outcomes while addressing and correcting the student's specific misbehavior.

The Charter School shall not suspend or expel any student based solely on the fact that they are truant, tardy, or otherwise absent from school activities. Violations of the Charter School's attendance expectations shall be addressed in accordance with Charter School Attendance and Truancy Policy and/or Independent Study Policy, as applicable.

No student may be suspended or expelled for willful defiance or disruption. Alternatively, Charter School staff may refer a student who engages in willful defiance and/or disruption to the Principal or designee for appropriate and timely in-school interventions or supports. Within five (5) business days, the Principal or designee shall:

- 1) Document the actions taken and save the document to the student's record
- 2) Inform the referring staff member what actions were taken and if none, the rationale used for not providing any appropriate or timely in-school interventions or supports.

For a student who has been suspended, or for whom other means of correction have been implemented, for an incident of racist bullying, harassment, or intimidation, the Charter School may require both the victim and perpetrator to engage in a restorative justice practice. The Charter School may also require perpetrators to engage in culturally sensitive programs that promote racial justice and equity and combat racism and ignorance.

The Charter School may utilize its Multi-Tiered System of Supports, which includes restorative justice practices, trauma-informed practices, social and emotional learning, and schoolwide positive behavior interventions and support, be used to help students gain critical social and emotional skills, receive support to help transform trauma-related responses, understand the impact of their actions, and develop meaningful methods for repairing harm to the school community.

CWC MV reviews student behavior data on a regular basis by reviewing the Charter School's annual Suspension Rate as reported on the California School Dashboard, as well as data related to behavior referrals and feedback from students, families, and staff.

10.2: IN-SCHOOL SUSPENSION

CWC Mar Vista offers in-school suspension as a means of reducing time missed from learning for behavioral issues. In-school suspension will only be utilized for discretionary suspendable offenses if the student poses no imminent danger or threat to the campus, students, or staff, or if an action to expel has not been initiated. The same procedures for out-of-school suspension (written notice, parent conference, days of suspension, suspension appeals) and the same grounds/offenses for out-of-school suspension, which are described in this charter will apply to in-school suspension. At CWC Mar Vista, in-school suspension is supervised by a credentialed teacher, or the Principal and conducted in a supervised suspension classroom that is separated from other students at the school site for the period of suspension in a separate classroom, building, or site for the student under suspension. This supervisor is responsible for gathering assignments from the student's teachers of record and providing a small group environment with close supervision and assistance in completing the work. To the extent that some work cannot be duplicated in the smaller environment, students are given an alternative assignment. If a student with an IEP participates in the in-school suspension program, CWC Mar Vista provides any required special education instruction or related services. Depending on the offense, the in-school suspension may also include a Restorative Justice Circle to repair harm that may have been caused. The maximum number of days for in-school suspensions will not exceed two (2) days per incident and five (5) days in one academic year. The Principal is authorized to suspend students and determines whether in-school suspension is appropriate.

10.3-10.6: GROUNDS FOR SUSPENSION AND EXPULSION

DISCIPLINARY JURISDICTION

A student may be suspended or expelled for prohibited misconduct if the act is related to school activity or school attendance occurring at any time including but not limited to: 1) while on Charter School grounds; 2) while going to or coming from Charter School; 3) during the lunch period, whether on or off the Charter School campus; or 4) during, going to, or coming from a Charter School-sponsored activity.

MANDATORY EXPULSION/SUSPENSION OFFENSES

It is a federal mandate that a school expel, for a period of not less than one (1) year (except on a case-by-case basis), any student who is determined to have brought a firearm to school.

The Principal or designee must immediately suspend and recommend expulsion of any student at CWC Mar Vista for:

- Possessing, selling, or otherwise furnishing any firearm, explosive, or other destructive device unless, in the case of possession of any device of this type, the student had obtained written permission to possess the item from a certificated school employee with the Principal or designee's concurrence.

If it is determined by the Administrative Panel and/or Board of Directors (on appeal) that a student has brought a firearm or destructive device, as defined in Section 921 of Title 18 of the United States Code, on to campus or to have possessed a firearm or destructive device on campus, the student shall be expelled for one year, pursuant to the Federal Gun Free Schools Act of 1994. In such instances, the student shall be provided due process rights of notice and a hearing as required in this policy.

- f) Unlawfully offering, arranging, or negotiating to sell any controlled substance, as defined in Health and Safety Code Sections 11053-11058, any alcoholic beverage, or any other intoxicant of any kind, and then selling, delivering or otherwise furnishing to

For purposes of this section, "hazing" does not include athletic events or school-sanctioned events.
- p) Aiding or abetting, as defined in Section 31 of the Penal Code, the infliction or attempted infliction of physical injury to another person may be subject to suspension, but not expulsion, except that a student who has been adjudged by a juvenile court to have committed, as an aider and abettor, a crime of physical violence in which the victim suffered great bodily injury or serious bodily injury shall be subject to discipline pursuant to the physical injury and willful use of force offenses listed herein above.
- q) Committing sexual harassment, as defined in Education Code Section 212.5. For the purposes of this section, the conduct described in Section 212.5 must be considered by a reasonable person of the same gender as the victim to be sufficiently severe or pervasive to have a negative impact upon the individual's academic performance or to create an intimidating, hostile, or offensive educational environment. This section shall apply to students in any of grades 4 to 8, inclusive.

- r) Intentionally harassing, threatening, or intimidating school personnel or volunteers and/or a student or group of students to the extent of having the actual and reasonably expected effect of materially disrupting class work, creating substantial disorder and invading the rights of either school personnel or volunteers and/or student(s) by creating an intimidating or hostile educational environment. This section shall apply to students in any of grades 4 to 8, inclusive.
- s) Making terroristic threats against school officials and/or school property, which includes but is not limited to, electronic files and databases. - t) Possessing, selling, or otherwise furnishing any knife or other dangerous object of no reasonable use to the student unless, in the case of possession of any object of this type, the student had obtained written permission to possess the item from a certificated school employee, with the Principal or designee's concurrence.

- ii. Placing a reasonable student (defined as a student, including, but is not limited to, a student with exceptional needs, who exercises average care, skill, and judgment in conduct for a person of their age, or for a person of their age with exceptional needs) or students in fear of harm to that student's or those students' person or property.
- iii. Causing a reasonable student to experience a substantially detrimental effect on their physical or mental health.

2. For purposes of this Suspension and Expulsion policy, "cyber sexual bullying" does not include a depiction, portrayal, or image that has any serious literary, artistic, educational, political, or scientific value or that involves athletic events or school-sanctioned activities.

10.7-10.10: OUT-OF-SCHOOL SUSPENSION PROCEDURES

RULES AND PROCEDURES

The Principal or administrative designee (i.e., Assistant Principal) shall have the authority to suspend a student, according to the following procedures below. The process for investigating incidents and collecting evidence will be fair and thorough.

- CONFERENCE: Suspension shall be preceded by a conference, if possible, conducted by the Principal or administrative designee with the student and the student's parent/guardian and, if necessary, the teacher, counselor, supervisor, or school employee who referred the student to the Principal or designee. The conference may be held in-person, telephonically, or via other electronic means. The conference may be omitted if the Principal or administrative designee determines that an emergency situation exists. An "emergency situation" involves a clear and present danger to the lives, safety or health of students or school personnel. If a student is suspended without this conference, both the parent/guardian and student shall be notified of the student's right to return to school for the purpose of a conference. This conference shall be held within two (2) days, unless the student waives this right or is physically unable to attend for any reason including, but not limited to, incarceration or hospitalization. The conference shall be held as soon as the student is physically able to return to school for the conference, unless the student or parent/guardian waives their right to this conference, or the conference is held telephonically, virtually, or similar. At the conference the student shall be informed of the reason for the disciplinary action and the evidence against the student and shall be given the opportunity to present their version and evidence in their defense, in accordance with Education Code Section 47605(c)(5)(J)(i). Penalties shall not be imposed on a student for failure of the student's parent or guardian to attend a conference with Charter School officials. Reinstatement of the suspended student shall not be contingent upon attendance by the student's parent or guardian at the conference.
- NOTICE TO PARENTS/GUARDIANS: At the time of the suspension, a school employee

(Principal, Assistant Principal, or other administrator) shall make a reasonable effort to contact the parent/guardian by telephone, email, or in person. Whenever a student is suspended, the parent/guardian shall be notified in writing of the suspension. This notice shall state the specific offense(s) committed by the student. In addition, the notice will also state the date and time when the student may return to Charter School. The suspension conference will be held within two (2) school days of the incident. If Charter School officials wish to ask the parent/guardian to confer regarding matters pertinent to the suspension, the notice may request the parent/guardian to respond to such request within two school days of being notified of the Suspension. No penalties may be imposed on a student for failure of the student's parent or guardian to respond to such requests.

MAXIMUM DAYS

The length of suspension for all students, when not including a recommendation for expulsion, may not exceed a period of five (5) consecutive school days per suspension. A second conference between the Principal or designee and parents/guardians will be scheduled to discuss the progress of the student's suspension upon the completion of the fifth (5th) day or last day of suspension and whether the student's suspension is being extended pending an expulsion hearing, as set forth below. The maximum number of days a student may be suspended each year is twenty (20) school days, unless the suspension is pending expulsion, in which case the maximum number of days is cited below.

ACCESS TO EDUCATION & HOMEWORK ASSIGNMENTS DURING SUSPENSION

The Principal or administrative designee will make arrangements with parents/guardians to provide the student with classroom material and current assignments to be completed at home during the length of the suspension. For students who are suspended pending expulsion, independent study will be offered to provide an educational program to the student during this time to ensure the student has classroom work and regular contact with a certificated teacher. For students who do not voluntarily agree to this option, the Charter School will provide the student with classroom material and current assignments to be completed at home during the length of the suspension.

In accordance with Education Code Section 47606.2(a), upon the request of a parent, a legal guardian or other person holding the right to make education decisions for the student, or the affected student, a teacher shall provide to a student in any of grades 1 to 12, inclusive, who has been suspended from school for two (2) or more school days, the homework that the student would otherwise have been assigned.

In accordance with Education Code Section 47606.2(b), if a homework assignment that is requested pursuant to Section 47606.2(a) and turned into the teacher by the student either upon the student's return to school from suspension or within the timeframe originally prescribed by the teacher, whichever is later, is not graded before the end of the academic term, that assignment shall not be included in the calculation of the student's overall grade in the class.

IN-SCHOOL AND OUT-OF-SCHOOL SUSPENSION APPEALS

If a parent or guardian disagrees with a suspension, the student's parent/guardian must file a written objection to the suspension with the Principal within five (5) school days of the student's suspension, explaining the reason for the disagreement. The Executive Director or administrative designee (e.g., another CWC administrator not involved in the suspension) will meet with the parent/guardian within five (5) school days of receipt of the written objection. Considering the information provided by the parent/guardian and any other relevant information, the Executive Director or administrative designee will have the authority to determine whether to:

- a. Uphold the suspension in all respects.
- b. Modify the suspension imposed (e.g., reduce suspension duration, if possible).
- c. Overturn the suspension and expunge the suspension from the student's records.

The Executive Director or administrative designee's decision shall be final. If no changes are made, the parent/guardian's written objection will be placed in the student's file along with the notice of suspension.

SUSPENSION PENDING EXPULSION

Upon a recommendation of Expulsion by the Principal or designee, the student and the student's parent/guardian will be invited to a conference to determine if the suspension for the student should be extended pending an expulsion hearing. In such instances when the Charter School has determined a suspension period shall be extended, such extension shall be made only after a conference is held with the student and the student's parent/guardian, unless the student and the student's parent/guardian fail to attend the conference. This determination will be made by the Principal or designee based on either or both of the following:

1. The student's presence will be disruptive to the education process; or
2. The student poses a threat or danger to others.

Upon either determination, the student's suspension will be extended pending the results of an expulsion hearing.

For students who are suspended pending expulsion, independent study will be offered to provide an educational program to the student during this time to ensure the student has classroom work and regular contact with a certificated teacher. This will meet all legal requirements for Independent Study. For students who do not voluntarily agree to this option, the Charter School will provide the student with classroom material and current assignments to be completed at home during the length of the suspension.

10.11 AND 10.12: EXPULSION PROCEDURES

RULES AND PROCEDURES

As required by Education Code Section 47605(c)(5)(J)(ii), students recommended for expulsion are entitled to a hearing adjudicated by a neutral officer, or for purposes of this Policy, by a neutral and impartial administrative panel ("Administrative Panel") to determine whether the student should be expelled. The procedures herein provide for such a hearing and the notice of said hearing, as required by law.

As set forth above, students must be recommended for expulsion for all mandatory offenses. For non-mandatory offenses, it is within the Principal or designee's discretion to recommend expulsion. Upon a recommendation of expulsion by Principal or designee, the student and the student's parent/guardian will be invited to a conference to determine if the suspension for the student should be extended pending an expulsion hearing. In such instances when the Charter School has determined a suspension period shall be extended, such extension shall be made only after a conference is held with the student and the student's parent/guardian, unless the student and the student's parent/guardian fail to attend the conference. The Principal will make a recommendation for expulsion within five (5) school days of the date the student is suspended and/or prior to the student returning to school from their suspension, whichever occurs first. Caregivers will be invited to this conference via telephone call and email.

A student recommended for expulsion is entitled to a hearing to determine whether the student should be expelled. The student will be suspended during the expulsion process. The hearing shall be held in a timely manner, not to exceed thirty (30) school days after the date the Principal or designee recommended expulsion because one of the acts listed under "Mandatory Expulsion/Suspension" or "Discretionary Expulsion/Suspension" has occurred, unless otherwise postponed for good cause. The hearing shall be held in confidential session (complying with all student confidentiality rules under the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act ("FERPA")), unless the parent/guardian makes a written request for a public hearing three (3) days prior to the hearing. Reasonable accommodations and language support will be available as required by law.

A student may be expelled by a neutral and impartial Administrative Panel following a hearing before it, and preceded by a recommendation from the Principal or designee. The Administrative Panel shall consist of at least three (3) members (and not an even number of members) who are certificated employees and neither a teacher of the student nor a Board member of the Charter School's governing board. The Administrative Panel shall be presided over by a designated neutral hearing chairperson. The Charter School's Executive Director or administrative designee will appoint an impartial Administrative Panel. The Administrative Panel may expel any student found to have committed a mandatory expellable offense. For discretionary expellable offenses, the Administrative Panel must also find 1) other means of correction are not feasible or have not been effective in the past; and/or 2) the student's presence causes a continuing danger to the safety of the student or others.

The Administrative Panel may also determine to suspend the enforcement of the expulsion order for a period of not more than one (1) calendar year from the date of the expulsion hearing and return the student to the student's previous educational program under a probationary status and rehabilitation plan to be determined by the Administrative Panel. During the period of the suspension of the expulsion order, the student is deemed to be on probationary status. The Administrative Panel may revoke the suspension of an expulsion order under this section if the student commits any of the enumerated offenses listed above or violates any of the Charter School's rules and regulations governing student conduct. If the Administrative Panel revokes the suspension of an expulsion order, the student may be expelled under the terms of the original expulsion order. The Administrative Panel shall apply the criteria for suspending the enforcement of the expulsion order equally to all students, including individuals with exceptional needs as defined in Education Code Section 56026. The Administrative Panel shall further comply with the provisions set forth under Education Code Section 48917, except as otherwise expressly set forth herein.

A student and the student's parents or guardians may appeal an expulsion decision by the Administrative Panel to the Charter School's Board, which will make the final determination on appeal, as set forth below.

Written notice of the hearing shall be forwarded to the student and the student's parent/ guardian via email and certified mail at least ten (10) calendar days before the date of the hearing. Upon mailing the notice, it shall be deemed served upon the student. The notice shall include:

- The date, time, and place of the expulsion hearing
- A statement of the specific facts, charges, and offenses upon which the proposed expulsion is based
- A copy of CWC Mar Vista's discipline guidelines and/or grounds for suspension and expulsion, which relate to the alleged violation
- The right to request at least one postponement of the expulsion hearing for a period of not more than thirty (30) calendar days. Any additional postponement may be granted at the discretion of the Principal or designee if agreed upon by the Charter School and the student's family in writing.
- An explanation of the opportunity for the student or the student's parent/guardian to appear in person or to employ and be represented by counsel or a non-attorney advocate
- An explanation the right to inspect and obtain copies of all documents to be used at the hearing
- An explanation of the opportunity to confront and question all witnesses who testify at the hearing
- An explanation of the opportunity to question all evidence presented and to present oral and documentary evidence on the student's behalf including witnesses
- Notification of the student's or parent/guardian's obligation to provide information about the student's status at the Charter School to any other school District or school to which the student seeks enrollment
- Notification of reasonable accommodations or language support, as needed

RECORD OF HEARING

A record of the hearing shall be made and may be maintained by any means, including (if possible) an electronic recording, as long as a reasonably accurate and complete written transcription of the proceedings can be made. The charter school will make records available to students/parents via e-mail or provide in-person access to such records.

PRESENTATION OF EVIDENCE

While technical rules of evidence do not apply to expulsion hearings, evidence may be admitted and used as proof only if it is the kind of evidence on which reasonable persons can rely in the conduct of serious affairs. The decision to expel must be supported by substantial evidence that the student committed any of the acts that might warrant expulsion. Findings of fact shall be based solely on the evidence at the hearing. While hearsay evidence is admissible, no decision to expel shall be based solely on hearsay evidence. Sworn declarations may be admitted as testimony from witnesses of whom the Administrative Panel determines that disclosure of their identity or testimony at the hearing may subject them to unreasonable risk of physical or psychological harm.

If, due to a written request by the accused student, the hearing is held at as a public hearing, and the charge is committing or attempting to commit a sexual assault or committing a sexual battery as defined in Education Code Section 48900, a complaining witness shall have the right to have their testimony heard in a session closed to the public.

WRITTEN NOTICE TO EXPEL

The final decision by the Administrative Panel shall be made within ten (10) school days following the conclusion of the hearing. The determination of the Administrative Panel shall be in the form of written findings of fact and a written determination of expulsion. A determination of the Administrative Panel to expel may be reviewed by the Board of Directors as an appeal if requested by the parent/guardian within ten (10) school days of issuance of the notice of expulsion, as set forth below. If the Administrative Panel decides not to expel the student, the student shall immediately be returned to their previous educational program.

The Principal or designee shall send written notice of the Administrative Panel's findings of fact decision to the student and their family within ten (10) school days following the conclusion of the hearing. This notice shall include the following:

- The specific offense(s) committed by the student that warranted expulsion
- Findings of fact from the expulsion hearing
- The term of the expulsion, including the possible readmission date
- A rehabilitation plan and readmission procedures
- Notice of the student or parent/guardian's obligation to inform any new District/school in which the student seeks to enroll of the student's status with CWC Mar Vista upon dis-enrolling
- The right to appeal the Administrative Panel's decision within ten (10) school days of the expulsion hearing

The Principal or designee shall send a copy of the written notice of the decision to expel to the student's district of residence, upon finality of the expulsion. This notice shall include the following: (a) the student's name; and (b) the specific expellable offense committed by the student.

APPEAL OF EXPULSION DECISION

The student's Parents/Guardians may appeal the expulsion decision of the Administrative Panel by making a written request and submitting it to the Principal within ten (10) school days of the date the student receives the written decision to expel. The student will be considered suspended until a Board meeting is convened within fifteen (15) school days of receipt of the written appeal or as soon thereafter as practicable, but no later than the Board's next regularly scheduled Board meeting. The student's parent(s)/guardian(s) must attend the appeal hearing to present their appeal. Parents/guardians may request one continuance of up to ten (10) school days from the original date of the appeal hearing. Reasonable accommodations will be made, and language support offered, for students and parents/guardians who wish to appeal.

If an appeal is requested, the Board of Directors, or a committee thereof shall review the expulsion within ten (10) school days following the conclusion of the hearing, or as soon thereafter as practicable, but no later than its next regularly scheduled board meeting. The student will be considered suspended until a board reviews the expulsion, at which time the parents/guardians must attend to present their appeal. Reasonable accommodations will be made, and language support offered for students and parents/guardians who wish to appeal. The Board review/appeal is not a second hearing. Rather, the Board appeal is a review for procedural error, and whether the evidence supports the expulsion. The Board of Directors' decision to expel shall be final—there is not further appeal.

Following the appeal hearing, the Board will make a final decision based on the information presented at the appeal hearing by the parent(s)/guardian(s) and information from the original expulsion hearing. The Principal or designee will send written notice to the student or parent/guardian of the Board's decision within ten (10) school days of the appeal hearing. The Charter School Board's decision to uphold the Administrative Panel's decision to expel shall be final. If the Board overturns the expulsion, the student shall immediately be returned to their educational program.

DISCIPLINARY RECORDS

CWC Mar Vista shall maintain records of all student notices of suspension(s) and decisions regarding expulsion(s). Such records shall be made available to the District upon request.

ASSURANCE REGARDING LIST OF OFFENSES

In preparing the list of mandatory and discretionary expulsion and suspension offenses, CWC Mar Vista has consulted a variety of sources in addition to applicable laws to ensure that its policies comply with "best practices" at similar schools, including non-charter schools within LAUSD. Our primary purpose is to ensure the health and safety of our students, staff and community. Beyond that however, we also aim to ensure that students understand clear standards for conduct and are treated at all times in a respectful manner by their peers, teachers, administrators and other members of our community.

SPECIAL PROCEDURES FOR EXPULSION HEARINGS INVOLVING SEXUAL ASSAULT OR BATTERY OFFENSES

The Administrative Panel may, upon a finding of good cause, determine that the disclosure of either the identity of the witness or the testimony of that witness at the hearing, or both, would subject the witness to an unreasonable risk of psychological or physical harm. Upon this determination, the testimony of the witness may be presented at the hearing in the form of sworn declarations that shall be examined only by the Administrative Panel. Copies of these sworn declarations, edited to delete the name and identity of the witness, shall be made available to the student. In addition, CWC Mar Vista will comply with the following:

- The complaining witness in any sexual assault or battery case must be provided with a copy of the applicable disciplinary rules and advised of their right to (a) receive five (5) days' notice of their scheduled testimony, (b) have up to two (2) adult support persons of their choosing present in the hearing at the time the complaining witness testifies, which may include a parent, guardian, or legal counsel, and (c) elect to have the hearing closed while testifying.
- CWC Mar Vista must also provide the complaining witness a room separate from the hearing room for the complaining witness' use prior to and during breaks in testimony
- At the discretion of the Administrative Panel, the complaining witness shall be allowed periods of relief from examination and cross-examination during which the complaining witness may leave the hearing room.
- The Administrative Panel may also arrange the seating within the hearing room to facilitate a less intimidating environment for the complaining witness.
- The Administrative Panel may also limit time for taking the testimony of the complaining witness to the hours the complaining witness is normally in school, if there is no good cause to take the testimony during other hours.
- Prior to a complaining witness testifying, the support persons must be admonished that the hearing is confidential. Nothing in the law precludes the person presiding over the hearing from removing a support person whom the presiding person finds is disrupting the hearing. The Administrative Panel may permit any one of the support persons for the complaining witness to accompany the complaining witness to the witness stand.
- If one or both of the support persons is also a witness, CWC Mar Vista must present evidence that the witness' presence is both desired by the witness and will be helpful to CWC Mar Vista. The entity presiding over the hearing shall permit the witness to stay unless it is established that there is a substantial risk that the testimony of the complaining witness would be influenced by the support person, in which case the presiding officer shall admonish the support person or persons not to prompt, sway, or influence the witness in any way. Nothing shall preclude the Administrative Panel from exercising their discretion to remove a person from the hearing whom they believe is prompting, swaying, or influencing the witness.

- The testimony of the support person shall be presented before the testimony of the complaining witness and the complaining witness shall be excluded from the hearing during that testimony.
- Especially for charges involving sexual assault or battery, if the hearing is to be conducted in public at the request of the student being expelled, the complaining witness shall have the right to have their testimony heard in a closed session when testifying at a public meeting would threaten serious psychological harm to the complaining witness and there are no alternative procedures to avoid the threatened harm. The alternative procedures may include videotaped depositions or contemporaneous examination in another place communicated to the hearing room by means of closed-circuit television.
- Evidence of specific instances of a complaining witness' prior sexual conduct is presumed inadmissible and shall not be heard absent a determination by the Administrative Panel conducting the hearing that extraordinary circumstances exist requiring the evidence be heard. Before such a determination regarding extraordinary circumstances can be made, the witness shall be provided notice and an opportunity to present opposition to the introduction of the evidence. In the hearing on the admissibility of the evidence, the complaining witness shall be entitled to be represented by a parent, legal counsel, or other support person. Reputation or opinion evidence regarding the sexual behavior of the complaining witness is not admissible for any purpose.

REHABILITATION, REINSTATEMENT, AND READMISSION

Students who are expelled from CWC Mar Vista shall be given a rehabilitation plan upon expulsion as developed by Administrative Panel at the time of the expulsion order, which may include, but is not limited to, periodic review, to ensure the student is complying with the rehabilitation plan as well as assessment at the time of review for readmission. The rehabilitation plan will include improved behavior, attendance, academic performance and benchmarks for return and shall include a date not later than one (1) year from the date of expulsion when the student may reapply to CWC Mar Vista for readmission.

Students who are expelled and the student's parents/guardians shall be responsible for seeking alternative education programs including, but not limited to, programs within the County or their school district of residence. The Charter School shall work cooperatively with parents/guardians as requested, and in the manner requested, by parents/guardians or by the school district of residence to assist with locating alternative placements during expulsion. Within five (5) school days of the expulsion, the Charter School shall have a voluntary post-expulsion meeting with parents/guardians in the manner requested to assist with locating alternative placements during expulsion, including in the County or school district of residence.

The readmission process will include a meeting with the Principal or designee, to determine whether the student has met the conditions of the rehabilitation plan and/or whether the student continues to pose a danger to Charter School safety. The Principal or designee shall make a recommendation to the Board for readmission unless there is a finding that the student has not met the conditions of the rehabilitation plan and/or continues to pose a danger to Charter School safety, in which case the Principal will make a recommendation against readmission. The Board will make the final determination. These procedures shall be made available to the student and the student's parent or guardian at the time the expulsion order is issued. CWC Mar Vista is responsible for reinstating the student upon the conclusion of the expulsion period.

NOTICE TO TEACHERS

The Charter School shall notify teachers of each student who has engaged in or is reasonably suspected to have engaged in any of the acts listed in Education Code Section 49079 and the corresponding enumerated offenses set forth above.

INVOLUNTARY REMOVAL FOR EXCUSED ABSENCES

As charter schools are schools of choice and as a charter school student who fails to attend school is potentially depriving another student of their opportunity to enroll, a student may be involuntarily removed as described within the Charter School's Board adopted Attendance Policy and after notice and an opportunity for a parent, guardian, educational rights holder to request a hearing prior to any involuntary removal. Students who are involuntarily removed for unexcused absences may be given a rehabilitation plan and will be subject to the readmission procedures set forth herein.

SPECIAL PROCEDURES FOR THE CONSIDERATION OF SUSPENSION AND EXPULSION OR INVOLUNTARY REMOVAL OF STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES

1. Notification of SELPA

The Charter School shall immediately notify the SELPA and coordinate the procedures in this policy with the SELPA of the discipline of any student with a disability or student that the Charter School or the SELPA would be deemed to have knowledge that the student had a disability.

2. Services During Suspension

Students suspended for more than ten (10) school days in a school year shall continue to receive services so as to enable the student to continue to participate in the general education curriculum, although in another setting (which could constitute a change of placement and the student's IEP would reflect this change), and to progress toward meeting the goals set out in the child's IEP/504 Plan; and receive, as appropriate, a functional behavioral assessment and behavioral intervention services and modifications, that are designed to address the behavior violation so that it does not recur. These services may be provided in an interim alternative educational setting. For students receiving special education services, suspension does not automatically result in expulsion. A 5-day suspension does not, in itself, lead to expulsion, regardless of the student's IEP status.

Per LAUSD guidelines, prior to initiating expulsion proceedings, an Expulsion Analysis IEP meeting must be held to conduct a Manifestation Determination Analysis ("MDA"). The results of the MDA will determine if the expulsion process may proceed. This meeting should occur within ten (10) school days of the decision to change the student's placement (e.g., suspension or potential expulsion). If the Expulsion Analysis IEP is not completed by the end of the suspension period, the student has the right to return to school until the IEP process is completed.

When a student with an IEP has been suspended and reaches at least five (5) cumulative suspension days within a school year, or reaches ten (10) cumulative suspension days, a "Suspension IEP" must be held within ten (10) school days from the first day of suspension. During this meeting, the IEP team should determine if a Behavior Intervention Plan ("BIP") is necessary or if an existing BIP needs to be reviewed or modified to provide more targeted behavioral instruction and intervention, aimed at preventing future misconduct. The team should also assess whether additional supports or services are required and document these considerations in FAPE 2, Part 4 - Additional Discussion. Additionally, no single suspension, for any student, may exceed five (5) consecutive school days.

3. Procedural Safeguards/Manifestation Determination

Within ten (10) school days of a recommendation for expulsion or any decision to change the placement of a child with a disability because of a violation of a code of student conduct, the Charter School, the parent/guardian, and relevant members of the IEP/504 Team shall review all relevant information in the student's file, including the child's IEP/504 Plan, any teacher observations, and any relevant information provided by the parent/guardian to determine:

- a. If the conduct in question was caused by, or had a direct and substantial relationship to, the child's disability; or
- b. If the conduct in question was the direct result of the local educational agency's failure to implement the IEP/504 Plan.

If the Charter School, the parent/guardian, and relevant members of the IEP/504 Team determine that either of the above is applicable for the child, the conduct shall be determined to be a manifestation of the child's disability.

If the Charter School, the parent/guardian, and relevant members of the IEP/504 Team make the determination that the conduct was a manifestation of the child's disability, the IEP/504 Team shall:

- a. Conduct a functional behavioral assessment and implement a behavioral intervention plan for such child, provided that the Charter School had not conducted such assessment prior to such determination before the behavior that resulted in a change in placement;
- b. If a behavioral intervention plan has been developed, review the behavioral intervention plan if the child already has such a behavioral intervention plan, and modify it, as necessary, to address the behavior; and
- c. Return the child to the placement from which the child was removed, unless the parent/guardian and the Charter School agree to a change of placement as part of the modification of the behavioral intervention plan.

If the Charter School, the parent/guardian, and relevant members of the IEP/504 Team determine that the behavior was not a manifestation of the student's disability and that the conduct in question was not a direct result of the failure to implement the IEP/504 Plan, then the Charter School may apply the relevant disciplinary procedures to children with disabilities in the same manner and for the same duration as the procedures would be applied to students without disabilities.

4. Due Process Appeals

The parent/guardian of a child with a disability who disagrees with any decision regarding placement, or the manifestation determination, or the Charter School believes that maintaining the current placement of the child is substantially likely to result in injury to the child or to others, may request an expedited administrative hearing through the Special Education Unit of the Office of Administrative Hearings or by utilizing the dispute provisions of the 504 Policy and Procedures.

When an appeal relating to the placement of the student or the manifestation determination has been requested by either the parent/guardian or the Charter School, the student shall remain in the interim alternative educational setting pending the decision of the hearing officer in accordance with state and federal law, including 20 U.S.C. Section 1415(k), until the expiration of the forty-five (45) day time period provided for in an interim alternative educational setting, unless the parent/guardian and the Charter School agree otherwise.

In accordance with 20 U.S.C. Section 1415(k)(3), if a parent/guardian disagrees with any decision regarding placement, or the manifestation determination, or if the Charter School believes that maintaining the current placement of the child is substantially likely to result in injury to the child or to others, the parent/guardian or Charter School may request a hearing.

In such an appeal, a hearing officer may: (1) return a child with a disability to the placement from which the child was removed; or (2) order a change in placement of a child with a disability to an appropriate interim alternative educational setting for not more than 45 school days if the hearing officer determines that maintaining the current placement of such child is substantially likely to result in injury to the child or to others.

5. Special Circumstances

Charter School personnel may consider any unique circumstances on a case-by-case basis when determining whether to order a change in placement for a child with a disability who violates a code of student conduct.

The Principal or designee may remove a student to an interim alternative educational setting for not more than forty-five (45) school days without regard to whether the behavior is determined to be a manifestation of the student's disability in cases where a student:

- a. Carries or possesses a weapon, as defined in 18 U.S.C. Section 930, to or at school, on school premises, or to or at a school function;
- b. Knowingly possesses or uses illegal drugs, or sells or solicits the sale of a controlled substance, while at school, on school premises, or at a school function; or

- c. Has inflicted serious bodily injury, as defined by 20 U.S.C. Section 1415(k)(7)(D), upon a person while at school, on school premises, or at a school function.

6. Interim Alternative Educational Setting

The student's interim alternative educational setting shall be determined by the student's IEP/504 Team.

7. Procedures for Students Not Yet Eligible for Special Education Services

A student who has not been identified as an individual with disabilities pursuant to IDEA and who has violated the Charter School's disciplinary procedures may assert the procedural safeguards granted under this administrative regulation only if the Charter School had knowledge that the student was disabled before the behavior occurred.

The Charter School shall be deemed to have knowledge that the student had a disability if one of the following conditions exists:

- a. The parent/guardian has expressed concern in writing, or orally if the parent/guardian does not know how to write or has a disability that prevents a written statement, to Charter School supervisory or administrative personnel, or to one of the child's teachers, that the student is in need of special education or related services.
- b. The parent/guardian has requested an evaluation of the child.
- c. The child's teacher, or other Charter School personnel, has expressed specific concerns about a pattern of behavior demonstrated by the child, directly to the director of special education or to other Charter School supervisory personnel.

If the Charter School knew or should have known the student had a disability under any of the three (3) circumstances described above, the student may assert any of the protections available to IDEA-eligible children with disabilities, including the right to stay-put.

If the Charter School had no basis for knowledge of the student's disability, it shall proceed with the proposed discipline. The Charter School shall conduct an expedited evaluation if requested by the parents; however, the student shall remain in the education placement determined by the Charter School pending the results of the evaluation.

The Charter School shall not be deemed to have knowledge that the student had a disability if the parent/guardian has not allowed an evaluation, refused services, or if the student has been evaluated and determined to not be eligible.

Element 11 – Employee Retirement Systems

“The manner by which staff members of the charter schools will be covered by the State Teachers’ Retirement System, the Public Employees’ Retirement System, or federal social security.” (Ed. Code § 47605(c)(5)(K).)

Charter School shall comply in a timely manner with all applicable federal and state laws and regulations, as they may change from time to time, including but not limited to Internal Revenue Code section 414(d) and related regulations, governing Charter School's participation in, and/or coverage of its staff members by, the State Teachers' Retirement System (CalSTRS), the Public Employees' Retirement System (CalPERS), and/or federal social security.

If Charter School participates in, or otherwise covers its staff members by enrolling or continuing their enrollment in, a “government plan” governed by section 414(d) (e.g., CalPERS), upon dissolution or final liquidation of Charter School, and/or its nonprofit public benefit corporation, notwithstanding any provision in Element 15 to the contrary, Charter School shall distribute its net assets in accordance with section 414(d), related regulations, and the government plan's requirements.

If Charter School participates in CalSTRS and/or CalPERS, Charter School shall continue such participation for the duration of Charter School's existence under the same CDS code, if mandated by applicable legal and retirement plan requirements.

11.1: CERTIFICATED STAFF MEMBERS

Citizens of the World Mar Vista participates in the State Teachers' Retirement System ("CalSTRS") program. Certificated staff members eligible for CalSTRS benefits are covered. Citizens of the World LA works directly with the Los Angeles County Office of Education to promptly forward any required payroll deductions and related data. All withholdings from employees and Citizens of the World Mar Vista are submitted to the appropriate agency as required.

The CWC Los Angeles Regional Support Office (and any back-office service provider hired by the CWC Los Angeles region) is responsible for enrolling all eligible employees. Citizens of the World Mar Vista acknowledges that the Charter School must continue such participation for its existence under the same County-District-School code.

11.2 AND 11.3: CLASSIFIED AND OTHER STAFF MEMBERS

Non-certificated employees will participate in the Federal Social Security system, per applicable law. In addition, CWC LA offers employees a §403(b) Tax Sheltered Retirement Account Plan. Regular (non-temporary/substitute) employees who qualify may also receive a capped matching contribution. The CWC LA Board of Directors can approve a different matching rate for a specific employee.

The CWC Los Angeles Regional Support Office (and any back-office service provider hired by the CWC Los Angeles region) is responsible for enrolling all eligible employees.

Element 12 – Public School Attendance Alternatives

“The public school attendance alternatives for pupils residing within the school district who choose not to attend charter schools.” (Ed. Code § 47605(c)(5)(L).)

Pupils of Charter School do not have or gain any right to admission in a particular school of any school district, or program of any school district, as a consequence of applying to or enrolling in Charter School, except to the extent that such a right is extended by the school district.

A pupil who chooses not to attend Charter School may attend a public school within the pupil's school district of residence in accordance with applicable law and that school district's policies and procedures. The pupil alternatively may seek to enroll in another charter school in accordance with applicable law and the terms of the school's charter. If LAUSD is the pupil's school district of residence, an eligible pupil may pursue an inter-district transfer, if available, in accordance with the admission, enrollment, and transfer policies and procedures of the District, as they may change from time to time.

12.1: SCHOOL CHOICE

No student will be required to attend CWC Mar Vista. The Charter School will inform students and parents/guardians of public school attendance alternatives in enrollment forms.

Element 13 – Rights of District Employees

“The rights of an employee of the school district upon leaving the employment of the school district to work in a charter school, and of any rights of return to the school district after employment at a charter school.” (Ed. Code § 47605(c)(5)(M).)

Employees of the District who choose to leave the employment of the District to work at Charter School shall have no automatic rights of return to the District after employment at Charter School unless specifically granted by the District through a leave of absence or other agreement or policy of the District as aligned with the collective bargaining agreements of the District. Leave and return rights for District union-represented employees and former employees who accept employment with Charter School will be administered in accordance with applicable collective bargaining agreements and any applicable judicial rulings.

Element 14 – Mandatory Dispute Resolution

“The procedures to be followed by the charter school and the entity granting the charter to resolve disputes relating to provisions of the charter.” (Ed. Code § 47605(c)(5)(N).)

GENERAL PROVISIONS

Any claim, controversy or dispute between the District and Charter School arising out of, or relating to, this Charter, except for any claim, controversy or dispute related to the authorization, non-renewal, revision, and/or revocation of this Charter, (“Dispute”) shall be resolved pursuant to the terms of this Element 14.

Notwithstanding any other provision of law, each party shall bear and be solely responsible for all of its own attorneys’ fees, costs and expenses associated with any Dispute, including, but not limited to, any written/oral communication, meeting, Issues Conference, mediation, arbitration, administrative and/or civil action (including all levels of appeal), and no party shall be ordered to pay, or be awarded, any other party’s attorneys’ fees, costs or expenses in connection therewith, regardless of who may be deemed the prevailing party. Any fees, costs and expenses charged by a mediator or arbitrator (including all associated administration fees, costs and expenses) shall be shared equally by the parties regardless of the outcome or award. To that effect, any order or award of attorneys’ fees, costs and/or expenses, or mediator’s or arbitrator’s fees, costs or expenses (including any associated administration fees, costs and expenses), issued by a mediator, arbitrator, judicial officer (including all levels of appeal) or jury in any Dispute shall be deemed invalid as a matter of law and unenforceable by one party against the other party.

Financial Close-Out

After receiving notification of closure, the California Department of Education (CDE) will notify Charter School and the authorizing entity of any liabilities Charter School owes the state, which may include overpayment of apportionments, unpaid revolving fund loans or grants, and/or similar liabilities. The CDE may ask the county office of education to conduct an audit of the charter school if it has reason to believe that the school received state funding for which it was not eligible.

Charter School shall ensure completion of an independent final audit within six months after the closure of Charter School that includes:

1. An accounting of all financial assets. These may include cash and accounts receivable and an inventory of property, equipment, and other items of material value.
2. An accounting of all liabilities. These may include accounts payable or reduction in apportionments due to loans, unpaid staff compensation, audit findings, or other investigations.
3. An assessment of the disposition of any restricted funds received by or due to Charter School.

This audit may serve as Charter School's annual audit if it meets all of the requirements of the annual audit.

Charter School shall pay for the financial closeout audit of Charter School. This audit will be conducted by a neutral, independent licensed CPA who will employ generally accepted accounting principles. Any liability or debt incurred by Charter School will be the responsibility of Charter School and not LAUSD. Charter School understands and acknowledges that Charter School will cover the outstanding debts or liabilities of Charter School. Any unused monies at the time of the audit will be returned to the appropriate funding source. Charter School understands and acknowledges that only unrestricted funds will be used to pay creditors. Any unused AB 602 funds will be returned to the District SELPA or the SELPA in which Charter School participates, and other categorical funds will be returned to the source of funds.

Charter School shall ensure the completion and filing of any annual reports required. These reports include but are not necessarily limited to:

1. Preliminary budgets
2. Interim financial reports
3. Second interim financial reports
4. Final unaudited reports

These reports must be submitted to the CDE and the authorizing entity in the form required. These reports should be submitted as soon as possible after the Closure Action, but no later than the required deadline for reporting for the fiscal year.

For apportionment of categorical programs, the CDE will count the prior year average daily attendance (ADA) or enrollment data of the closed Charter School with the data of the authorizing entity. This practice will occur in the first year after the closure and will continue until CDE data collection processes reflect ADA or enrollment adjustments for all affected LEAs due to the charter closure.

Disposition of Liabilities and Assets

The closeout audit must identify the disposition of all liabilities of Charter School. Charter School closure procedures must also ensure appropriate disposal, in accordance with the District Required Language provisions in Element 11 of this Charter, Charter School's governing board bylaws, fiscal procedures, and any other applicable laws and regulations, of any net assets remaining after all liabilities of Charter School have been paid or otherwise addressed. Such disposal includes, but is not limited to:

1. Charter School, at its cost and expense, shall return to the District any and all property, furniture, equipment, supplies, and other assets provided to Charter School by or on behalf of the District. The District discloses that the California Education Code sets forth the requirements for the disposition of the District's personal property and Charter School shall bear responsibility and liability for any disposition in violation of statutory requirements.
2. The return of any donated materials and property in accordance with any terms and conditions set when the donations were accepted.
3. The return of any grant and restricted categorical funds to their sources according to the terms of the grant or state and federal law.
4. The submission of final expenditure reports for any entitlement grants and the filing of Final Expenditure Reports and Final Performance Reports, as appropriate.

If Charter School is operated as or by a nonprofit corporation, and if the corporation does not have any functions other than operation of Charter School, the corporation shall be dissolved according to its bylaws.

Charter School shall retain sufficient staff, as deemed appropriate by the Charter School governing board to complete all necessary tasks and procedures required to close the school and transfer records in accordance with these closure procedures.

Charter School's governing board shall adopt a plan for wind-up of Charter School and, if necessary, the corporation, in accordance with the requirements of the Corporations Code.

Charter School shall provide LAUSD within fourteen (14) calendar days of the Closure Action with written notice of any outstanding payments due to staff and the time frame and method by which Charter School will make the payments.

Prior to final close-out, Charter School shall complete all actions required by applicable law, including but not limited to the following:

- a. File all final federal, state, and local employer payroll tax returns and issue final W-2s and Form 1099s by the statutory deadlines.
- b. Make final federal tax payments (employee taxes, etc.)
- c. Complete and submit all required federal and state filings and notices to the State of California, the Internal Revenue Service, and the Department of the Treasury, including but not limited to final tax returns and forms (e.g., Form 990 and related Schedules).

This Element 15 shall survive the revocation, expiration, termination, cancellation of this Charter, or any other act or event that would end Charter School's authorization to operate as a charter school or cause Charter School to cease operation. Charter School agrees that, due to the nature of the property and activities that are the subject of this Charter, the District and public shall suffer irreparable harm should Charter School breach any obligation under this Element 15. The District therefore reserves the right to seek equitable relief to enforce any right arising under this Element 15 or any provision of this Element 15 or to prevent or cure any breach of any obligation undertaken, without in any way prejudicing any other legal remedy available to the District. Such legal relief shall include, without limitation, the seeking of a temporary or permanent injunction, restraining order, or order for specific performance, and may be sought in any appropriate court.

15.1: CLOSURE AGENTS

In the event of Charter School closure, the Executive Director, or other individual selected by the Board at the time the decision of the closure is made, will serve as the closure agent for the Charter School.

Additional Provisions

FACILITIES

Charter School shall comply with all geographic and site limitations and related requirements set forth in Education Code sections 47605.1, 47602(a), and 47605(a).

District-Owned Facilities

If Charter School is using District facilities as of the date of the submission of this charter petition or takes occupancy of District facilities prior to the approval of this charter petition, Charter School shall execute an agreement provided by the District for the use of the District facilities as a condition of the approval of the charter petition. If at any time after the approval of this charter petition Charter School will occupy and use any District facilities, Charter School shall execute an agreement provided by the District for the use of the District facilities prior to occupancy and commencing use. Charter School shall implement and otherwise comply with the terms of any and all applicable facilities use agreements between Charter School and the District.

The circumstances of Charter School's occupancy of District facilities may change over time such as, but not limited to, enrollment, programs, and the conditions of facilities, and the District has a vested interest in having an agreement that is appropriate for the situation.

For a Sole Occupant Agreement or any other use agreement that is not a Proposition 39 Single Year Co-location Use Agreement or a lease issued through the Notice of Intent and bid process, the term may be co-terminous with the approved Charter, as permitted by law. Charter School and the District shall negotiate any modifications of the agreement with the goal of such amendment or new agreement being considered by the LAUSD Board of Education with the renewal of the charter petition. If Charter School and the District cannot execute an agreement in time for such to be considered by the Board of Education with the renewal of the charter petition, the approval of the renewal of the charter petition shall be conditioned upon Charter School and the District executing an amendment to the existing use agreement or a new agreement no later than May 1st or within nine (9) months of the date of the Board of Education's approval of the renewal of the charter petition. During such time period Charter School shall be permitted to remain in occupancy of the District facilities under the terms and conditions of the immediately preceding, executed use agreement; provided, that if Charter School and the District cannot agree upon and execute an amendment or new use agreement by said deadline, Charter School shall vacate the District facilities on or before June 30th of said school year.

Charter School acknowledges and agrees that occupancy and use of District facilities shall be in compliance with applicable laws and District policies for the operation and maintenance of District facilities and furnishings and equipment. Charter School shall comply with all District health, safety, and emergency procedures and requirements and shall be subject to inspection by the District's Facilities Services Division, OEHS, and other District offices in the same manner as other LAUSD campuses. All District facilities (i.e., schools) will remain subject to those laws applicable to public schools.

In the event of an emergency, all District facilities (i.e., schools) are available for use by the American Red Cross and public agencies as emergency locations, which may disrupt or prevent Charter School from conducting its educational programs. If Charter School will share the use of District facilities with other District user groups, Charter School agrees that it will participate in and observe all District safety policies (e.g., emergency chain of information and participation in safety drills).

The use agreements provided by the District for District facilities shall contain terms and conditions addressing issues such as, but not limited to, the following:

- Use: Charter School will be restricted to using the District facilities for the operation of a public school providing educational instruction to public school students consistent with the terms of the Charter and incidental related uses. Separate and apart from its right as authorizer to observe and inspect any part of the charter school at any time pursuant to Education Code 47607(a)(1), the District shall have and reserves the right to inspect District facilities upon reasonable notice to Charter School.
- Furnishings and Equipment: The District shall retain ownership of any furnishings and equipment, including technology, ("F&E") that it provides to Charter School for use. Charter School, at its sole cost and expense, shall provide maintenance and other services for the good and safe operation of the F&E.
- Leasing; Licensing: Use of the District facilities by any person or entity other than Charter School shall be administered by the District. The parties may agree to an alternative arrangement in the use agreement.
- Programs, Services, and Activities Outside Instructional Program; Third Party Vendors:
 - (i) Any program, service, or activity provided outside the instructional program shall be subject to the terms and provisions of the use agreement, and, additionally, may require a license, permit, or additional agreement issued by the District. The term "instructional program" is defined, per Education Code section 47612 and 5 CCR section 11960, as those required educational activities that generate funding based on "average daily attendance" and includes those extracurricular programs, services, and/or activities that students are required to participate in and do not require the payment of any consideration or fee.
 - (ii) Any program, service, or activity requiring the payment of any consideration or fee or provided by a third party vendor (defined as any person or entity other than Charter School), whether paid or volunteer and regardless of whether such may be within the instructional program, shall be subject to the terms and provisions of the use agreement and such third party vendor shall be required to obtain a license, permit, or additional agreement from the District.
- Minimum Payments or Charges to be Paid to District Arising from the Facilities:
 - (i) Pro Rata Share: The District shall collect, and Charter School shall pay a Pro Rata Share for facilities costs as provided in the Charter Schools Act of 1992 and its regulations. The parties may agree to an alternative arrangement regarding facilities costs in the use agreement; and
 - (ii) Taxes; Assessments: Generally, Charter School shall pay any assessment or fee imposed upon or levied on the LAUSD facilities that it is occupying or Charter School's legal or equitable interest created by the use agreement.

- Maintenance & Operations Services: In the event the District agrees to allow Charter School to perform any of the operation and maintenance services, the District shall have the right to inspect the District facilities, and the costs incurred in such inspection shall be paid by Charter School.
 - (i) Co-Location: If Charter School is co-locating or sharing the District facilities with another user, the District shall provide the operations and maintenance services for the District facilities and Charter School shall pay the Pro Rata Share. The parties may agree to an alternative arrangement regarding performance of the operations and maintenance services and payment for such in the use agreement.
 - (ii) Sole Occupant: If Charter School is a sole occupant of District facilities, the District shall allow Charter School, at its sole cost and expense, to provide some operations and maintenance services for the District facilities in accordance with applicable laws and LAUSD's policies on operations and maintenance services for facilities and F&E. NOTWITHSTANDING THE FOREGOING, the District shall provide all services for regulatory inspections which as the owner of the real property it is required to submit, and deferred maintenance, and Charter School shall pay LAUSD for the cost and expense of providing those services. The parties may agree to an alternative arrangement regarding performance of the operations and maintenance services and payment for such services in the use agreement.
- Real Property Insurance: Prior to occupancy, Charter School shall satisfy requirements to participate in LAUSD's property insurance or, if Charter School is the sole occupant of LAUSD facilities, obtain and maintain separate property insurance for the LAUSD facilities. Charter School shall not have the option of obtaining and maintaining separate property insurance for the LAUSD facility IF Charter School is co-locating or sharing the LAUSD facility with another user.

Non-District-Owned Facilities

Occupancy and Use of the Site: Prior to occupancy or use of any school site or facility, Charter School shall provide the CSD with a current Certificate of Occupancy or equivalent document issued by the applicable permitting agency that allows Charter School to use and occupy the site as a charter school. Charter School shall not exceed the operating capacity of the site and shall operate within any limitations or requirements provided by the Certificate of Occupancy and any applicable permit. Charter School may not open or operate without providing a copy of an appropriate Certificate of Occupancy to the CSD. If Charter School intends to move or expand to another facility during the term of this Charter, Charter School shall adhere to any and all District policies and procedures regarding charter material revision and non-material amendment. Prior to occupancy or use of any such additional or changed school site, Charter School shall provide an appropriate Certificate of Occupancy to the CSD for such facility. Notwithstanding any language to the contrary in this Charter, the interpretation, application, and enforcement of this provision are not subject to the Dispute Resolution Process outlined in Element 14.

Facility Compliance: Prior to occupancy or use of any non-District-owned school site and/or facility, Charter School shall ensure that the site and/or facility complies with all applicable building codes, standards and regulations adopted by the city and/or county agencies responsible for building and safety standards for the city in which Charter School is to be located, federal and state accessibility requirements (including the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) and Section 504), and all other applicable fire, health, and structural safety and access requirements. This requirement shall also apply to the construction, reconstruction, alteration of or addition to the facility. Charter School shall resolve in a timely manner any and all corrective actions, orders to comply, and notices issued by any authorized building and safety agency. 9. Excess/Umbrella Liability insurance with limits of not less than $10,000,000 is required of all high schools and any other school that participates in competitive interscholastic or intramural sports programs.

Coverages and limits of insurance may be accomplished through individual primary policies or through a combination of primary and excess policies and alternative methods of coverage as approved by the District. Where specifically required above, and with respect to any other coverage for which such endorsements and/or provisions are available, each policy shall be endorsed to name the Los Angeles Unified School District and Its Board of Education as named additional insureds and shall provide specifically that any insurance carried by the District which may be applicable to any claims or loss shall be deemed excess and Charter School's insurance shall be primary despite any conflicting provisions in Charter School's policy.

Evidence of Insurance

Charter School shall furnish to the District's Division of Risk Management and Insurance Services located at 333 S. Beaudry Ave, 28th Floor, Los Angeles CA 90017 at the outset of the Charter agreement and within 30 calendar days of the inception or effective date of any new policies, renewals, or changes, certificates of insurance evidencing such coverage and signed by authorized representatives of the insurance carrier. Certificates shall be endorsed as follows:

"Charter school shall be required to provide LAUSD with 30 days prior written notice by certified mail, return receipt requested, if the insurance afforded by this policy shall be suspended, cancelled, reduced in coverage limits or non-renewed."

With respect to the coverages for which additional insured status is required as set forth above, the certificate(s) of insurance shall reflect Los Angeles Unified School District's and Its Board of Education's status as named additional insureds thereunder, and shall attach a copy of the endorsement(s) extending such coverage.

Facsimile or reproduced signatures may be acceptable upon review by the Division of Risk Management and Insurance Services. However, the District reserves the right to require certified copies of any required insurance policies.

Should Charter School deem it prudent and/or desirable to have insurance coverage for damage or theft to Charter School, employee or student property, for student accident, or any other type of insurance coverage not listed above, such insurance shall not be provided by the District and its purchase shall be the responsibility of Charter School.

FISCAL MATTERS

District Oversight Costs

The District may charge for the actual costs of oversight of Charter School not to exceed 1% of Charter School's revenue, or the District may charge for the actual costs of oversight of Charter School not to exceed 3% if Charter School is able to obtain substantially rent free facilities from the District. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the District may charge the maximum oversight fee allowed under the law as it may change from time to time. The oversight fee provided herein is separate and distinct from the charges arising under charter school facilities use agreements.

Cash Reserves

Charter School acknowledges that the recommended cash reserve is 5% of expenditures, as provided in section 15450, title 5 of the California Code of Regulations.

Third Party Contracts

Charter School shall ensure that all third party contracts, whether oral or written, for supplies, equipment, goods and/or services, for the direct or indirect benefit of, or otherwise related to the operation of, Charter School, require compliance with and otherwise conform to all applicable local, state, and federal policies, regulations, laws, and guidelines, including but not limited to licensing and permit requirements as well as requirements related to protection of health and safety.

Special Education Revenue Adjustment/Payment for Services

In the event that Charter School owes funds to the District for the provision of agreed upon or fee for service or special education services or as a result of the State's adjustment to allocation of special education revenues from Charter School, Charter School authorizes the District to deduct any and all of the in lieu property taxes that Charter School otherwise would be eligible to receive under section 47635 of the Education Code to cover such owed amounts. Charter School further understands and agrees that the District shall make appropriate deductions from the in lieu property tax amounts otherwise owed to Charter School. Should this revenue stream be insufficient in any fiscal year to cover any such costs, Charter School agrees that it will reimburse the District for the additional costs within forty-five (45) business days of being notified of the amounts owed.

Student Body Funds

Charter School shall supervise and manage any and all student body funds in a manner consistent with the provisions of Education Code sections 48930-48938. Accordingly, the District hereby reserves the right, pursuant to its oversight responsibility, to audit Charter School books, records, data, processes and procedures through the District Office of the Inspector General or other means. The audit may include, but is not limited to, the following areas:
