Greetings, Parent Advisory Committee,

It is with a shared sadness that this update begins, as we inform you about the unexpected, tragic passing of one of our beloved Senior Parent Community Facilitator, Ms. Leah S. Brackins. Serving the students and families of the Los Angeles Unified for over 25 years, Ms. Brackins was dedicated to inspiring and supporting all whom she encountered. She is remembered as a wife, mother, grandmother, friend, mentor and spiritual guide to many, and she is one of the pioneering leaders behind the Parent and Family Center movement within the Los Angeles Unified. Her involvement began during her years as a LAUSD parent, continued in her role as a Community Representative in a Parent and Family Center, and extended through her current position in the Office of Student, Family and Community Engagement, working with the Community Advisory Committee, the Parent Advisory Committee and the Family Academy. Her legacy of compassion and dedication to the empowerment of parents will continue through the deep impact she has had on the staff and families of the District.

Strategic Plan Pillar III: Engagement and Collaboration Highlights

School Site Council (SSC) and English Learner Advisory Committees (ELAC): Schools have formed their SSCs and ELACs for the new year, and there is only one Saturday ELAC and SSC training sessions left. On Saturday, October 18, training was provided at Vista Middle School from 9 am to 1 pm on a variety of topics, including understanding budgets and Robert's Rules of Order. A webinar will be offered on October 25 as well. If you are serving as a member of these groups this year or are not a member but want to learn more, consider attending the Zoom training session on October 25 to learn with other members. For additional details, view the flyer here.

Region Ambassadors: The Los Angeles Unified Region Ambassadors will be valuable advocates and guides who inform their school communities about District services and resources. Each segment of learning is hosted in a hybrid format to meet the preference of diverse families so they can learn in person and online. If interested in learning more about supports English Learners, for students with special needs, or Local Control and Accountability Plan, which is the District's plan for use of its general funds, consider attending a Region Ambassador session. The first round of ambassador sessions are being held now. <https://www.lausd.org/ambassadors>

Special Education Workshops: The Division of Special Education has various resources available for parents, so they can take advantage of every opportunity to be an active partner in their child's education. Workshops and training are offered throughout the school year, covering various topics related to the needs of students with disabilities and the many ways parents can support their child both in and out of the classroom. In addition to workshops and training sessions, District- and community-sponsored events supportive of students and parents are available. For more information, visit <https://sped.lausd.org/parents>.

The Parent Portal is available for all parents and guardians to learn more about the program and progress of their children in a variety of different areas. Over 87% of Los Angeles Unified families are already connected! Learning about the different features of the Parent Portal allows parents to partner with their school communities to celebrate student achievement, ask focused questions, and identify needed support. Call the Los Angeles Unified Hotline at 213-443-1300 for help getting connected or for assistance with using the features.

The School Volunteer Program is a resource available for families and the community to offer their time, skills and knowledge to support Los Angeles Unified students. This year, Los Angeles Unified had over 28,000 processed volunteers serving in District schools. For more information about the School Volunteer Program, visit <https://www.lausd.org/volunteer>.

The Family Academy: The Family Academy is comprised of webinar, in-person and hybrid sessions designed to leverage families' assets to be empowered as they support their child from the early primary years to college and career success. This effort complements
