PROFILE OF A LEARNER

VALUE MYSELF AND OTHERS

My school experience makes me feel valued when I am respected, heard, supported, and recognized as an important member of our school community. Students', teachers', and parents' words and actions show me that my ideas, perspective, and efforts matter. I feel both physically and psychologically safe to be myself, and to learn and grow. I value and embrace differences in our community, and I aim to build connections with people from all backgrounds. I treat myself and others with kindness and respect. I use positive language to demonstrate compassion, connectedness, and inclusiveness to all. I practice self-regulation and take responsibility for my words and actions.

CONFIDENT

My school experience makes me believe in myself, feel proud of myself, and know that I can do hard things. My teachers, parents, and caregivers hold high expectations for me and provide support so I can reach them. I am able to use my voice in my learning experience, to build my motivation and agency as a learner. I learn how to be self-aware, organized, and respectfully advocate for myself, to get the resources and support that will enable me to succeed. I learn how to reflect on my own strengths and needs, to build self-worth and self-efficacy as a learner.

RESILIENT

My school experience inspires me to feel curious, take risks, explore my passions, and persevere when challenges arise. I stay open-minded, and step outside my comfort zone to try new things. I believe that it is ok to fail or make mistakes because it helps me grow into a stronger learner and person. I show flexibility in my thinking and actions when I face obstacles, reflecting on my learning process to make improvements. I show determination to reach the short-term and long-term goals I set for myself. I continue to build stamina to persist through frustration when learning, so I can learn and grow from challenging experiences.

COMMUNICATE EFFECTIVELY

I am able to read, write, and speak effectively so others are able to understand my perspective. I show patience and actively listen to others to understand their perspective as well.

SOLVE PROBLEMS

I am able to use creativity and critical thinking to find solutions to problems. This helps me build flexibility and confidence as a learner. I believe that the value of learning and knowing how to solve problems goes beyond my grades and is a lifelong process.
